Warnock, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1987 This important and provocative book explains the persistence of hunger poverty and the lack of balanced development in many countries and the central role of agriculture in economic development Most theories of agricultural development are based on the experiences of western Europe and the United States while the two models for successful late development have been Japan and the Soviet Union This book surveys the evolution of agriculture under colonialism in Latin America Africa and Asia and concludes that this long period distorted the development prospects for these areas and retarded the production of food Under strong state capitalist governments a few underdeveloped countries have broken the colonial patterns of development However other post revolutionary societies are having far less success because of economic blockades and outside military intervention While the primary focus of the book is on the short run problems of inequality the author examines the long run ecological and resource constraints to a sustainable food system and raising the standard of living in the underdeveloped world The Political Relevance of Food Media and Journalism Elizabeth Fakazis,Elfriede Fürsich,2023-01-31 Interrogating the intersections of food journalism and politics this book offers a critical examination of food media and journalism and its political potential against the backdrop of contemporary social challenges Contributors analyze current and historic examples such as BlackLivesMatter COVID 19 climate change Brexit food sovereignty and identity politics highlighting how food media and journalism reach beyond the commercial imperatives of lifestyle journalism to negotiate nationalism globalization and social inequalities The volume challenges the idea that food media journalism are trivial and apolitical by drawing attention to the complex ways that storytelling about food has engaged political discourses in the past and the innovative ways it is doing so today Bringing together international scholars from a variety of disciplines the book will be of great interest to scholars and students of journalism communication media studies food studies sociology and anthropology
