The Political Process of Policymaking P. Zittoun, 2014-06-17 Philippe Zittoun analyses the public policymaking process focusing on how governments relentlessly develop proposals to change public policy to address insoluble problems Rather than considering this surprising Sisyphean effort as a lack of rationality the author examines it as a political activity that produces order and stability

The Process and Politics of Defense Acquisition David S. Sorenson, 2008-12-30 The United States government invests billions each year on equipping armed forces with the most advanced military equipment The root of the American defense acquisition system is driven by a combination of national interests and domestic political requirements While fundamentally the defense acquisition system has produced results for the United States military improvements are needed in order to continue to move forward in advancing military tactics and technology Exploring both the systemic and political levels of the system Sorenson argues that the United States will fall behind if the current defense acquisition system is not reformed This book brings together elements of this complicated system such as national security requirements and the changes that are needed in both the structural and political pillars A combination of political interests and the needs of the military serviced by an ever shrinking defense industry make a genuine acquisition reform even more difficult resulting in reform that is more symbolic than genuine

Politics, Process, and American Trade Policy Sharyn O'Halloran, 1994 Relying on the New Economics of Organizations NEO or New Institutionalism Politics Process and American Trade Policy shows why conventional models do not adequately describe the formation of American trade policy Rejecting both the pressure group model and the presidential ascendancy model this study's institution based approach emphasizes the influence Congress has in setting trade policy connecting theories of institutional design with the procedural details of regulating trade policy To reach her conclusions Sharyn O'Halloran uses time series data and econometric analysis to test a set of propositions concerning trade policy She examines detailed case studies and provides a comprehensive history of the institutions that govern trade policy making Unlike most scholars who see trade policy as disparate and ad hoc O'Halloran is able to explain both early and contemporary American trade policy in a consistent and integrated fashion She argues that a single set of procedures may lead to apparently different outcomes under differing initial conditions therefore the key is to identify the common logic derived from constitutional imperatives that underlies all policy outcomes
