"Landscape Imagery, Politics, and Identity in a Divided Germany, 1968-1989" Catherine Wilkins, 2017-07-05 Landscape Imagery Politics and Identity in a Divided Germany 1968-1989 explores the communicative relationship between German landscape painting and the viewing public that developed in the wake of the student revolutions of the late 1960s The book demonstrates that contrary to some historical thinking more similarities than differences characterized the sociopolitical concerns of East and West Germans during the late Cold War Era and that it was these shared issues that were reflected in the revival of the Romantic painting genre Catherine Wilkins focuses on recovering the agency of the individual artist and in revising historiography with sensitivity to narration from below Interdisciplinary in nature art historians can benefit from the study's analysis of images and artists not widely known outside of Germany Additionally the consolidation of statistics and data regarding German postwar cultural policy are relevant for political and cultural historians The author contributes to the ongoing multidisciplinary debates regarding Histoire Crois in arguing that a clear dichotomy between East Germany and West Germany did not exist but rather that the residents of both nations shared a concern over some of the same issues of the period and memory studies by using images as primary historical sources able to be employed in the recovery of potentially subversive memory and identity Issues related to gender relations environmentalism and spiritual belief are addressed by Wilkins with appeal for scholars working with those particular themes Poststructuralist and literary theorists as well can find arguments supporting an alternative means of writing history through artworks and private memories

Landscapes of Memory and Experience Jan Birksted,2012-12-06 It has been argued that the history of landscape and of gardens has been marginalized from the mainstream of art history and visual studies because of a lack of engagement with the theories methods and concepts of these disciplines This book explores possible ways out of this impasse in such a way that landscape studies would become pivotal through its theoretical advances since landscape studies would challenge the underlying assumptions of traditional phenomenological theory Thus the history and theory of twentieth century landscape might not only once again share concepts and methods with contemporary art and design history but might in turn influence them A complementary sequel to Relating Architecture to Landscape this volume of essays explores further areas of interest and discussion in the landscape architecture debate and offers contributions from a team of well known researchers teachers and writers The choice of topics is wide ranging and features case studies of modern and contemporary schemes from the USA Far East and Australasia

Natural Beauty Ronald Moore,2007-08-28 Natural Beauty was selected for the Choice Outstanding Academic Title list for 2008 Natural Beauty presents a bold new philosophical account of the principles involved in making aesthetic judgments about natural objects It surveys historical and modern accounts of natural beauty and weaves elements derived from those accounts into a syncretic theory that centers on key features of aesthetic experience specifically features that sustain and reward attention In this way Moore s theory sets itself apart from both the purely cognitive and the purely emotive approaches that have dominated natural aesthetics until now Natural Beauty shows why aesthetic appreciation of works of art and aesthetic appreciation of nature can be mutually reinforcing that is how they are cooperative rather than rival enterprises Moore also makes a compelling case for how and why the experience of natural beauty can contribute to the larger project of living a good life

Material Culture in Modern Diplomacy from the 15th to the 20th Century Harriet Rudolph, Gregor M.

