Quest For Life An Autobiography:

Quest for Life Yossi Turner, 2021-01-26 A D Gordon was one of the most interesting and original Jewish thinkers of the twentieth century. Quest for Life presents Gordon's philosophy which was developed in Hebrew at the beginning of the twentieth century to the English reading public. It discusses the role played by the early Land of Israel pioneering labor community in the development of his thought and offers a new understanding of its major themes including the relation of humanity to nature, human freedom, ethnicity, religion, and ethics. In addition, the book discusses the repercussions of Gordon's thought with respect to contemporary civilization while suggesting its implicit quest for life as the basis for a re-evaluation of such topics as the meaning of human life, Jewish peoplehood, and the idea of a Jewish homeland. The Essential Ian McHarg

Ian L. McHarg, 2006-11-13 A concise illuminating collection of essential essays from one of the pioneers of the field of landscape architecture. Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informal company.

The Story of My Life, volumes 1-3 Augustus J. C. Hare, 2019-12-06 In The Story of My Life Augustus J. C. Hare presents a captivating autobiographical narrative that seamlessly intertwines personal anecdotes with wider historical contexts. Spanning three volumes, Hare's prose is marked by its introspective depth and rich descriptive quality, bringing to life his experiences across Victorian England and beyond. The work is not merely an autobiography; it is a tapestry of social observations, literary critiques, and reflections on mortality and friendship that resonate deeply within the literary landscape of its time, often drawing parallels to contemporaries like John Stuart Mill and Samuel Butler. Augustus J. C. Hare, born in 1834, was a profound observer of life whose experiences as a traveler, lecturer, and author imbued his work with authenticity and insight. His family's artistic legacy and his own extensive travels shaped his worldview, imbuing his life story with engaging encounters and profound insights. Hare's literary journey reflects a meticulous attention to the interplay between personal experience and broader societal movements, allowing readers to connect with his narrative on various levels. Readers seeking an engaging exploration of 19th-century life encapsulated through personal reflection will find The Story of My Life a rewarding endeavor. Hare's unique voice invites contemplation of existential themes and human relationships, making it essential for those interested in literary history or autobiographical literature.

Your Whole Life James Bernard Murphy, 2020-04-24 A holistic view of human development that rejects the conventional stages of childhood, adulthood, and old age. When we talk about human development, we tend to characterize it as proceeding through a series of stages in which we are first children, then adolescents, and finally adults. But as James Bernard Murphy observes, growth is not limited to the young, nor is decline limited to the aged. We are never trapped within the horizon of a particular life stage; children anticipate adulthood, and adults recapture childhood. According to Murphy, the very idea of stages of life undermines our ability to see our lives as a whole. In Your Whole Life, Murphy asks what accounts for the unity of a human life over time. He advocates for an unconventional developmental story of human nature based on a nested hierarchy of three powers first each person's unique human genome insures biological identity over time second each person's powers of imagination and memory insure psychological identity over time and third each person's ability to tell his or her own life story insures narrative identity over time Just as imagination and memory rely upon our biological identity so our autobiographical stories rest upon our psychological identity Narrative is not the foundation of personal identity as many argue but its capstone Engaging with the work of Aristotle Augustine Jesus and Rousseau as well as with the contributions of contemporary evolutionary biologists and psychologists Murphy challenges the widely shared assumptions in Western thinking about personhood and its development through discrete stages of childhood adulthood and old age He offers instead a holistic view in which we are always growing and declining always learning and forgetting and always living and dying and finds that only in relation to one's whole life does the passing of time obtain meaning American Heroes in a Media Age Susan J. Shameful Autobiographies Rosamund Dalziel, 2018-07-04 Writing autobiography is a risky business What is shameful can be inadvertently rather than deliberately revealed Yet reading autobiography can also be risky as it may lead to the confrontation of shame in ourselves Perhaps it is this element of risk together with the magnetism of another person's confession of shameful experience that make us such avid readers of autobiography Rosamund Dalziel proposes that shame is the driving force in many Australian autobiographies Indeed she suggests that the representation of shame is fundamental to the autobiographical process Shame seeks concealment and this she argues explains both why this fascinating link has not before been explored and why when it is pointed out we immediately know it to be authentic Shameful Autobiographies looks at pervasive patterns of shame in the autobiographies of such leading Australian writers as Germaine Greer Sally Morgan Bernard Smith Kathleen Fitzpatrick Morris Lurie Ruby Langford Ginibi and Robert Dessaix In so doing it establishes the centrality of shame to problems of Australian identity and to current political debate for instance it is shame that fuels angry repudiations of the so called black armband view of history The calm clarity of Rosamund Dalziel's writing strengthens her powerful insights and arguments the most potent of which is that autobiographical confrontation with shame can heal deep wounds both for writers and for readers This mature and innovative book will enrich the experience of all readers of autobiography

