Rise Of African Slavery In The Americas:

The Rise of African Slavery in the Americas David Eltis, 2000 Why were the countries with the most developed institutions of individual freedom also the leaders in establishing the most exploitative system of slavery that the world has ever seen In seeking to provide new answers to this question The Rise of African Slavery in the Americas examines the development of the English Atlantic slave system between 1650 and 1800 The book outlines a major African role in the evolution of the Atlantic societies before the nineteenth century and argues that the transatlantic slave trade was a result of African strength rather than African weakness It also addresses changing patterns of group identity to account for the racial basis of slavery in the early modern Atlantic World Exploring the paradox of the concurrent development of slavery and freedom in the European domains David Eltis provides a fresh interpretation of this difficult historical problem The Rise of African Slavery in the Americas David Eltis, 2000 Slavery in the Development of the Americas David Eltis, Frank D. Lewis, Kenneth L. Sokoloff, 2004-03-29 Slavery in the Development of the Americas brings together work from leading historians and economic historians of slavery The essays cover various aspects of slavery and the role of slavery in the development of the southern United States Brazil Cuba the French and Dutch Caribbean and elsewhere in the Americas Some essays explore the emergence of the slave system and others provide important insights about the operation of specific slave economics There are reviews of slave markets and prices and discussions of the efficiency and distributional aspects of slavery Perspectives are brought on the transition from slavery and subsequent adjustments and the volume contains the work of prominent scholars many of whom have been pioneers in the study of slavery in the Americas Slavery in America Kenneth Morgan, 2005 Designed specially for undergraduate course use this new textbook is both an introduction to the study of American slavery and a reader of core texts on the subject No other volume that combines both primary and secondary readings covers such a span of time from the early seventeenth century to the Civil War The book begins with a substantial introduction to the entire volume that gives an overview of slavery in North America Each of the twelve chapters that follow has an introduction that discusses the leading secondary books and articles on the topic in question followed by an essay and three primary documents Questions for further study and discussion are included in the chapter introduction while further readings are suggested in the chapter bibliography Topics covered include slave culture the slave based economy slavery and the law slave resistance pro slavery ideology abolition and emancipation The essays by such eminent historians as Drew Gilpin Faust Don E Fehrenbacher Eric Foner John Hope Franklin and Sylvia R Frey have been selected for their teaching value and ability to provoke discussion Drawing on black and white male and female experiences the primary documents come from a wide variety of sources diaries letters laws debates oral testimonies travelers accounts inventories journals autobiographies petitions and novels Slavery and African Ethnicities in the Americas Gwendolyn Midlo Hall, 2009-11-05 Enslaved peoples were brought to the Americas from many places in Africa but a large majority came from relatively few ethnic groups Drawing on a wide range of materials in four languages as well as on her lifetime study of slave groups in the New World Gwendolyn Midlo Hall explores the persistence of African ethnic identities among the enslaved over four hundred years of the Atlantic slave trade Hall traces the linguistic economic and cultural ties shared by large numbers of enslaved Africans showing that despite the fragmentation of the diaspora many ethnic groups retained enough cohesion to communicate and to transmit elements of their shared culture Hall concludes that recognition of the survival and persistence of African ethnic identities can fundamentally reshape how people think about the emergence of identities among enslaved Africans and their descendants in the Americas about the ways shared identity gave rise to resistance movements and about the elements of common African ethnic traditions that influenced regional creole cultures throughout the Americas

