

The image is a composite. The upper portion shows a close-up of a Nagas man with a fierce expression, wearing a headband and a necklace, holding a long spear horizontally. He is shirtless and has yellow armbands. The background of this section is a wall made of woven bamboo or reeds. The lower portion shows a group of Nagas men in a line, wearing traditional loincloths and carrying spears, in what appears to be a ceremonial or dance performance. The overall tone is dramatic and historical.

Naked Nagas:

The Naked Nagas Christoph von Fürer-Haimendorf, 1933 The Naga Ethnic Movement for a Separate Homeland Namrata Goswami, 2020-01-17 Namrata Goswami's research on the Naga armed ethnic movement offers a compelling narrative on how conflict has affected the daily lives of the Nagas. This volume is an account of the Naga ethnic movement going on in India since 1918 covering both historical and contemporary aspects of the conflict. Based on over a decade of ethnographic work among the Naga rebels and movement zones, personal interviews and secondary data, the author offers insights into how the Naga population perceives their meeting point with the institutions of the Indian state, especially the army and the paramilitary. The book documents what it is like to live in a conflict zone and the restraints and thought processes that it cultivates, especially among the youth. The book reveals gripping stories of tremendous courage and conviction from people who have thought about the political unrest, been born into it, taken part in it, or have been affected by it. The Naga Ethnic Movement for a Separate Homeland reflects the Nagas' love for their land, tracing the poignant mix of nature, land, identity, emotions, culture, as well as the inter-ethnic differences that exacerbate the conflict. The Angami Nagas John Henry Hutton, 1921 Naga Identity Braj Bihari Kumar, Braja Bihārī Kumāra, 2005 Seekers of the Naked Truth Paul LeValley, 2018-01-01 Why would I spend a good portion of my time over the last 35 years gathering information on the Gymnosophists? The story begins even earlier. As an undergraduate student in the Flint College of the University of Michigan, I pursued an English major with a strong history minor, always looking for something between the two and rarely finding it. Then, in my practice teaching, I happened into one of the early experimental high school courses in Interdisciplinary Humanities. With the exciting interrelationships between art, literature, music, philosophy, and history, I said YES, this was what I had been looking for. So I pioneered in teaching high school Humanities for the next few years. Interdisciplinary Humanities was a bottom-up movement. Gradually, colleges began offering Masters programs to give teachers the rich background they needed. I decided I was not tied to Michigan where it was cold; I would find the best Masters program in Humanities anywhere in the world and go there. Well, it turned out that the best Masters program in the world was at Wayne State University in Detroit. Of all places, unlike other programs that were really just double majors, Wayne offered truly interdisciplinary classes. Moreover, they offered an Eastern track and a Western track. Knowing that I would never find that Eastern track anywhere else, I studied interdisciplinary courses in the cultures of India, China, Japan, and Egypt. The middle eastern professor was on sabbatical when I was there; I especially liked India, perhaps because I had already travelled around the world and India impressed me the most. Change and Development in Phom Naga Society A. Peter van der Veer,2016-05-19 In The Value of Comparison Peter van der Veer makes a compelling case for using comparative approaches in the study of society and for the need to resist the simplified civilization narratives popular in public discourse and some social theory He takes the quantitative social sciences and the broad social theories they rely on to task for their inability to question Western cultural presuppositions demonstrating that anthropology s comparative approach provides a better means to understand societies This capacity stems from anthropology s engagement with diversity its fragmentary approach to studying social life and its ability to translate difference between cultures Through essays on topics as varied as iconoclasm urban poverty Muslim immigration and social exclusion van der Veer highlights the ways that studying the particular and the unique allows for gaining a deeper knowledge of the whole without resorting to simple generalizations that elide and marginalize difference Languages of the Himalayas George van Driem,2022-09-12
