Living with Polio Daniel J. Wilson, 2008-11-15 Polio was the most dreaded childhood disease of twentieth century America Every summer during the 1940s and 1950s parents were terrorized by the thought that polio might cripple their children They warned their children not to drink from public fountains to avoid swimming pools and to stay away from movie theaters and other crowded places Whenever and wherever polio struck hospitals filled with victims of the virus Many experienced only temporary paralysis but others faced a lifetime of disability Living with Polio is the first book to focus primarily on the personal stories of the men and women who had acute polio and lived with its crippling consequences Writing from personal experience polio survivor Daniel J Wilson shapes this impassioned book with the testimonials of more than one hundred polio victims focusing on the years between 1930 and 1960 He traces the entire life experience of the survivors from the alarming diagnosis all the way to the recent development of post polio syndrome a condition in which the symptoms of the disease may return two or three decades after they originally surfaced Living with Polio follows every physical and emotional stage of the disease the loneliness of long separations from family and friends suffered by hospitalized victims the rehabilitation facilities where survivors spent a full year or more painfully trying to regain the use of their paralyzed muscles and then the return home where they were faced with readjusting to school or work with the aid of braces crutches or wheelchairs while their families faced the difficult responsibilities of caring for and supporting a child or spouse with a disability Poignant and gripping Living with Polio is a compelling history of the enduring physical and psychological experience of polio straight from the rarely heard voices of its survivors Polio Tamra B. Orr,2010-08-15 Discusses the history of the poliovirus its effects on the body vaccines and the researchers who discovered them and the threat that this virus still poses AAOS Atlas of Orthoses and Assistive Devices John D. Polio David M.

Oshinsky,2005-04-12 Here David Oshinsky tells the gripping story of the polio terror and of the intense effort to find a cure from the March of Dimes to the discovery of the Salk and Sabin vaccines and beyond Drawing on newly available papers of Jonas Salk Albert Sabin and other key players Oshinsky paints a suspenseful portrait of the race for the cure weaving a dramatic tale centered on the furious rivalry between Salk and Sabin He also tells the story of Isabel Morgan perhaps the most talented of all polio researchers who might have beaten Salk to the prize if she had not retired to raise a family Oshinsky offers an insightful look at the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which was founded in the 1930s by FDR and Basil O'Connor it revolutionized fundraising and the perception of disease in America. Oshinsky also shows how the polio experience revolutionized the way in which the government licensed and tested new drugs before allowing them on the market and the way in which the legal system dealt with manufacturers' liability for unsafe products. Finally and perhaps most tellingly, Oshinsky reveals that polio was never the raging epidemic portrayed by the media but in truth a relatively uncommon disease. But in baby-booming America, increasingly suburban, family-oriented and hygiene-obsessed, the specter of polio like the specter of the atomic bomb soon became a cloud of terror over daily life. Both a gripping scientific suspense story and a provocative social and cultural history, Polio opens a fresh window onto postwar America. Kiplinger's Personal Finance, 1957-03. Everything All at Once Bill Nye, 2018-11-20. In the New York Times bestseller Everything All at Once, Bill Nye shows you how thinking like a nerd is the key to changing yourself and the world around you. Everyone has an inner nerd just waiting to be awakened by the right passion. In Everything All at Once, Bill Nye will help you find yours. With his call to arms, he wants you to examine every detail of the most difficult problems that look unsolvable; that is, until you find the solution. Bill shows you how to develop critical thinking skills and create change using his "everything all at once" approach that leaves no stone unturned. Whether addressing climate change, the future of our society as a whole, or personal success, or stripping away the mystery of fire walking, there are certain strategies that get results. Looking at the world with relentless curiosity, being driven by a desire for a better future, and being willing to take the actions needed to make change happen. He shares how he came to create this approach, starting with his Boy Scout training. It turns out that a practical understanding of science and engineering is immensely helpful in a capsizing canoe and moving through the lessons he learned as a full-time engineer at Boeing, a stand-up comedian, CEO of The Planetary Society, and of course as Bill Nye, The Science Guy. This is the story of how Bill Nye became Bill Nye and how he became a champion of change and an advocate of science. It's how he became The Science Guy. Bill teaches us that we have the power to make real change. Join him in dare we say it, changing the world.

Painting Light in Polio's Shadow: One Artist's Struggles Sharon White Richardson, 2021-11-23. Landscape painter Sharon Richardson survived polio, a viral illness that damages or destroys the nerves essential for moving muscles. With no vaccines available, epidemics occurred unchecked. Also known as infantile paralysis, polio left youngsters crippled and dependent on leg braces, crutches, wheelchairs, and in some cases, iron lungs to breathe for them. Richardson was diagnosed with polio at the age of eight weeks in 1946. In a borrowed car, her parents drove their seriously ill infant, writhing with painful muscle spasms, a hundred miles to Mercy Hospital in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Enduring and responding to intense physical therapy treatments, she overcame the paralysis in her limbs and was released after two months. By the 1980s and 1990s, Richardson had established an enviable career with work in galleries and collections across the Southeast. Fifty-six years after recovering from paralysis, she succumbed to the muscle weakening effects of post polio syndrome PPS in 2002 Approximately 25 to 40 percent of polio survivors are affected by PPS and there is no treatment She lost muscle strength and control in her legs torso and arms This loss limited walking increased scoliosis and in her right arm severely challenged Richardson s ability to paint Painting Light in Polio s Shadow One Artist s Struggles reveals how she coped with PPS setbacks and challenges and how these impediments forced her to make radical changes in her private and professional life She was determined to do everything necessary to continue painting which included learning to paint with her nondominant left hand Father and Daughter Oakley, Ann,2014-10-22 Father and daughter provides an unique insider perspective on two key figures in twentieth century British social science Ann Oakley a highly respected sociologist and best selling writer draws on her own life and that of her father Richard Titmuss a well known policy analyst and defender of the welfare state to offer an absorbing view of the connections between private lives and public work Using an innovative mix of biography autobiography intellectual history archives and personal interviews some of which have not been previously available to the public she provides a compelling narrative about gender patriarchy methodology and the politics of memory and identity This fascinating analysis defies the usual social science publications to offer a truly distinctive account which will be of wide interest Scientific panel

Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce,1955 What Do We Know and What Should We Do About Fake News? Nick Anstead,Author,2021-03-17 Voters need to be informed to make political decisions but what if their media diet not only prevents them from getting the information they need but actively shapes inaccurate perceptions of the world Drawing on examples and evidence from around the world this book aims to make a timely intervention to the debate about the concept of fake news Its underlying argument will have three objectives First to offer more precise definitions for a term that is often loosely used Second to offer a less technologically determinist view of fake news New social media platforms such as Facebook and WhatsApp are clearly an important part of the story but they exist in wider social political and institutional settings Third to situate the idea of fake news and our concern about it in broader arguments about an ongoing crisis and loss of confidence in liberal democratic institutions Only with this perspective it will be argued can we possibly address the question of what we should do about fake news