African Migrants, European Borders, and the Problem with Humanitarianism P. Khalil Saucier, Tryon P. Woods, 2024-06-10 African Migrants European Borders and the Problem with Humanitarianism presents a probing examination of the contemporary migrant crisis in the Mediterranean Basin By centering our analysis on how racial slavery has shaped European democratic culture its abolitionist traditions and the global structures of capital accumulation P Khalil Saucier and Tryon P Woods reveal and confront how contemporary discourse on the migrant crisis displaces Black sovereign mobility Their inquiry into the modern world s culture of politics investigates freedom of movement discourse s ostensible confrontation with border policing the memorializing of Black migrant deaths by artists and advocates and the visual imagery of a cosmopolitan and multicultural Europe as conceived by filmmakers in response to the migrant crisis as variants of a slaveholding culture instantiated in the early Mediterranean and Atlantic worlds This analysis allows the authors to formulate a new critical framework for analysis of both the problems of contemporary migration and borders and the leading prescriptions on offer from analysts advocates and policy makers in order to develop alternate ways of conceptualizing global society

Indian Slavery in Colonial America Alan Galloway, 2009-01-01 European enslavement of American Indians began with Christopher Columbus s arrival in the New World The slave trade expanded with European colonies and though African slave labor filled many needs huge numbers of America s indigenous peoples continued to be captured and forced to work as slaves Although central to the process of colony building in what became the United States this phenomena has received scant attention from historians Indian Slavery in Colonial America edited by Alan Galloway examines the complicated dynamics of Indian enslavement How and why Indians became both slaves of the Europeans and suppliers of slavery s victims is the subject of this book The essays in this collection use Indian slavery as a lens through which to explore both Indian and European societies and their interactions as well as relations between and among Native groups

Current Perspectives on the Archaeology of African Slavery in Latin America Pedro Paulo A. Funari, Charles E. Orser Jr., 2014-11-10 This edited volume aims at exploring a most relevant but somewhat neglected subject in archaeological studies especially within Latin America maroons and runaway settlements Scholarship on runaways is well established and prolific in ethnology anthropology and history but it is still in its infancy in archaeology A small body of archaeological literature on maroons exists for other regions but no single volume discusses the subject in depth including diverse eras and geographical areas within Latin American contexts Thus a central aim of the volume is to gather together some of the most active Latin American maroon archaeologists in a single volume This volume will thus become an important reference book on the subject and will also foster further archaeology research on maroon settlements The introduction and comments by senior scholars provide a wide ranging and comprehensive analysis of runaway archaeology that will help to indicate the global importance of this research Rewriting the African Diaspora in Latin America and the Caribbean Robert L. Adams Jr.,2014-10-14

This volume considers the African Diaspora through the underexplored Afro Latino experience in the Caribbean and South America Utilizing both established and emerging approaches such as feminism and Atlantic studies the authors explore the production of historical and contemporary identities and cultural practices within and beyond the boundaries of the nation state Rewriting the African Diaspora in the Caribbean and Latin America illustrates how far the fields of Afro Latino and African Diaspora studies have advanced beyond the Herskovits and Frazier debates of the 1940s The book s arguments complicate Herskovits insistence on Black culture being an exclusive reflection of African survivals as well as Frazier s counter claim of African American culture being a result of slavery and colonialism This collection of thought provoking essays extends the concepts of diaspora and transnationalism forcing the reader to reassess their present limitations as interpretive tools In the process Afro Latinos are rendered visible as national actors and transnational citizens This book was originally published as a special issue of African and Black Diaspora Connected Worlds Ann Curthoys,Marilyn Lake,2006-03-01 This volume brings together historians of imperialism and race travel and modernity Islam and India the Pacific and the Atlantic to show how a transnational approach to history offers fresh insights into the past Transnational history is a form of scholarship that has been revolutionising our understanding of history in the last decade With a focus on interconnectedness across national borders of ideas events technologies and individual lives it moves beyond the national frames of analysis that so often blinker and restrict our understanding of the past Many of the essays also show how expertise in Australian history can contribute to and benefit from new transnational approaches to history Through an examination of such diverse subjects as film modernity immigration politics and romance Connected Worlds weaves an historical matrix which transports the reader beyond the local into a realm which re defines the meaning of humanity in all its complexity Contributors include Tony Ballantyne Desley Deacon John Fitzgerald Patrick Wolfe and Angela Woollacott
