Political Economy Of Aging The State Private Power And Social Welfare:

The Political Economy of Aging Laura Katz Olson, 1982 Age, Class, Politics, and the Welfare State Fred C. Pampel, John B. Williamson, 1989 Detailed analysis of data from the UN ILO and the World Bank leads to the conclusion that a large aged population especially in combination with democratic political processes has a direct and crucial influence on the level of welfare expenditures Services to the Aging and Aged Paul K. Kim, 2021-03-04 This series attempts to address the topic of aging from a wide variety of perspectives and to make available some of the best gerontological thought and writings to researchers professional practitioners and students in the field of aging as well as in other related areas This volume is an invaluable resource for those persons seeking a broad comprehensive coverage of current public policies and service programs for the elderly Besides dealing with present gerontological services it also explores the emerging challenges that these services must face in the future One of the outstanding features of the book is that its contributors include some of the most prominent authorities in the field of gerontology This is an exceptionally important and timely volume and is a much needed addition to the literature on aging Eldercare, Distributive Justice, and the Welfare State Derek Gill, Stanley R. Ingman, 1994-01-01 The essays in this book describe the situation of the elderly today taking into account the major political economic and social variations of service provided in a variety of countries Although the welfare state exists in all developed and developing countries its content and administration varies substantially The editors first develop a framework of concepts and perspectives that establish links between eldercare distributive justice and the welfare state This is followed by analyses of the services provided to the elderly in selected countries Finally the editors show how and in what ways the concepts developed earlier in the introduction equity uniformity public accountability individualism collectivism institutional or residual welfare state orientation high or low wage economy apply to and explain the differences in care of the elderly The Welfare State Crisis and the Transformation of Social Service Work Michael Fabricant, Steve F. Burghardt, Irwin Epstein, 2016-09-16 This book has emerged in response to social service workers vivid descriptions of changes in the practice of their craft during the past 15 years and to the scanty literature that addressed their concerns Few works have attempted to explore the interplay between the recent broader changes affecting the welfare state fiscal crisis cost containment privatization etc and the restructuring of social service work Yet it is clear that the fiscal decisions of the 1980s profoundly affected both the context and content of social service practice The Welfare State Crisis and the Transformation of Social Service Work explores how these larger forces have created significant changes for the line practitioner The greater push for caseload volume in the face of resource scarcity is redefining service encounters in ways that are more likely to meet the fiscal needs of the agency rather than the service needs of clients and the professional concerns of the worker In short the fiscal crisis of the past two decades has placed the enterprise of social services at risk After empirically documenting the seriousness of the risk The Welfare State Crisis and the Transformation of Social Service

