Nearly half a century after his death Ernesto Che Guevara remains a compelling and controversial figure. He was an original social theorist and many of his writings attest to an innovative interpretation of various concepts and commitments central to Marxist thought. This is one of the first works to comprehensively consider his contribution to social and political theory for a student audience. Firstly the book provides thorough and reliable accounts of the key theses, concepts and commitments that give Che Guevara's theoretical and political orientation its distinctive character. It addresses Guevara's views on topics such as work morality in socialism, egalitarianism, prefigurative politics, internationalism and the process of disembargeoisement. Secondly the study situates Guevara's ideas within the context of the Marxist theoretical tradition and on the other hand twentieth century Latin American social thought. To this end it will explore both the affinities and dissimilarities between Guevara's views on certain fundamental questions and the views represented by such figures as Marx, Lenin, Herbert Marcuse and Jos Carlos Mariategui. Finally The Political Thought of Che Guevara will provide critical assessments of Che's key ideas many of which remain relevant to contemporary debates in socialist theory.

Political Theory Andrew Heywood, Clayton Chin, 2023-02-23 While Western modern political thought has been a story of inclusion it has also been one of continued exclusion and new forms of political oppression and silencing. This is why political theory is so necessary today. Political thought is diverse. From liberal theories laying out ideal democratic institutions to critical analyses of postcolonial settler states to conceptual analyses of the nature of freedom there are very different approaches, topics and aims within the tradition of Western political theory. What binds these diverse forms of thinking together? How do they help us to understand political institutions, life, behaviour and events? How do they help us to make decisions in the complex world of politics? This book significantly revised and reconceptualized introduces you to the modern discipline of political theory in the Western tradition, tackling its key debates, concepts, problems and traditions. What is the nature of political concepts? What problems do they pose to thinkers and political actors? How have modern political thinkers usually approached thinking about politics? How has this been problematized in contemporary debates Has modern politics fundamentally ignored economically impoverished groups women indigenous peoples racialized groups and the natural environment How have ideas like freedom equality sovereignty and the state been conceptualized in the modern tradition What tensions has this given rise to Delving into topics as diverse as Maoism postcolonialism and white supremacy boxed features give you room to explore and expand in political theorising Focusing on the texts helps you deal with difficult texts and arguments Tradition introduces you to major approaches to political theory Thinker allows you to understand the contributions of major figures in political thought Thinking globally gives insight into how political theory is adapting to global interconnectedness Beyond the West makes you reflect on what can be learnt from non Western approaches Spanning the development of Western political thought from Thucydides through to John Rawls and beyond with a focus on Modern and contemporary debates this is an essential text for undergraduate and postgraduate courses on political thought and political philosophy

A third section addresses the values that motivate environmental theorists, including justice, responsibility, rights, limits and flourishing, and the potential conflicts that can emerge within and against these ideals. The final section examines the primary structures that constrain or enable the achievement of environmental ends as well as theorizations of environmental movements, citizenship and the potential for on-going environmental action and change.
