upside down The once warm waterway now has cooler flows creating a self sustaining wild trout population and establishing a modern day fishing and boating industry to fuel the economy of the Upper Delaware River communities Protecting this important waterway the clean drinking water quality fishery and recreational opportunities has been a daunting task There are many heroes both living and dead who have labored to keep its flows clean healthy and prosperous over the past four centuries This book is about the individuals and organizations who have and are sacrificing their time and effort to keep the Delaware River flowing free and clear without detriment to its flora and fauna Focusing on both the history and the author's personal story in helping preserve the fishery this book gives readers a colorful and unique perspective of what it's like to fish the Delaware and how important it is to protect the cold water fishery that is so valuable to the economy of the region

Haunted by Waters Mark Browning, 2014-08-27 Four essential questions Why does one fish How should one properly fish What relations are created in fishing And what effects does fishing have on the future Haunted by Waters is a self examination by the author as he constructs his own narrative and tries to answer these questions for himself But it is also a thorough examination of the answers he uncovers in the course of reading what's been written on the subject As his own story unfolds Mark Browning analyzes angling literature from the Bible to Norman Maclean always bringing his inquiry back to the same source the enigma of this sport Haunted by Waters is an exploration of the apparent compulsion of those who fish not only to read about the sport but to write about it as well Mark Browning's personal account as a fly fisherman and his perspective as a critic make him uniquely qualified to navigate these waters narratives that confront head on the heartbreaks and frustrations of the sport from Thomas McGuane's meditation on long spells of inaction as the essence of fishing in The Longest Silence to Raymond Carver's story of a boy's deflated triumph in the gut wrenching masterpiece Nobody Said Anything And alongside the works of literary giants are the memories of people both great and humble who have found meaning and fulfillment in fishing from a former American president to a Scottish gamekeeper's daughter Whether set against the open ocean or tiny mountain streams in ancient China tropical Tahiti Paris under siege or the vast Canadian wilderness these stories cast wide and strike deep into the universal joys absurdities insights and tragedies of life This beautiful hardcover edition features seven original woodcut illustrations by Paul Gentry and includes a silk ribbon marker European style half round spine and full cloth case with two color foil stamping
