How Canada Was Won: A Tale of Wolfe and Quebec F. S. Brereton, 2023-10-20 F S

Brereton's How Canada Was Won: A Tale of Wolfe and Quebec is a gripping historical novel set during the pivotal battle for Quebec in the mid 18th century. The book skillfully weaves together both fiction and real events, providing readers with a vivid portrayal of the battle, the strategies employed, and the key figures involved. Brereton's writing style is engaging and detailed, making the reader feel as though they are witnessing the events firsthand. The novel is a valuable addition to the genre of historical fiction, offering insight into a crucial moment in Canada's history. Readers with an interest in military history and the history of Canada will find this book both informative and entertaining. Brereton's meticulous research and attention to detail bring the historical figures and events to life, making How Canada Was Won a must-read for history enthusiasts.

Boreal Forests in the Face of Climate Change Miguel Montoro Girona, Hubert Morin, Sylvie

Gauthier, Yves Bergeron, 2023-03-01 This open access book explores a new conceptual framework for the sustainable management of the boreal forest in the face of climate change. The boreal forest is the second largest terrestrial biome on Earth and covers a 14 million km² belt representing about 25% of the Earth's forest area. Two thirds of this forest biome is managed and supplies 37% of global wood production. These forests also provide a range of natural resources and ecosystem services essential to humanity. However, climate change is altering species distributions, natural disturbance regimes, and forest ecosystem structure and functioning. Although sustainable management is the main goal across the boreal biome, a novel framework is required to adapt forest strategies and practices to climate change. This collaborative effort draws upon 148 authors in summarizing the sustainable management of these forests and detailing the most recent experimental and observational results collected from across the boreal biome. It presents the state of sustainable management in boreal forests and highlights the critical importance of this biome in a context of global change because of these forests' key role in a range of natural processes including carbon sequestration, nutrient cycling, and the maintaining of biodiversity. This book is an essential read for academics, students, and practitioners involved in boreal forest management. It outlines the challenges facing sustainable boreal forest management within the context of climate change and serves as a basis for establishing new research avenues, identifying future research trends, and developing climate-adapted forest management plans.

Ecological Bulletins, Targets and Tools for the Maintenance of Forest Biodiversity Per Angelstam, Monica Donz-Breuss, Jean-Michel Roberge, 2009-05-06 Maintaining forest biodiversity by combining protection management and restoration of forest and woodland landscapes is a central component of sustainable development Evidence that there are threshold levels for how much habitat loss may be tolerated for viable populations of specialised species to be maintained Policy makers businesses and managers pose questions about how to balance use of renewable forest resources and conserve biodiversity Examples are presented on how biodiversity assessments can be made Proposes how the critical gaps in our knowledge identified throughout the book could be filled through macroecological research and international co operation

Quebec Cinema in the 21st Century Michael Gott, Thibaut Schilt, 2024-02-06 This collection of ten chapters and three original interviews with Quebec filmmakers focuses on the past two decades of Quebec cinema and takes an in depth look at a primarily Montreal based filmmaking industry whose increasingly diverse productions continue to resist the hegemony of Hollywood and to exist as a visible and successful hub of French language and ever more multilingual cinema in North America This volume picks up where Bill Marshall's 2001 Quebec National Cinema ends to investigate the inherently global nature of Quebec's film industry and cinematic output since the beginning of the new millennium Through their analyses of contemporary films Une colonie Avant les rues Bon cop bad cop Les Affamés Tom la ferme Uvanga among others directors including Xavier Dolan Denis Côté Sophie Desrues Chlo Robichaud Jean Marc Vallée and Monia Chokri and genres such as the buddy comedy and the zombie film our authors examine the growing tension between Quebec cinema as a national cinema and as an art form that reflects the transnationalism of today's world a new form of fluidity of individual experiences and an increasing on screen presence of Indigenous subjects both within and outside the borders of the province The book concludes with specially conducted interviews with filmmakers Denis Chouinard Bachir Bensaddek and Marie Hélène Cousineau who provide their views and insights on contemporary Quebec filmmaking

Myster, 2012-07-10 Ecotones are dynamic overlapping boundary areas where major terrestrial biomes meet As past studies have shown and as the chapters in this book will illustrate their structure size and scope have changed considerably over the millennia expanding and shrinking as climate and or other driving conditions also changed Today however many of them are changing at a rate not seen for a long time perhaps largely due to climate change and other human induced factors Indeed ecotones are more sensitive to climate change than the biomes on either side and thus may serve as critical early indicators of future climate change As ecotones change they also redefine the limits of the biomes on either side by altering their distributions of species because in addition to their own endemic species any ecotone will also have species from both adjoining biomes Consequently they may also be places of high levels of species interaction serving as active evolutionary laboratories which generate new species that then migrate back into adjacent biomes Ecotones Between Forest and Grassland explores how these ecotones have changed in the past how they are changing today and how they are likely to change in the future The book includes chapters from around the world with a special focus on South American and Neotropical ecotones Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
