Untimely Graham Harman, Christopher Witmore, 2023-03-21 Objects generate time time does not generate or change objects That is the central thesis of this book by the philosopher Graham Harman and the archaeologist Christopher Witmore who defend radical positions in their respective fields Against a current and pervasive conviction that reality consists of an unceasing flux a view associated in philosophy with New Materialism object oriented ontology asserts that objects of all varieties are the bedrock of reality from which time emerges And against the narrative convictions of time as the course of historical events the objects and encounters associated with archaeology push back against the very temporal delimitations which defined the field and its objects ever since its professionalization in the nineteenth century In a study ranging from the ruins of ancient Corinth Mycenae and Troy to debates over time from Aristotle and al Ash'ari through Henri Bergson and Alfred North Whitehead the authors draw on alternative conceptions of time as retroactive percolating topological cyclical and generational as consisting of countercurrents or of a surface tension between objects and their own qualities Objects Untimely invites us to reconsider the modern notion of objects as inert matter serving as a receptacle for human categories