Work concludes with an exploration of new social service practice strategies that have the potential to integrate the individual organization communal and social changes necessary for effective service interventions Voices and Visions of Aging Robert Kastenbaum, PhD, Thomas R. Cole, PhD, W. Andrew Achenbaum, PhD, Patricia L. Jakobi, PhD, 1992-11-15 A critical gerontology requires more than a simple elaboration of existing humanistic scholarship on aging This exceptional new work introduces a basis for genuine dialogue across humanistic scientific and professional disciplines Among the topics addressed are industrial employment retirement life styles of older women and biological research From philosophical reflections on the third age to critical perspectives on institutional adaptations to an aging society this book presents a wide range of provocative thought The Need for Theory Simon Biggs, Jon Hendricks, Ariela Lowenstein, 2020-11-25 The Need for Theory speaks to the burgeoning need for critical thinking in social gerontology The editors have brought together some of the foremost contributors to theoretical advances in the field This volume incorporates state of the art theorizing with a focus on selected topical areas facing gerontologists around the world Using their keen insights into substantive issues the contributors examine personal and structural changes affecting individuals over the life course Extolling the need for theory is not enough the contributors focus their insights on a panoply of substantive issues linking the personal with the political and with the structural parameters that shape the process of aging no matter where it occurs The Elgar Companion to Feminist Economics Janice Peterson, Margaret Lewis, 2001-01-01 Comprehensive reference work introducing readers to the field of feminist economics It addresses key concepts as well as feminist economic critiques and reconstructions of major economic theories and policy debates Competitiveness and American Society Steven L. Goldman, 1993 The claim that U S industry is in a crisis that it stands at a turning point in its competitiveness with foreign rivals seems on the face of it an objective description of the prevailing state of affairs But what does competitiveness mean when it is used to describe an entire industry an economy a nation What is the relationship between industrial competitiveness and the personal and social value placed on competition What are the social roots of competition that have made it an enduring American value How does the current competitiveness debate serve special interests seeking to preserve or extend their social power The essays presented in Competitiveness and American Society all written especially for this volume address these and related questions The answers they offer reveal the political character of the competitiveness debate as well as the complexity and ambiguity of the value judgments with which competitiveness issues are entangled The perspectives taken by the authors range from the austere economic through the political and managerial to the richly sociological The opening essay rejects the possibility let alone the factuality of a national competitiveness crisis the closing essay explicitly identifies the root causes of the crisis as national Other essays look to relationships among culture society and industry in the U S and Japan as factors shaping America s competitiveness crisis and the Western European response to that crisis One essay explores mechanisms that would allow the public to play a constructive role in managerial decision making another explores the complications that have followed from mandating the management of resources in accordance with social values The common denominator of all of the essays is an engagement with the role that social value judgments play in determining the competitiveness of individual firms For some this role is broad and definitive for others it is narrowly circumscribed Taken together the essays in Competitiveness and American Society establish the need for wider participation in the debate over the competitiveness of U S industry than has been held so far What is needed is a debate that addresses the quality of American life and the health of the industrial sector of the economy a debate that opens for public deliberation the changes in personal and social values and institutions that will be required to shape that interdependence

Singular Paths Robert L. Rubinstein, 1986 Singular Paths based extensively on interviews breaks fresh ground by describing specifically the situations experiences and feelings of the often overlooked single and widowed elderly male Robert L Rubinstein suggests that these men must be viewed as individuals and it is this approach which colors the presentation of his research findings He shows how older men find enjoyment in life using personal and social resources and existing opportunities

Encyclopedia of Critical Political Science Clyde W. Barrow, 2024-03-14 An indispensable and exemplary reference work this Encyclopedia adeptly navigates the multidisciplinary field of critical political science providing a comprehensive overview of the methods approaches concepts scholars and journals that have come to influence the discipline's development over the last six decades

Mental Health and the Elderly Francis J. Turner, 2010-06-15 The demographic shift to a much older population is having a large impact on social work professionals who have traditionally been the primary caretakers of the elderly As more people are living into advanced old age it is becoming increasingly important to understand and treat the wide range of psychological disorders which may affect them rather than simply attributing the disorders to senescence as was frequently done in the past Mental Health and the Elderly A Social Work Perspective is a comprehensive guide to diagnosis and treatment of the range of disorders affecting the elderly

