What We Hold in Trust Don Briel,Kenneth E. Goodpaster,Michael J. Naughton,2021-03-19 The specific concern in What We Hold in Trust comes to this the Catholic university that sees its principal purpose in terms of the active life of career and of changing the world undermines the contemplative and more deep rooted purpose of the university If a university adopts the language of technical and social change as its main and exclusive purpose it will weaken the deeper roots of the university s liberal arts and Catholic mission The language of the activist of changing the world through social justice equality and inclusion or of the technician through market oriented incentives plays an important role in university life We need to change the world for the better and universities play an important role but both the activist and technician will be co opted by our age of hyper activity and technocratic organizations if there is not first a contemplative outlook on the world that receives reality rather than constructs it To address this need for roots What We Hold in Trust unfolds in four chapters that will demonstrate how essential it is for the faculty administrators and trustees of Catholic universities to think philosophically and theologically

Chapter One historically Chapter Two and institutionally Chapters Three and Four What we desperately need today are leaders in Catholic universities who understand the roots of the institutions they serve who can wisely order the goods of the university who know what is primary and what is secondary and who can distinguish fads and slogans from authentic reform We need leaders who are in touch with their history and have a love for tradition and in particular for the Catholic tradition Without this vision our universities may grow in size but shrink in purpose They may be richer but not wiser
