Queensland Frontier:

Conspiracy of Silence Timothy Bottoms, 2013-05-27 As Europeans moved into new lands in Queensland in the 19th century violent encounters with local Aboriginals mostly followed Drawing on extensive original research Timothy Bottoms tells the story of the most violent frontier in Australian colonial history Queensland Lords Janet Spillman, 2015-09-10 Edward and Eliza Lord came to Moreton Bay in 1844 arriving as the remote convict outpost was opened up for free settlement Members of Lancashire merchant families they had invested their inheritances in NSW lands and a Sydney merchant firm just before the drought and crash of 1841 They moved north to rebuild their fortunes settling at Kangaroo Point before moving to the Darling Downs to start new commercial interests Although financial success continued to elude them the Lord family contributed to the settlement of colonial Queensland Edward and Eliza's great great grand daughter Janet Spillman explores the way Queensland moulded the Lord family's lives and the way family members contributed to the colony's development Civilian-Driven Violence and the Genocide of Indigenous Peoples in Settler Societies Mohamed Adhikari, 2021-07-12 Existing studies of settler colonial genocides explicitly consider the roles of metropolitan and colonial states and their military forces in the perpetration of exterminatory violence in settler colonial situations yet rarely pay specific attention to the dynamics around civilian driven mass violence against indigenous peoples In many cases however civilians were major if not the main perpetrators of such violence The focus of this book is thus on the role of civilians as perpetrators of exterminatory violence and on those elements within settler colonial situations that promoted mass violence on their part Colonial frontiers Lynette Russell, 2017-03-01 Cross cultural encounters produce boundaries and frontiers This book explores the formation structure and maintenance of boundaries and frontiers in settler colonies The southern nations of Australia New Zealand and South Africa have a common military heritage as all three united to fight for the British Empire during the Boer and First World Wars The book focuses on the southern latitudes and especially Australia and Australian historiography Looking at cross cultural interactions in the settler colonies the book illuminates the formation of new boundaries and the interaction between settler societies and indigenous groups It contends that the frontier zone is a hybrid space a place where both indigene and invader come together on land that each one believes to be their own The best way to approach the northern Cape frontier zone is via an understanding of the significance of the frontier in South African history The book explores some ways in which discourses of a natural prehistoric Aboriginality inform colonial representations of the Australian landscape and its inhabitants both indigenous and immigrant The missions of the London Missionary Society LMS in Polynesia and Australia are examined to explore the ways in which frontiers between British and antipodean cultures were negotiated in colonial textuality The role of the Treaty of Waitangi in New Zealand society is possibly the most important and controversial issue facing modern New Zealanders The book also presents valuable insights into sexual politics Aboriginal sovereignty economics of Torres Strait maritime and nomadism Historical Dictionary of

Australian Aborigines Mitchell Rolls, Murray Johnson, 2019-11-05 The Aboriginal Australians first arrived on the continent at least 60 000 years ago occupying and adapting to a range of environmental conditions from tropical estuarine habitats densely forested regions open plains and arid desert country to cold mountainous and often wet and snowy high country Cultures adapted according to the different conditions and adapted again to environmental changes brought about by rising sea levels at the end of the last ice age European colonization of the island continent in 1788 not only introduced diseases to which Aborigines had no immunity but also began an enduring and at times violent conflict over land and resources Reconciliation between Aborigines and the settler population remains unresolved This second edition of the Historical Dictionary of Australian Aborigines contains a chronology an introduction an extensive bibliography and more than 300 cross referenced entries on the politics economy foreign relations religion and culture of the Aborigines This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the indigenous people of Australia

Professional Savages Roslyn Poignant, 2004-01-01 In August 1882 the circus impresario P T Barnum called for examples of all the uncivilized races in existence In response the showman R A Cunningham shipped two groups of Australian Aborigines to the United States They were displayed as cannibals in circuses dime museums fairgrounds and other showplaces in America and Europe and examined and photographed by anthropologists Roslyn Poignant tells the fascinating and often searing story of the transformation of the Aboriginal travelers into accomplished performers professional savages who survived at least for a short time by virtue of the strengths they drew from their own culture and their individual adaptability Most died somewhere on tour A century later the mummified body of Tambo the first to die was discovered in the basement of a recently closed funeral home in Cleveland Ohio Poignant recounts how Tambo s posthumous repatriation stimulated a cultural renewal within the community from which he came exposing the roots of present social and economic injustices experienced by indigenous Australians

Warra Warra Wai Darren Rix, Craig Cormick, 2024-09-04 Shortlisted for the Queensland Literary Awards Work of State Significance and The University of Queensland Non Fiction Book Award Shortlisted for the 2025 Prime Minister s Literary Awards Australian History Winner of the 2025 NSW History Award Australian History Prize Winner of the 2025 ACT Literary Award Non Fiction Winner of the First Nations History Award Canberra Critics Circle Awards 2024 For the first time the First Nations story of Cook s arrival and what blackfellas want everyone to know about the coming of Europeans Both 250 years late and extremely timely this is an account of what First Nations people saw and felt when James Cook navigated their shores in 1770 We know the European story from diaries journals and letters For the first time this is the other side Who were the people watching the Endeavour sail by How did they understand their world and what sense did they make of this strange vision And what was the impact of these first encounters with Europeans The answers lie in tales passed down from 1770 and in truth telling of the often more brutal engagements that followed Darren Rix a Gunditjmara GunaiKurnai man radio reporter and Archie Roach s nephew and his co

author Craig Cormick travelled to all the places on the east coast that were renamed by Cook and listened to people's stories. With their permission these stories have been woven together with the European accounts and placed in their deeper context: the places Cook named already had names; the places he discovered already had peoples and stories stretching back before time; and although Cook sailed on the empire he represented impacted the people's lives and lands immeasurably in the years after. Warra Warra Wai was the expression called to Cook and his crew when they tried to make landfall in Botany Bay. It has long been interpreted as 'Go away' but is perhaps more accurately translated as 'You are all dead spirits'. In adding the First Nations version of these first encounters to the story of Australian history, this is a book that will sit on Australian shelves alongside Cook's Journals, Dark Emu, and The Fatal Shore as one of our foundational texts. From the Edge Mark McKenna, 2016-10-03

