Vulnerable People and Digital Inclusion Panayiota Tsatsou,2022-08-30 This edited collection explores the role of digital inclusion in the welfare and social inclusion of vulnerable people With interdisciplinary contributors from six continents working in diverse fields such as digital media studies social computing community informatics and cultural studies the collection brings together theoretical and applied research evidence on three vulnerable population categories ethnic minorities older people and people with disabilities Each section is accompanied by a critical commentary on the research insights presented from third sector community and policy experts The collection explores whether vulnerable populations face similar experiences and challenges in relation to their digital inclusion status stressing the central presence of intersectionality and arguing for the inclusion of the age ethnicity immigration status and disability aspects of one's identity At the same time it argues for multi directional action that tackles intersectional discrimination in the digital realm on behalf of more than one single population category or group Challenging popular discourse on the overcoming of digital inequalities in the West this essential book contends that accounts of non western contexts do not focus on the parameter of vulnerability or on particular population groups Chapter Enhancing Older Adults Digital Inclusion Through Social Support A Qualitative Interview Study is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com

Mountain Time Kenneth Stafford Norris, 2010 Scientist teacher author and champion of the natural world Dr Kenneth S Norris reveals the insights gained over a lifetime devoted to learning and teaching about the natural world and human nature and the global environmental crisis we've helped to bring upon ourselves

Race and the Greening of Atlanta Christopher C. Sellers, 2023-08-15 Race and the Greening of Atlanta turns an environmental lens on Atlanta's ascent to thriving capital of the Sunbelt over the twentieth century Uniquely wide ranging in scale from the city's variegated neighborhoods up to its place in regional and national political economies this book reinterprets the fall of Jim Crow as a democratization born of two metropolitan movements a well known one for civil rights and a lesser known one on behalf of the environment Arising out of Atlanta's Black and white middle classes respectively both movements owed much to New Deal capitalism's undermining of concentrated wealth and power if not racial segregation in the Jim Crow South Placing these two movements on the same historical page Christopher C Sellers spotlights those environmental inequities ideals and provocations that catalyzed their divergent political projects He then follows the intermittent sometimes vital alliances they struck as civil rights activists tackled poverty as a new environmental state arose and as Black politicians began winning elections Into the 1980s as a wealth concentrating style of capitalism returned to the city and Atlanta became a national poster child for sprawl the seedbeds spread both for a national environmental justice movement and for an influential new style of antistatism Sellers contends that this new conservatism sweeping the South with an antienvironmentalism and budding white nationalism that echoed the region's Jim Crow past once again challenged the democracy Atlantans had achieved
