Private Pilot Judgment Training in Flight School Settings Alan E. Diehl,1987 Pilot judgment errors have long been recognized as an important factor in aviation accidents Previous studies have demonstrated that specialized training procedures can significantly reduce the number of decisional errors made by newly certified private pilots during in flight tests However the subjects in these studies were all college age students enrolled in full time aviation training programs which were taught by highly motivated instructors The present study examined the utility of revised judgment training materials with typical private pilot applicants in conventional flight school settings at ten fixed based operations within the FAA s eastern region The performance of a sample of subjects who received judgment training was compared with that of a control group drawn from these same FBOs The behavioral test of judgment was in the form of an observation flight administered by observers who were uninformed of the details of the experimental design Students and instructors also completed a critique of the program materials The results of the study suggest that improvements in pilot decision making skills can be achieved in the less formal instructional climate which characterizes many conventional flight school programs The revised judgment training program and instructional materials are acceptable to the user community and most participants found them to be very useful The Pilot's Manual - Private Pilot Syllabus Jackie Spanitz,1995-07-01
