Ritual Healing in the Zion Christian Church in South Africa Mookgo Solomon Kgatle,2025-10-16 This book signifies a distinct separation of the ritual healing process in the Zion Christian Church from traditional African medicine while also attempting to synthesize contemporary medical approaches with indigenous knowledge systems The Zion Christian Church is recognized for its distinctive amalgamation of religious activities which include faith healing prophecy and significant pilgrimages particularly the Easter pilgrimage to Moria Despite the church s emphasis on the Christian identity within its faith healing practices some observers interpret various rituals and beliefs as syncretic Consequently these readings have led to allegations that the church integrates aspects of African traditional medicine and witchcraft into its rituals This book utilizes the church as a case study to examine healing faith practices and rituals thereof within the larger framework and context of African Independent Churches This theology is used to help place the faith of patients and the importance of God s role as healer ahead of the healing rituals Its unique theme driven interconnected chapters contain discussions around various practices encompassing purification and protection rituals as well as therapeutic worship Consequently scholars in religious studies theology anthropology and history will find this book an important resource in understanding the role of healing rituals among African Independent Churches Introduction to the Tsinghua Bamboo-Strip Manuscripts Guozhang Liu,2016-05-18 The Tsinghua University bamboo strip manuscripts are among the most extraordinary collections of ancient texts discovered in China to date In Introduction to the Tsinghua Bamboo Strip Manuscripts Liu Guozhong one of the scholars intimately involved in editing the Tsinghua strips offers a straightforward overview to the complexities inherent in researching this collection Liu provides an invaluable glimpse into how these artifacts were cleaned preserved and prepared for publication while also situating them within a history of similar finds He moreover explores in detail a number of crucial questions raised by the Tsinghua strips from the transmission of the Shangshu and the nature of the oft neglected Yi Zhoushu to the implications these texts have for our understanding of early Western Zhou history Maya Pilgrimage to Ritual Landscapes Joel W. Burials, Texts and Rituals Brigitta Hauser-Schäublin, I Wayan Ardika, 2008 The villages on Bali s north east coast have a long history Archaeological findings have shown that the coastal settlements of Tejakula District enjoyed trading relations with India as long as 2000 years ago or more Royal decrees dating from the 10th to the 12th century inscribed on copper tablets and preserved in the local villages as part of their religious heritage bear witness to the fact that over a period of over 1000 years these played a major role as harbour and trading centres in the transmaritime trade between India and probably the Spice Islands At the same time the inscriptions attest to the complexity in those days of Balinese society with a hierarchical social organisation headed by a king who resided in the interior precisely where nobody knows The interior was connected to the prosperous coastal settlements through a network of trade and ritual The questions that faced the German Balinese research team were first Was there anything left over of this evidently glorious past And second Would our professional anthropological and archaeological research work be able to throw any more light on the vibrant past of these villages This book is an attempt to answer both these and further questions on Bali s coastal settlements their history and culture Jews of Brooklyn Ilana Abramovitch, Seán Galvin, 2002 Over 40 historians folklorists and ordinary Brooklyn Jews present a vivid living record of this astonishing cultural heritage 150 illustrations Map Eight human skulls in a dung heap and more Annet Nieuwhof, 2015-01-06 The study of ritual practice in the past is an accepted part of archaeological research these days Yet its theoretical basis is still not fully mature This book aims at making a contribution to the study of ritual practice in the past by assembling a theoretical framework which is tailored to the needs of archaeology and which helps to identify and interpret the remains of rituals in the past This framework is applied in a special archaeological region the coastal area of the northern Netherlands a former salt marsh area In the past people lived here on artificial dwelling mounds so called terps Preservation conditions are excellent in this wetland area This study makes use of the well preserved remains of rituals in terps to examine the role of ritual practice in the societies of the pre Roman and Roman Iron Age in this area Federal Register , 2001-12 Knowing Body, Moving Mind Patricia Q Campbell, 2011-08-01 Knowing Body Moving Mind investigates ritualizing and learning in introductory meditation classes at two Buddhist centers in Toronto Canada The centers Friends of the Heart and Chandrakirti are led and attended by Western sometimes called convert Buddhists that is people from non Buddhist familial and cultural backgrounds Inspired by theories that suggest that rituals impart new knowledge or understanding Patricia Campbell examines how introductory meditation students learn through formal Buddhist practice Along the way she also explores practitioners reasons for enrolling in meditation classes their interests in Buddhism and their responses to formal Buddhist practices and to ritual in general Based on ethnographic interviews and participant observation fieldwork the text follows interview participants reflections on what they learned in meditation classes and through personal practice and what roles meditation and other ritual practices played in that learning Participants learning experiences are illuminated by an influential learning theory called Bloom s Taxonomy while the rites and practices taught and performed at the centers are explored using performance theory a method which focuses on the performative elements of ritual s postures and gestures But the study expands the performance framework as well by demonstrating that performative ritualizing includes the concentration techniques that take place in a meditator s mind Such techniques are received as traditional mental acts or behaviors that are standardized repetitively performed and variously regarded as special elevated spiritual or religious Having established a link between mental and physical forms of ritualizing the study then demonstrates that the repetitive mental techniques of meditation practice train the mind to develop new skills in the same way that physical postures and gestures train the body

The mind is thus experienced as both embodied and gestural and the whole of the body as socially and ritually informed