Metzig, 2016-12-05 The present volume aims at outlining a new field of research with regard to the history of diplomacy the material culture of diplomatic interaction in early modern and modern times The material culture of diplomacy includes all practices in foreign policy communication in which single artifacts samples of artifacts or else the whole material setting of diplomatic interaction is supposed to be constitutive for creating an intended effect in terms of diplomatic objectives The chapters of this volume focus on intercultural diplomacy in different regions of the world wherein diplomatic actors of various kinds might have been confronted by a whole universe of unfamiliar artifacts and artifact related practices Most of them concentrate on gift giving as a diplomatic practice that offers multiple insights in the complex dynamics of diplomatic relations between representatives of culturally highly diverse political entities In doing so they gainfully apply different theoretical approaches of material culture as an interdisciplinary field of study to the investigation of diplomatic cultures across the globe As a result it becomes obvious that future research into the history of diplomacy should take into account material practices much more thoroughly than has been done before Allan Kaprow, Robert Smithson, and the Limits to Art Philip Ursprung, Fiona Elliott, 2013-05-10 This innovative study of two of the most important artists of the twentieth century links the art practices of Allan Kaprow and Robert Smithson in their attempts to test the limits of art both what it is and where it is Ursprung provides a sophisticated yet accessible analysis placing the two artists firmly in the art world of the 1960s as well as in the art historical discourse of the following decades Although their practices were quite different they both extended the studio and gallery into desert landscapes abandoned warehouses industrial sites train stations and other spaces Ursprung bolsters his argument with substantial archival research and sociological and economic models of expansion and limits Landscape and Western Art Malcolm Andrews, 1999 This book explores many issues raised by the range of ideas and images of the natural world in Western art since the Renaissance The whole concept of landscape is examined as a representation of the relationship between the human and natural worlds Featured artists include Claude Freidrich Turner Cole and Ruisdael and many different forms of landscape art are addressed such as land art painting photography garden design panorama and cartography Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography Henrik Gustafsson, 2019-05-24 This book offers a rare and innovative consideration of an enduring tendency in postwar art to explore places devoid of human agents in the wake of violent encounters To see the scenery together with the crime elicits a double interrogation not merely of a physical site but also of its formation as an aesthetic artefact and ultimately of our own acts of looking and imagining Closely engaging with a vast array of works made by artists filmmakers and photographers each who has forged a distinct vantage point on the aftermath of crime and conflict the study selectively maps the afterlife of landscape in search of the political and ethical agency of the image By way of a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography brings landscape studies into close dialogue with contemporary theory by paying sustained attention to how the gesture of retracing past events facilitates new configurations of the present and future Handbook of Cultural Geography Kay Anderson, 2003 Presenting a state of the art assessment of the key questions informing cultural geography in the 21st century this handbook emphasises the intellectual diversity of the discipline and is cross referenced throughout Eyewitnessing Peter Burke, 2006-01-27 Eyewitnessing evaluates the place of images among other kinds of historical evidence Landscape, Literature and English Religious Culture, 1660-1800 R. Mayhew, 2004-03-15 Landscape Literature and English Religious Culture 1660 1800 offers a powerful revisionist account of the intellectual significance of landscape descriptions during the long Eighteenth century Landscape has long been a major arena for debate about the nature of Eighteenth century English culture this book surveys those debates and offers a provocative new account Mayhew shows that describing landscape was a religiously contested practice and that different theological positions led differing authors to different descriptive approaches Landscape description then shows English intellectual life still in the grips of a Christian and classical mentality in the long Eighteenth century      Landscapes of Defence John R. Gold, George Revill, 2014-09-15 This is a key text on the very topical themes of power defence and space Landscapes of Defence is an exciting collection of theoretical and empirical material from very well known contributors designed to help students understand how landscapes of defence fit in with some of the broader concepts of space power and place to which they are introduced in the 1st year The book is split into four sections and each section contains an introduction placing the subsequent chapters in context There is also a comprehensive introduction and afterword to tie the book's broad themes together 2nd and 3rd year undergraduates in urban and cultural geography will be the key market for this title as well as strong secondary market in departments of Sociology Anthropology Law and Planning      Late Godard and the Possibilities of Cinema Daniel Morgan, 2013 Late Godard and the Possibilities of Cinema is an exhilarating and extremely lucid analysis of the way Godard thinks in of and through cinema Drawing on his extensive knowledge of French culture politics and theory Morgan skillfully illustrates the complex relations between history aesthetics and nature in the director's later works Defying criticism of Godard's alleged retreat from politics this book provides compelling detailed and erudite analyses of his later films and illuminates the auteur's political and aesthetic response to the so called death of cinema Mary Ann Doane author of The Emergence of Cinematic Time Modernity Contingency the Archive Daniel Morgan charts a sensible route into the impenetrable Jean Luc Godard Posing clear yet insistent questions he burrows to the center of both parts of this book's formidable title finding in late Godard an aesthetic fusion that generates the light and heat of a trenchant and powerful political critique Anyone who feels drawn or licensed to write about Godard should read Morgan before setting out Dudley Andrew author of What Cinema Is Daniel Morgan's Late Godard and the Possibilities of Cinema signals a major breakthrough in the international study of the cinema of Jean Luc Godard Reconciling the filmmaker's peculiarly Romantic sense of aesthetics to which the book pays scrupulous material attention with the thorny political histories that Godard's cinema has always probed Morgan gives us new compelling synthetic tools with which to understand an artist who is at once the most cryptic and the most sensuous of all living filmmakers Adrian Martin Monash University co editor of lolajournal.com
