philosophical conceptions as well as pragmatic approaches providing ample grounding in the key perspectives on this growing field of discourse The Routledge Handbook of Intercultural Mediation is a valuable reference for graduate and postgraduate students studying mediation conflict resolution intercultural communication translation and psychology as well as for practitioners and researchers in those fields and beyond

Racial Profiling Anthony Gennaro Vito, 2016-12-08 Racial Profiling Using Propensity Score Matching to Examine Focal Concerns Theory combines theory and propensity score matching to offer readers a better understanding of racial profiling through traffic stop data concerning the race and gender of the driver The book examines the likelihood of a citation search or consent search for similarly situated African American and Caucasian drivers in general similarly situated African American and Caucasian male drivers and similarly situated African American and Caucasian female drivers Whether and why police exercise racial profiling in their decisionmaking is one of the most hotly debated topics in criminal justice In this work Anthony Vito uses Focal Concerns Theory to explain police officer decisionmaking in traffic stop outcomes via propensity score matching revealing the intersectional dynamics of racial profiling and gender bias by the Louisville Police Department The unique approach of looking at the Focal Concerns Theory components of blameworthiness protection of the community and practical constraints and consequences together with propensity score matching provides a theoretical lens for analysis and a model for future studies This book is an original and timely resource for researchers scholars practitioners and other stakeholders focusing on the problem of racial profiling in policing

Census Catalog and Guide United States. Bureau of the Census, Includes subject area sections that describe all pertinent census data products available i e Business trade and services Geography Transportation etc

Racial Profiling Steven J. Muffler, 2006 In recent years racial profiling has drawn the attention of state and federal governments In this book racial profiling is defined as the practice of targeting individuals for police or security interdiction detention or other disparate treatment based primarily on their race ethnicity or national origin in the belief that certain minority groups are more likely to engage in unlawful behaviour Assertions that law enforcement personnel at all levels unfairly target certain racial and ethnic groups particularly but not exclusively for traffic stops and searches have raised concerns about violations of the Constitution The major debate on racial profiling centres on whether the practice should be prohibited entirely and whether data on traffic stops and searches should be collected to determine if the practice is occurring This book gathers presents the major issues available data and analyses important to understanding on the most dangerous and divisive practices of our time

Federal Probation , 1992 Policing, Race and Racism Mike Rowe, 2012-12-06 Over recent years race has become one of the most important issues faced by the police This book seeks to analyse the context and background to these changes to assess the impact of the Lawrence Inquiry and the MacPherson Report and to trace the growing emphasis on policing as an antiracist activity proactively confronting racism in both crime and non crime situations Whilst this change has not been wholly or consistently applied it does represent an important change in the discourse that surrounds police relations with the public since it changes the traditional role of the police as neutral arbiters of the law This book shows why race has become the most significant issue facing the British police and argues that the police response to race has led to a consideration of fundamental issues about the relation of the police to society as a whole and not just minority groups who might be most directly affected Policing, Race and Racism

Michael Rowe, 2004 Public inquiries into the racist murder of Stephen Lawrence in April of 1993 eventually led to the MacPherson Report of 1999 and charges of institutional racism in the British metropolitan police services This book engages the key issues emerging from the MacPherson Report discussing the failure of police to adequately recruit from minority ethnic communities the relationship between racism and broader aspects of police culture evaluations of subsequent training programs in community and race relations or policing diversity concerns that black people are over policed and the inadequacy of police response to racist violence Distributed in the US by ISBS Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com
