The Queen Mother Herself Helen Cathcart,1979      The Queen Mother Herself Cathcart, Helen,1980      Women in African Colonial Histories Susan Geiger,Jean Allman,Nakanyike Musisi,2002-04 While recognising the inherent violence and brutality of the colonial encounter the essays in this anthology show that African women were not simply the hapless victims of European political rule      The Divisions of French Catholicism, 1629-1645 Anthony D. Wright,2016-03-23 For much of the sixteenth century France was wracked with religious strife as the Wars of Religion pitted Catholic against Protestant Whilst the conversion of Henri IV to Catholicism ended much of the conflict the ensuing peace highlighted the fractious nature of French Catholicism and the many competing threads that ran through it This book investigates the gradual division of the French Catholic reform movement often associated with those known as the devots during the first half of the seventeenth century Such division it is argued was emerging before the publication in France 1641 of the posthumous Augustinus of Jansenius not simply as a sequel to that Those who were already distinguishing themselves from other devots before that date were thus not yet identifiable as Jansenists Rather the initial defining sentiment was increasing French hostility towards Jesuit involvement in Catholic Reform both at home and abroad Drawing on sources from the Jesuit archives in Rome and on Port Royal material in Paris the book begins with an investigation into the development of Catholic Reform in France showing the problems that emerged before 1629 and the degree to which these were or were not resolved The second half of the book contrasts the fragmentation of the movement in the years beyond 1629 and the context of Richelieu s new directions in French foreign policy Covering a crucial period in the lead up to the establishment of an absolute monarchy in France this book provides a rich new explanation of the development of French political and ecclesiastical history It will be of interest not only to those studying the early modern period but to anyone wishing to understand the roots of French secular society      Going for a Spin Gordon Sharp,2014-07-01 It was Gordon Sharp s experiences as a six year old boy in the Glasgow Blitz that first set him on the path towards a medical career By the time Gordon had left school he had two firm goals to specialise in aviation medicine and to try his hand at broadcasting He managed both in style becoming Commanding Officer of the RAF s Aviation Medicine Training Centre and later Head of Division at the Institute of Aviation Medicine During his time in the RAF Medical Branch he carried out pioneering work in the development of safer systems for aircrew As a member of the ITN studio team during the Apollo space programme in the 1970s Gordon became a familiar face to TV audiences Then just when he thought life held no more surprises he found himself flying high in a different sense when he was invited to serve as Physician Extraordinary to Her Majesty The Queen Mother Going for a spin is Gordon s fascinating and entertaining story      Parliamentary Debates. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated womens daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune womens and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike Conflict of Loyalties, Politics and Religion in the Career of Gaspard de Coligny J. Gender and Chinese Archaeology Katheryn M. Linduff,Yan Sun,2004-07-26 The roles of women in Chinese archaeology with only a few exceptions have at worst been overlooked and at best consigned to conventional Marxist theory that prescribes formulaic frameworks for understanding gender until now Renowned archaeologist Katheryn M Linduff and fellow researcher Yan Sun have brought together a fascinating collection that reexamines gender in ancient Chinese cultures Acknowledging and negotiating the complications that challenge their efforts the authors analyze and begin to reconstruct the roles of women in various regions of China from the late Neolithic to the early Empire period Topics range from mortuary ritual social status and structures of power economic influences on cultural practice textile production and art in these early Chinese societies This book is a must for students professors and practitioners of archaeology that seek a more complete examination of the archaeological record for scholars in the fields of Asian Studies Art History and Chinese History more generally as well as for those interested in the roles of women in ancient Chinese society

Divine Rulers in a Secular State Timo Kallinen, 2016-03-25 The divine kingship and chiefship of the Asante people of central Ghana have been undergoing a shift towards secularization since the start of the colonial era Timo Kallinen maintains that a close examination of this transformation provides us with a better understanding of secularization processes in Ghana more broadly and in other post colonial societies whose historical development likewise differs from that of the modern West and which have largely confronted secular modernity through encounters with European colonialism Throughout the volume secularization is understood as a process in modern society whereby divinity is separated from the ways in which both human society is regulated and physical nature is understood to function Divine Rulers in a Secular State has been divided into three thematic parts each with a short theoretical introduction In the first two analysis is primarily inspired by the work of Louis Dumont while in the third the theoretical ideas of Webb Keane and Bruno Latour are of central importance The undifferentiated order of the pre colonial Asante kingdom in which the chiefly and priestly functions of the rulers were not separated comprises the initial focus Sacrifices and marriage exchanges both of which were directed at establishing and perpetuating relations between the living and the spirits of the dead ancestors are posited as the most important responsibilities of the chief Also explored are perceptions that the founding of the kingdom and its authority structure are the results of sacrifices offered to various gods by the Asante king and his chiefs The second part examines the dissolution of the traditional order since the onset of British colonial occupation The secularization process was initiated by the aspirations of colonial administrators and missionary bodies who aimed to maintain Christian converts under the political authority of their non Christian chiefs who were still important ritual leaders Consequently it was necessary to start dividing society along political and religious lines so that only the former was a mandatory concern for all The kernel of modern citizenship was planted at the same time as the religious conscience of individuals started to shape their rights and duties towards their political rulers Furthermore theories about Asante as a state based on contract and representation were proposed and developed In the post colonial era chiefship has been put into the service of the independent nation state both as an instrument of administration and a nationalistic symbol while most recently chiefs have been depicted as leaders in civil society even receiving support from global developmental organizations Yet traditional chieftaincy is strongly criticized by certain Christian groups belonging to the Pentecostal Charismatic movement which still see it as integrally linked to traditional cosmologies The third part of the book takes the discussion beyond the separation of the categories of religion and politics Secularization has also has also entailed the dematerialization of religion establishing it as something that ought to be understood primarily as mental or spiritual in a secular society things like deities witchcraft or sacrifices should not be recognized as proper agents and actions at the level of immanent relations In Ghana such views are effectively contradicted by religious groups which see spiritual forces as the most powerful agents in social relations The cases discussed deal with attempted state control of anti witchcraft activities the efficiency of protective magic during political upheavals and Pentecostal notions of demonic influences in secular politics The Conclusions section brings the themes of the book together by discussing the large scale effects of the secular project in contemporary Ghanaian society Research is based on anthropological fieldwork conducted in Ghana in 2000 2001 and 2005 2006 data drawn from several archival sources located in Ghana and the United Kingdom and the anthropological and historical literature on Ghana and the Asante