In March 1797 five British sailors and 12 Bengali seamen struggled ashore after their longboat broke apart in a storm. Their fellow survivors from the wreck of the Sydney Cove were stranded more than 500 kilometres southeast in Bass Strait. To rescue their mates and to save themselves the 19 men must walk 700 kilometres north to Sydney. That remarkable walk is a story of endurance but also of unexpected Aboriginal help. From the Edge: Australia's Lost Histories recounts four such extraordinary and largely forgotten stories: the walk of shipwreck survivors, the founding of a new Singapore in western Arnhem Land in the 1840s, Australia's largest industrial development project nestled amongst outstanding Indigenous rock art in the Pilbara, and the ever-changing story of James Cook's time in Cooktown in 1770. This new telling of the central drama of Australian history, the encounter between Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal Australians, may hold the key to understanding this land and its people. Genocide and Propaganda Paul R. Bartrop, 2025-01-23

Perpetrators of genocidal violence have regularly orchestrated propaganda campaigns using newspapers, radio, television, the internet, and other means to justify mass killings. Through 50 primary sources, readers will learn about 11 genocides spanning the 19th and 20th centuries, including campaigns against Native Americans, the Holocaust, and more recent tragedies in Bosnia Herzegovina and Rwanda. During these periods of history, propaganda was used to alienate the target population, provide reasons for the necessary persecution of the group, and reinforce the authority of the perpetrating government. Each section begins with an introductory essay exploring the course of the genocide, giving readers the background knowledge needed to understand the documents that follow. Each piece of propaganda is accompanied by a brief introduction that provides key contextual information as well as an in-depth analysis of the impact that propaganda had. Augmenting the main text are a collection of 19 high-interest sidebars and an end-of-volume bibliography. Imperial Crime and Punishment Emma D. Watkins, Eleanor Bland, 2025-10-06

Seeking to redress the traditional focus of historical criminology on the West and Global North, Imperial Crime and Punishment brings a fresh perspective to this burgeoning field by drawing instead on imperial contexts. Educating Indigenous Children in Australian Juvenile Justice Systems Bronwyn Ewing, Grace Sarra, 2023-02-06 This book addresses key issues in the context of the national policy of educating children accused of crimes in Juvenile Courts in Australia For several decades National and State Governments in Australia have struggled to define education constantly seeking to improve the way society applies the concept This book presents an accurate portrayal of consequences of the education policy of trying to educate troubled children and young people in trouble with the law It describes the work of juvenile detention centre mathematics teachers and their teaching contexts It portrays teachers as learners who ventured with researchers with a theoretical perspective This book focuses on culturally responsive pedagogies that seek to understand the ways Indigenous children and young people in juvenile detention make sense of their mathematical learning which until the time of detention has been plagued by failure It examines how the underperformance of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students and students from low socioeconomic backgrounds are strong determinants of their overrepresentation in the juvenile justice system in Australia This book presents the argument that if the students literacy and numeracy levels can be improved there is opportunity to build better futures away from involvement in the juvenile justice system and towards productive employment to improve life chances

Genocide on Settler Frontiers

Mohamed Adhikari, 2015-06-01 European colonial conquest included many instances of indigenous peoples being exterminated Cases where invading commercial stock farmers clashed with hunter gatherers were particularly destructive often resulting in a degree of dispossession and slaughter that destroyed the ability of these societies to reproduce themselves The experience of aboriginal peoples in the settler colonies of southern Africa Australia North America and Latin America bears this out The frequency with which encounters of this kind resulted in the annihilation of forager societies raises the question of whether these conflicts were inherently genocidal an issue not yet addressed by scholars in a systematic way

Aboriginal Family and the State

Sally Babidge, 2016-03-23 Aboriginal Family and the State examines the contemporary relations and history of Indigenous families in Australia specifically referencing issues of government control and recent official recognition of Aboriginal traditional owners Drawing on detailed empirical research it develops a discussion of the anthropological issues of kinship and relatedness within colonial and postcolonial contexts This volume explores the conditions affecting the formation of family among indigenous people in rural northern Australia as well as the contingencies of family in the legal and political context of contemporary indigenous claims to land With a rich discussion of the production practice and inscription of social relations this volume examines everyday expressions of family and events such as meetings and funerals demonstrating that kinship is formed and reformed through a complicated social practice of competing demands on identity

Genocide in the Age of the Nation State

Mark Levene, 2005-08-26 Most books on genocide consider it primarily as a twentieth century phenomenon In The Rise of the West and the Coming of Genocide Levene argues that this approach fails to grasp its true origins Genocide developed out of modernity and the striving for the nation state both essentially Western experiences It was European expansion into all hemispheres between the fifteenth and nineteenth centuries that provided the main stimulus to its pre 1914 manifestations One critical outcome on the cusp of modernity was the French revolutionary destruction of the Vendée Levene finishes this volume at the 1914 watershed with the destabilising effects of the rise of the West on older Ottoman Chinese Russian and Austrian empires Very impressive Eric Hobsbawm