The Life of the Fields Richard Jefferies, 2019-11-26 In The Life of the Fields Richard Jefferies offers a poignant exploration of rural England's natural landscapes emphasizing his intricate observations of flora and fauna His lyrical prose a hallmark of Victorian nature writing blends poetic introspection with scientific observation inviting readers to contemplate the beauty and complexity of the countryside This collection of essays captures the essence of rural life reflecting both the ceaseless rhythms of nature and the profound connection between humanity and the natural world set within the backdrop of a rapidly industrializing society Richard Jefferies born in 1848 was deeply influenced by his upbringing in the English countryside His experiences as a farmer and his subsequent struggles with health and urbanization shaped his worldview and relationship with nature An advocate for ecological preservation Jefferies wrote during a time when traditional rural life was increasingly threatened by modernity which is poignantly articulated in his works His blend of passionate description and philosophical inquiry reveals a keen awareness of both beauty and transience This book is highly recommended for lovers of nature writing as well as scholars interested in the interplay between literature and environmental consciousness Jefferies evocative prose not only delights but also inspires a renewed appreciation for the landscapes that form our shared heritage The Arvon Book of Life Writing Sally Cline, Carole Angier, 2010-04-01

Dyson, 2014-08-13 The authoritative biography of a nineteenth century polymath This fascinating biography tells the story of William J Stillman 1828 1901 a nineteenth century polymath Born and raised in Schenectady New York Stillman attended Union College and began his career as a Hudson River School painter after an apprenticeship with Frederic Edwin Church In the 1850s he was editor of The Crayon the most important journal of art criticism in antebellum America Later after a stint as an explorer promoter of the Adirondacks he became the American consul in Rome during the Civil War When his diplomatic career brought him to Crete he developed an interest in archaeology and later produced photographs of the Acropolis for which he is best known today In yet another career switch Stillman became a journalist serving as a correspondent for The Times of London in Rome and the Balkans In 1871 he married his second wife Marie Spartali a Pre Raphaelite painter and continued to write about history and art until his death One of the later products of the American Enlightenment he lived a life that intersected with many strands of American and European culture Stillman can indeed be called the last amateur The Last Amateur is a meticulously researched and highly nuanced portrait of William J Stillman an important journalist artist and critic of mid nineteenth century America Stephen L Dyson provides outstanding context and a convincing case as to why Stillman deserves to be better known due to his keen intellect prodigious output and insightful views on art and culture It's refreshing to see an academic who blends deep scholarship with an ability to write in a readable style that will satisfy both the scholar and the general readers The result is a timeless classic Paul Grondahl author of Mayor Corning Albany Icon Albany Enigma The Last Amateur is a complex and intriguing life history of a personality very much within the circles of the intellectual debates of the mid and late nineteenth century on art aesthetics archaeology geopolitics especially in the eastern Mediterranean and the development of photography Stillman was sort of a Zelig character and although he had an important influence on many of these areas of culture and society he has been relatively little studied The book is an important step in shedding light on the character and importance of Stillman Harvey K Flad coauthor of Main Street to Mainframes Landscape and Social Change in Poughkeepsie Postcolonial Life-Writing Bart Moore-Gilbert, 2009-06-08 At a time when concepts of identity and self representation are abundant in both literary and cultural studies Postcolonialism and Life Writing brings together the two increasingly popular and important fields of postcolonial studies and life writing Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen's Life Writing Julie A. Eckerle, 2016-04-01 Juxtaposing life writing and romance this study offers the first book length exploration of the dynamic and complex relationship between the two genres In so doing it operates at the intersection of several recent trends interest in women's contributions to autobiography greater awareness of the diversity and flexibility of autobiographical forms in the early modern period and the use of manuscripts and other material evidence to trace literacy practices Through analysis of a wide variety of life writings by early modern Englishwomen including

Elizabeth Delaval Dorothy Calthorpe Ann Fanshawe and Anne Halkett Julie A Eckerle demonstrates that these women were not only familiar with the controversial romance genre but also deeply influenced by it Romance she argues with its unending tales of unsatisfying love spoke to something in women s experience offered a model by which they could recount their own disappointments in a world where arranged marriage and often loveless matches ruled the day and exerted a powerful pervasive pressure on their textual self formations Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen s Life Writing documents a vibrant secular form of auto biographical writing that coexisted alongside numerous spiritual forms providing a much more nuanced and complete understanding of sixteenth and seventeenth century women s reading and writing literacies

Autobiographical Writing by Early Modern Hispanic Women Elizabeth Teresa Howe, 2016-04-08 Women s life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it The present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in Spanish during the early modern period There are indeed examples of autobiographical writing by women in Spain and its New World empire evident as early as the fourteenth century Memorias penned by Do a Leonor L pez de Cord ba and continuing through the seventeenth century Cartas of Sor Juana In s de la Cruz What sets these accounts apart the author shows are the variety of forms adopted by each woman to tell her life and the circumstances in which she adapts her narrative to satisfy the presence of male critics whether ecclesiastic or political actual or imagined who would dismiss or even alter her life story Analyzing how each of these women viewed her life and conversely how their contemporaries both male and female received and sometimes edited her account Howe reveals the tension in the texts between telling a life and telling a lie
