Other Mirror Womens Narrative In Mexico 1980 1995:

The Boom Femenino in Mexico Nuala Finnegan, Jane E. Lavery, 2010-04-16 The Boom Femenino in Mexico Reading Contemporary Women's Writing is a collection of essays that focuses on literary production by women in Mexico over the last three decades. In its exploration of the boom femenino phenomenon, the book traces the history of the earlier boom in Latin American culture and investigates the implications of the use of the same term in the context of contemporary women's writing from Mexico. In this way, it engages critically with the cultural, historical, and literary significance of the term, illuminating the concept for a wide range of readers. It is clear that the entry of so many women writers into an arena traditionally reserved for men has prompted discussion around concepts such as women's writing and the very definition of literature itself. Many of the contributors grapple with the theoretical tensions that such debates provoke, offering an important opportunity to think critically about the texts produced during this period and the ways in which they have impacted on the Mexican and international cultural spheres. The project is comprehensive in its scope and for the first time brings together scholars from Mexico, the U.S., and Europe in a transnational forum. The book posits that despite certain aesthetic and thematic commonalities, the increased output by women writers in Mexico cannot be appraised as a unified literary movement. Instead, it embraces a wide range of different generic forms and the subjects under study in the essays in the book include the best-selling work of Angeles Mastretta, Elena Poniatowska, and Laura Esquivel, as well as the social and political preoccupations of journalists Rosanna Reguillo and Cristina Pacheco. Contributors offer readings of the aesthetic visions of writers as diverse as Carmen Boullosa, Ana Garc a Bergua, and Eve Gil, while other essays examine the nuances of contemporary gender identity in the work of Ana Clavel, Sabina Berman, Brianda Domecq, and Mar a Luisa Puga. There are essays devoted to poetry by indigenous Mayan women and an analysis of the complex place of poetry within the broader framework of literary production. The problems that emerge as a result of literary cataloguing based on gender politics are also considered at length in a number of essays that take a panoramic view of literary production over the period. Various critical approaches are employed throughout, and the collection as a whole demonstrates that academic interest in Mexican women's writing of the boom femenino is thriving. Above all, the essays here provide a space in which the location of women within prevailing cultural paradigms in Mexico and their role in the mapping of power in evolving textual canons may be interrogated. It is clear from the collection that interest in such issues is still alive and that the debate is far from over.

The Other Mirror Kristine Ibsen, 1997-02-25 During the last decade, women's narrative has become a recognized force in Mexican letters. The essays in this collection explore the recent work of nine contemporary Mexican women writers. Many of the works have been translated into English; some like Laura Esquivel's Like Water for Chocolate have become international best sellers. The unprecedented commercial success of these novels has generated mixed reactions at the same time that the secondary status afforded women's narrative has come to be questioned in many academic circles. Some authors are dissociating themselves from women's writing The essays in this volume address these issues providing a much needed contribution to the study of women's narrative

Interactive Fictions Yael Halevi-Wise, 2003-09-30 Arguing that genre must play a role in our study of narrative fiction this tour of the novel examines interactive storytelling scenes in which characters argue about how to tell a tale that meets their respective social and aesthetic expectations Through intense readings of interactive storytelling scenes in works spanning the 17th through 20th centuries Halevi Wise demonstrates how dramatized arguments about storytelling open a window on social and generic dilemmas affecting the narrative of each novel at the time of its composition Examined in detail are Cervantes Don Quixote Sterne's Tristram Shandy Austen's Northanger Abbey Dickens's Little Dorrit Conrad's Lord Jim Yehoshua's Mr Mani and Esquivel's Like Water for Chocolate Redressing an imbalance between sociological approaches that displace aesthetic considerations and aesthetic analyses that bracket cultural phenomena the author shows why both genre and culture must be taken into account when we analyze the formation and reception of a narrative Each interactive storytelling event illustrates how social and aesthetic interests compete and reinvent themselves within their framing texts and those texts respective national and historical contexts Just as social interactions cannot be indefinitely displaced in the study of narrative fiction genre cannot be ignored in the study of identity politics What emerges from this unique examination is a postmodern poetics of the novel that takes genre and history into account True Relations G. Thomas Couser, Joseph Fichtelberg, 1998-01-21

The essays in this collection explore new directions in autobiography studies Examining a wide range of texts from narratives of suicide survivors cross dressers and people with HIV AIDS to self representations in the visual arts the collection demonstrates how writers have used the postmodern experience fragmentation to forge new kinds of identities Postmodern selves the essayists argue are relational selves constructed from the acute need to find identity through collaboration with others Postmodern autobiography emerges as a search amid shocks to the stable self for wider patterns of significance Of interest to researchers and scholars in autobiography world literature and psychology Angeles Mastretta Jane Elizabeth Lavery, 2005 The first major study on the works of the Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta demonstrating the rich complexity and range of the author s fiction and essays The Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta b 1949 has only recently received serious critical attention largely because her work has been seen as popular and therefore inappropriate for academic study This first major work to be published on Mastretta seeks to demonstrate the rich complexity and range of the author s fiction and essays In the tradition of Post Boom Latin American women s writing Mastretta s texts are motivated by a desire to speak primarily of the silenced experiences and voices of women Two of her novels referential and testimonial in style can be placed within the Mexican Revolutionary Novel tradition and explore the Revolutionary period and its consequences in the light of female experiences and perspectives The hitherto unexplored themes of female sexuality and bodily erotics in Mastretta s texts are also considered in this volume Her feminist works avoid facile simplifications heterogeneous and dialogical they interweave the historical and the fictional the everyday and the fantastic The originality of Mastretta s writing lies in its elusive postmodern ambiguities shimmering surfaces are often interrupted by unexpected depths and proliferating meanings cannot be fully circumscribed by critical analysis Jane Elizabeth Lavery lectures in Latin American Studies at the University of Kent Encyclopedia of Gothic Literature Mary Ellen Snodgrass, 2014-05-14 Presents an alphabetical reference guide detailing the lives and works of authors associated with Gothic literature Latin American Women Writers Kathy S.
