Peck, 2008-08-19 Since retiring from the USAF as a Command Pilot and Engineering Officer Colonel Peck has become one of the leading historians of Spanish seafaring conquest in the New World Drawn to an interest in the enigmatic Maya Colonel Peck entered into a decade long field study of the prehistoric Maya and discovered that the current view of Maya accomplishments in science and seafaring was appallingly inaccurate In previous published works Colonel Peck has shown that contrary to current consensus the Maya had developed a variety of efficient bronze tools with which they constructed large seaworthy vessels and traveled to the Caribbean and the shores of Florida using a sophisticated method of celestial navigation a millennium before it was developed in Europe Thicker Than Water Melissa Meyer,2014-02-04 Blood is more than a fluid solution of cells platelets and plasma It is a symbol for the most basic of human concerns life death and family find expression in rituals surrounding everything from menstruation to human sacrifice Comprehensive in its scope and provocative in its argument this book examines beliefs and rituals concerning blood in a range of regional and religious contexts throughout human history Meyer reveals the origins of a wide range of blood rituals from the earliest surviving human symbolism of fertility and the hunt to the Jewish bris and the clitoridectomies given to young girls in parts of Africa The book also explores how cultural practices influence gene selection and makes a connection with the natural sciences by exploring how color perception influences the human proclivity to create blood symbols and rituals Textiles in Ritual and Cultic Practices in the Ancient Near East from the Third to the First Millennium BC Salvatore Gaspa,Matteo Vigo,2019-09-01 The workshop aims at presenting current research on textual iconographical and archaeological evidence for the use of textiles in ritual and cult in the Ancient Near East The main purpose is to address questions related to the use of raw materials garments of ritual performers and cult images textile tools in ritual and cultic practices as well as textile metaphors and analogical formulas in rituals Ancient Traditions of the Virgin Mary's Dormition and Assumption Stephen J. Shoemaker,2003-01-17 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The ancient Dormition and Assumption traditions are a collection of over sixty different narratives preserved in nine ancient languages that commemorate the end of the Virgin Mary's life These traditions have long been overlooked by scholars of early Christianity no doubt largely because this complicated corpus was insufficiently well known The present study aims to remedy this situation with a detailed analysis of the earliest traditions of Mary's death including liturgical and archaeological evidence as well as the numerous narrative sources Several of the most important narratives are translated in appendices many appearing in English for the first time The book will be of interest to all scholars of early Christian literature Ritual Sacrifice Brenda Ralph Lewis,2007-01-15 The principle of sacrifice is as old as human life itself This book provides an overview of sacrificial practices around the world since prehistoric times It also examines the reasons behind these rituals and in the case of human sacrifice an attempt is made to understand the mentality of the victims who often willingly went to their deaths Cannabis Robert Clarke,Mark Merlin,2016-06-28 Cannabis Evolution and Ethnobotany is a comprehensive interdisciplinary exploration of the natural origins and early evolution of this famous plant highlighting its historic role in the development of human societies Cannabis has long been prized for the strong and durable fiber in its stalks its edible and oil rich seeds and the psychoactive and medicinal compounds produced by its female flowers The culturally valuable and often irreplaceable goods derived from cannabis deeply influenced the commercial medical ritual and religious practices of cultures throughout the ages and human desire for these commodities directed the evolution of the plant toward its contemporary varieties As interest in cannabis grows and public debate over its many uses rises this book will help us understand why humanity continues to rely on this plant and adapts it to suit our needs

On Prehistoric Traditions and Customs in Connection with Sun and Serpent Worship John S. Phené,1875 Prehistoric Art in Europe Nancy K. Sandars,1995-01-01 Until around 10 000 BC art in Europe appears to have been in advance of the rest of the world and throws light on the total history of early man The great masterpieces of cave painting at Lascaux are well known and one tradition of early sculpture is from the first surprisingly classical With the shelter paintings of the Spanish Levant and the clay modelling and painted pottery of eastern Europe in the fourth and third millennia BC fresh artistic problems were tackled Later still evolved the high technical accomplishment of the metal workers and this study concludes with an account of the new departures of Celtic La Tene art of the last four centuries BC Decoding Neolithic Atlantic and Mediterranean Island Ritual George Nash, Andrew Townsend, 2016-03-31 What constitutes an island and the archaeology contained within Is it the physicality of its boundary between shoreline and sea Does this physical barrier extend further into a watery zone Archaeologically can islands be defined by cultural heritage and influence Clearly and based on these few probing questions islands are more than just lumps of rock and earth sitting in the middle of a sea or ocean An island is a space which when described in terms of topography landscape form and resources becomes a place A place can sometimes be delineated with barriers and boundaries it may also have a perimeter and can be distinguished from the space that surrounds it The 16 papers presented here explore the physicality and levels of insularity of individual islands and island groups during prehistory through a series of case studies on Neolithic island archaeology in the Atlantic and Mediterranean regions For the eastern Atlantic the Atlantic Archipelago papers discuss the sacred geographies and material culture of Neolithic Gotland Orkney and Anglesey and the architecture of and ritual behavior associated with megalithic monuments in the Channel Islands and the Scilly Isles The Mediterranean region is represented by a different type of Neolithic both in terms of architecture and material culture Papers discuss theoretical constructs and ritual deposition cave sites ritualized and religious aspects of Neolithic death and burial metaphysical journeys associated with the underworld in Late Neolithic Malta and the possible role of its Temple Period art in ritual activities and palaeoenvironmental evidence from the Neolithic monuments of Corsica The cases examined illustrate the diversity of the evidence available that affords a better understanding of the European Mediterranean Neolithic island society not least the effects of interaction contact and or geographical insularity isolation all factors that are considered to have consequences for the establishment and modification of cultures in island settings The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Figurines Timothy Insoll, 2017-04-13 Figurines dating from prehistory have been found across the world but have never before been considered globally The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Figurines is the first book to offer a comparative survey of this kind bringing together approaches from across the landscape of contemporary research into a definitive resource in the field The volume is comprehensive authoritative and accessible with dedicated and fully illustrated chapters covering figurines from the Americas Europe Africa Asia and Australasia and the Pacific laid out by geographical location and written by the foremost scholars in figurine studies wherever prehistoric figurines are found they have been expertly described and examined in relation to their subject matter form function context chronology meaning and interpretation Specific themes that are discussed by contributors include for example theories of figurine interpretation meaning in processes and contexts of figurine production use destruction and disposal and the cognitive and social implications of representation Chronologically the coverage ranges from the Middle Palaeolithic through to areas and periods where an absence of historical sources renders figurines prehistoric even though they might have been produced in the mid 2nd millennium AD as in parts of sub Saharan Africa The result is a synthesis of invaluable insights into past thinking on the human body gender identity and how the figurines might have been used either practically ritually or even playfully

The Burial Record of Prehistoric Liangshan in Southwest China Anke Hein, 2016-12-13 This book proposes a new model and scheme of analysis for complex burial material and applies it to the prehistoric archaeological record of the Liangshan region in Southwest China that other archaeologists have commonly given a wide berth regarding it as too patchy too inhomogeneous and overall too unwieldy to work with The model treats burials as composite objects considering the various elements separately in their respective life histories The application of this approach to the rich and diverse archaeological record of the Liangshan region serves as a test of this new form of analysis This volume thus pursues two main aims to advance the understanding of the archaeology of the immediate study area which has been little examined and to present and test a new scheme of analysis that can be applied to other bodies of material