Medicine and the Body Simon Williams, 2003-03-19 An intelligent and informed account of medical sociology Simon Williams has produced an original and comprehensive sociological statement of the centrality of the body to an understanding of medicine health and illness His scope is impressive It will shape future teaching and research in the field of health and illness Bryan S Turner Professor of Sociology University of Cambridge This is a clear well written account of medicine health and the body Taking recent debates on the body and society as its point of departure the book critically reexamines a series of embodied issues and emotional agendas in health and illness Included here are cutting edge discussions and debates concerning the medicalized body health inequalities childhood and ageing the dilemmas of high tech medicine chronic illness and disability caring and bio ethics sleep death and dying the body in late postmodernity Written in an accessible engaging style with many original and innovative insights the book will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students alike and to researchers and lecturers with an interest in the embodied agendas of health and medicine in the new millennium Cultures of Ageing Chris Gilleard, Paul Higgs, 2014-08-21 For undergraduate courses in sociology and psychology which examine ageing adulthood This book focuses on the dramatic changes to the nature of post retirement life experienced by people at the end of the twentieth century It examines age and ageing in terms of the key preoccupations of contemporary sociology citizenship the body and the self The book provides a platform for a new social gerontology that sees ageing as central to our understanding of social change It examines social cultural and political changes in Europe and North America to address the need for a text that moves the study of ageing from social policy towards the mainstream of social science Handbook of Long-Term Care Administration and Policy Cynthia Massie Mara, Laura Olson, 2008-03-27 Attitudes toward long term care contain a strong residue of negativity in today's society and current problems with the system augment such perceptions Unless dealt with now this will only get worse as the 85 and older crowd is the fastest growing part of the population and the first wave of Baby Boomers is approaching 60 Exploring and delineating Age Matters Toni M. Calasanti, Kathleen F. Slevin, 2013-10-11 This volume of original chapters is designed to bring attention to a neglected area of feminist scholarship aging After several decades of feminist studies we are now well informed of the complex ways that gender shapes the lives of women and men Similarly we know more about how gendered power relations interface with race and ethnicity class and sexual orientation Serious theorizing of old age and age relations to gender represents the next frontier of feminist scholarship In this volume leading national and international feminist scholars of aging take first steps in this direction illuminating how age relations interact with other social inequalities particularly gender In doing so the authors challenge and transform feminist scholarship and many taken for granted concepts in gender studies The Graying of the World Laura Katz Olson, 1994 This unique book studies America's frail older population relative to the elderly in ten other nations It contains a cross national assessment of approaches to long term care for the elderly and explains the nature and extent of current and future problems related to caring for the functionally impaired elderly By studying and analyzing the ongoing struggles of other nations in their attempts to cope with growing populations of frail elderly readers in the U S can expand the parameters of their own national debate on the subject The Graying of the World shows the political economic and social context in which decisions on elder care are based and evaluates how successful various countries programs have been Chapters outline alternative approaches taken by disparate types of national systems highlighting unique and creative solutions to provide useful information on new and alternative ways to respond to personal and public issues related to elder care The elderly and their care in Finland France Germany Great Britain Israel Japan People's Republic of China Sweden and Yugoslavia are discussed as are the elderly in Canada and the United States Chapters cover the following topics for each country the increasing number of frail elderly and their costly health needs the current and future role of the state in elder care the current and future role of the family in elder care types of support services offered for the elderly including in home care community based care and institutional care the relationship of a nation's political economy to its attitude and policy on long term care innovative approaches to elder care Practitioners decision makers and the concerned general public will all find The Graying of the World an interesting and informative book that expands the discussion of health care options available for the elderly As such the book is also a helpful text for undergraduate and beginning graduate students of gerontology public policy and comparative politics as well as for social service practitioners It provokes much needed conversation on developing a healthcare plan for the future that meets the needs of a large elderly population Aging Public Policy Theodore H. Hoff, Richard W. Park, 2016-12-05 Aging Public Policy Bonding the Generations is presented in three parts Part One describes the policy process as a response to human needs through the laws of our country Part Two explores the national policy development on behalf of older persons Part Three describes the major public policies on behalf of the elderly that include Social Security Medicare The Older Americans Act institutional care employment and retirement policies The final chapter discusses the advocacy process in the field of aging Women and Aging Jo Alexander, 1986 First and best anthology to address ageism from a feminist perspective

Handbook of Asian Aging Hyunsook Yoon, Jon Hendricks, 2018-10-26 In western countries the rising tide of population aging took 100 years to alter the face of societies but Asia is experiencing comparable changes in not much more than a quarter of a century Contributors to The Handbook of Aging describe the magnitude of these changes and their effects on the aged and on societies attempting to adapt to the dramatic improvements in life expectancy brought on by rapid economic and social transformations Asia encompasses a vast reach from Pakistan and India to Japan the Philippines and Indonesia and in this book including Australia The Handbook of Aging provides a framework for making sense of the meeting between reverential views of the elderly and contemporary priorities as Asia arrives at the crossroads The need for innovative approaches to social policy and personal practices is nowhere more evident than in Asian countries where modern marketing economies have forced hard political choices The economic tigers of the Asian Pacific region experienced the aging of their populations ahead of other Asian countries but solutions reached during times of financial boom are being re examined as economies come back to earth with soft or hard landings The Handbook of Asian Aging provides an atlas of the far reaching changes that are afoot and that will become even more pronounced in the near future
