Psychological Aspects of Physical Disability James F. Garrett,1952 As workers in the field of rehabilitation we are realizing more and more that we do not rehabilitate people Rather we must be able to reach the heart and mind of the individual with whom we are dealing so he will want to avail himself of the services our program can provide for him His drive to accomplish his own rehabilitation must come from within himself and we must be sensitive too in the factors that can help or hinder establishing this indispensable primary base for rehabilitation Increasingly we are learning that human motivation is influenced by many things Especially important are the psychological and social factors of an individual s life These factors are important to consider early in our planning for the whole program of rehabilitation for the individual and in the evaluation of each step of its development This bulletin was written primarily for vocational rehabilitation counselors It is expected that it will assist them in planning better rehabilitation programs The need for awareness of the psychological adjustment mechanisms of the physically disabled is not confined to the counselor however and it is hoped that physicians social workers psychologists and placement specialists may profit from the contents of this publication The cooperation and coordination of the various specialties is the most important element today in providing rehabilitation services for the disabled whereby they may take their rightful place as contributing members of society The interest and cooperation of the authors and the organizations many of them represent is a practical demonstration of the vital nature of the material presented herein We are aware of the fact that successful rehabilitation programs depend on integrated community activity and in a sense this bulletin epitomizes that approach Foreword The Special-needs Reading List Wilma K. Sweeney,1998 This publication provides short reviews and recommendations of the best books journals newsletters organisations and other information sources about children with disabilities This invaluable reference is organised into two broad sections Part One covers topics related to disabilities in general such as Disability Awareness Family Life Legal Issues and Education Part Two focuses on specific disabilities including Autism Cerebral Palsy Down Syndrome Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Learning Disabilities and Speech and Language Disorders Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1994-02 Extraordinary People with Disabilities Deborah Kent,Kathryn A. Quinlan,1996 Real life stories of struggle achievement victory and sometimes loss that are an ideal companion for history social science language and geography studies The Extraordinary People series is the perfect starter for students who want to know more about the people who shaped their world focusing on the unique histories of people from every culture and every walk of life Living with Jonathan Sheila Barton,2012-01-01 Sheila Barton s memoir of autism is inspiring Finding herself at thirty years old with a son with autism and severe learning disabilities she set about learning how to live a different kind of life and be a different kind of mother This is the story told with passion intelligence and humour of their journey from darkness into light It is written out of anguish and anger but also out of hope and love The book tells the amazing story of their life together and how they dealt with diagnosis birth school brothers and sisters travel therapies obsessions grief and sex Sheila writes movingly of the heartbreak and the joy the terror and the liberation This is the story of the triumph of hope and love over pain and sadness and it is a compelling manifesto for greater understanding of those who are born different Its ending is one of empowerment and joy An Investigation Relating to Health Conditions of Workers Employed in the Construction and Maintenance of Public Utilities United States. Congress. House. Committee on Labor,1936 Adolescents Living with Physical Disability/Spina Bifida Christine M. Kinavey,2002 Muscular Dystrophy Gail Lemley Burnett,1996 Discusses the effects of MD and how people cope with them A Directory of American Poets and Fiction Writers 1997-1998 Poets & Writers, Inc,1997 Your Reading Barbara G. Samuels,G. Kylene Beers,1996 An annotated listing of books of fiction nonfiction poetry and drama recommended for junior high and middle school students Hearings United States. Congress. House,1935 For Younger Readers,1996 The Trial of Miles: A Disabled Runner's Memoir Cort Schneider,2019-10-17 Many people who see Cort Schneider running stare at him as though he is a unicorn Cort was born with cerebral palsy and as a result he runs using forearm crutches Many have trouble comprehending why someone who needs crutches to walk would choose to run on purpose The Trial of Miles explores how running helped shape Cort's identity as a person with a disability. His journey as a runner transformed him from a child who hated his disability to a disability rights advocate and scholar whose acceptance of his disability also enabled him to become a husband and father. Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1997

Adult Physical Conditions Amy J Mahle, Amber L Ward, 2018-04-17 The go to text reference for class clinical and practice. Written for OTAs to meet their unique needs, this approach combines theory with the practical evidence based functional content that develops the critical thinking and clinical reasoning skills that are the foundation for professional knowledgeable creative and competent practice. Living with Polio Daniel J. Wilson, 2008-11-15 Polio was the most dreaded childhood disease of twentieth century America. Every summer during the 1940s and 1950s, parents were terrorized by the thought that polio might cripple their children. They warned their children not to drink from public fountains, to avoid swimming pools, and to stay away from movie theaters and other crowded places. Whenever and wherever polio struck, hospitals filled with victims of the virus. Many experienced only temporary paralysis, but others faced a lifetime of disability. Living with Polio is the first book to focus primarily on the personal stories of the men and women who had acute polio and lived with its crippling consequences. Writing from personal experience, polio survivor Daniel J. Wilson shapes this impassioned book with the testimonials of more than one hundred polio victims, focusing on the years between 1930 and 1960. He traces the entire life experience of the survivors, from the alarming diagnosis, all the way to the recent development of post polio syndrome, a condition in which the symptoms of the disease may return two or three decades after they originally surfaced. Living with Polio follows every physical and emotional stage of the disease: the loneliness of long separations from family and friends, suffered by hospitalized victims; the rehabilitation facilities where survivors spent a full year or more, painfully trying to regain the use of their paralyzed muscles; and then the return home, where they were faced with readjusting to school or work with the aid of braces, crutches, or wheelchairs, while their families faced the difficult responsibilities of caring for and supporting a child or spouse with a disability. Poignant and gripping, Living with Polio is a compelling history of the enduring physical and psychological experience of polio, straight from the rarely heard voices of its survivors.
