Poison In The Pot The Legacy Of Lead:

Poison in the Pot Richard P. Wedeen, 2000-05-01 Presents a historical examination of lead poisoning from antiquity through the 20th century and its impact on man's political, social, and medical life. The role of lead as an environmental and social poison reaches far back into the ages, leaving clues for archaeologists, social scientists, and students of art. The chief concern here is with unraveling the effects of lead on the kidneys. Deals with historical as well as contemporary evidence, fantasy as well as fact. Shows that the adulteration of wine with lead was responsible for much of the mythology surrounding gout. Discusses wine mystiques created by poets and philosophers, preachers and satirists. 57 b/w illustrations. The Nature and Extent of Lead Poisoning in Children in the United States, 1988 Measuring Lead Exposure in Infants, Children, and Other Sensitive Populations National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Life Sciences, Committee on Measuring Lead in Critical Populations, 1993-02-01 Lead is a ubiquitous toxic agent that is especially damaging to the young child and the developing fetus. Unlike many environmental health risks, the risks associated with lead are no longer theoretical but have been observed for many years. Indeed, the first regulation of lead in paint was enacted in the 1920s. Currently, because of growing evidence of lead toxicity at lower concentrations, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently lowered its lead exposure guideline to 10 µg/dl lead in blood from 25 µg/dl. Measuring Lead Exposure in Infants, Children, and Other Sensitive Populations addresses the public health concern about the logistics and feasibility of lead screening in infants and children at such low concentrations. This book will serve as the basis for all U.S. Public Health Service activities and for all state and local programs in monitoring lead. Human Lead Exposure Herbert L. Needleman, 1991-12-07 Human Lead Exposure consists of scientific reviews and important contributions intended to increase the understanding of the legal, social, and economic forces that have delayed effective prevention of lead toxicity. Chapters discuss the history, both ancient and recent, of lead; explore its neurobiology and toxicology; review the sources and routes to humans; and examine evidence that indicates that lead may affect humans at levels previously thought to be harmless. Neurobiologists, epidemiologists, public health officials, and others concerned about the effects of lead on the human population will find a tremendous amount of useful information in this timely volume. Lead and Public Health Paul Mushak, 2011-10-12 Pt 1 Lead in the human environment; pt 2 Lead exposure in human populations; pt 3 Lead toxicity in humans; pt 4 Human health risk assessment; pt 5 Regulatory approaches to control. Lead in Housewares United States. Congress. House. Committee on Energy and Commerce. Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, 1988 Lead Babies Joanna Cerazy M Ed, Sandra Cottingham Ph. D., 2010-02 Lead Babies reveals important new information about in utero lead transfer from mother to unborn child. Lead poisoning is causing an epidemic of learning and behavior problems in our children. Despite decades of concern about lead's toxicity, the lead industry flourishes, putting unborn children and people of all ages at risk from a multitude of seemingly harmless sources. Brush with Death Christian Warren, 2000 Winner of the Arthur Visel tear Award for Outstanding Book in the History of Public Health from the American Public Health Association Selected by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title During the twentieth century lead poisoning killed thousands of workers and children in the United States Thousands who survived lead poisoning were left physically crippled or were robbed of mental faculties and years of life In Brush with Death social historian Christian Warren offers the first comprehensive history of lead poisoning in the United States Focusing on lead paint and leaded gasoline Warren distinguishes three primary modes of exposure occupational pediatric and environmental This threefold perspective permits a nuanced exploration of the regulatory mechanisms medical technologies and epidemiological tools that arose in response to lead poisoning Today many children undergo aggressive chelating treatments when their blood lead levels are well below the average blood lead levels found in urban children in the 1950s Warren links the repeated redefinition of lead poisoning to changing attitudes toward health safety and risk The same changes that transformed the social construction of lead poisoning also transformed medicine and health care giving rise to modern environmentalism and fundamentally altered jurisprudence
