Amelia Davis, Joann S. Olson, 2014-09-22 This is the first New Directions volume related to young adult learners since 1984 Then as now young adults are an important segment of the adult population but have received scant attention in the adult education literature Increasingly youths and young adults are enrolling in adult education programs and in doing so are changing the meaning of adulthood Given the significant demographic technological and cultural shifts during the past 30 years there is an increasing need for practitioners and program planners to reconsider what constitutes adult and adult education An understanding of the changing meaning of adulthood is fundamental to developing programs and policies that will address the needs of younger learners and we believe it is time for an updated discussion among adult educators and scholars in other disciplines This sourcebook is designed to reignite the discussion related to meeting the educational needs of young adults along with a timely and interdisciplinary discussion that highlights the transitional needs of young adult learners Table of contents 1 Conceptualizing Transitions to Adulthood Johanna Wyn This opening chapter lays the groundwork for this volume by providing an overview of adult development theories as they relate to the transition to young adulthood along with a discussion of the blurring between youth and adult due to the ambiguity encountered when trying to define adulthood

2 Culture Conditions and the Transition to Adulthood Brendaly Drayton An individual's culture shapes both the definition of adult and the experience of the transition to adulthood Furthermore the transition to adulthood may serve as a time when an individual's cultural identity is more consciously defined and more personally salient This chapter explores the intersection of culture and adulthood

5 Becoming an Adult in a Community of Faith Steven B Frye The vitality and ongoing existence of any community of faith regardless of the specific religious tradition depends on incorporating the next generation as full participants This chapter focuses on how the transition to adulthood is transacted within various religious traditions and the extent to which that transition is a place where non formal learning takes place

6 Youths Transitioning as Adult Learners C Amelia Davis This chapter conceptualizes transitions with a focus on Adult Basic Education GED students as they transition from high school to adult education

7 Transitions From Formal Education to the Workplace Joann S Olson This chapter frames the transition to adulthood in the context of the moving from formal educational settings e g high school postsecondary education to the often less structured learning that occurs in workplace settings

Computer programming becomes part of an array of communication skills important in everyday life and literacy augmented by programming becomes more capacious Vee examines the ways that programming is linked with literacy in coding literacy campaigns considering the ideologies that accompany this coupling and she looks at how both writing and programming encode and distribute information She explores historical parallels between writing and programming using the evolution of mass textual literacy to shed light on the trajectory of code from military and government infrastructure to large scale businesses to personal use Writing and coding were institutionalized domesticated and then established as a basis for literacy Just as societies demonstrated a literate mentality regardless of the literate status of individuals Vee argues a computational mentality is now emerging even though coding is still a specialized skill

Education and the Creation of Capital in the Early American Republic Nancy Beadie, 2010-07-30 This book argues that schools were a driving force in the formation of social political and financial capital during the market revolution and capitalist transition of the early republican era Grounded in an intensive study of schooling in the Genesee Valley region of upstate New York it traces early sources of funding and support for education including common schools and various forms of higher schooling to their roots in different social and economic networks and trade and credit relations It then interprets that story in the context of other major developments in early American social political and economic history such as the shift from agricultural to non agricultural production the integration of rural economies into translocal capitalist markets the organization of the Second Great Awakening the transformation of patriarchy the expansion of white male suffrage the emergence of the Secondary American Party System and the formation of the modern liberal state
