Logotherapy and Existential Analysis Alexander Batthyány, 2016-04-08. This landmark volume introduces the new series of proceedings from the Viktor Frankl Institute, dedicated to preserving the past, disseminating the present, and anticipating the future of Franklian existential psychology and psychotherapy, i.e., logotherapy and existential analysis. Wide-ranging contents keep readers abreast of current ideas, findings, and developments in the field while also presenting rarely seen selections from Frankl's work. Established contributors report on new applications of existential therapies in specific OCD, cancer, end-of-life issues, and universal themes: the search for meaning, contexts, as well as intriguing possibilities for opening up dialogue with other schools of psychology. And this initial offering establishes the tenor of the series by presenting varied materials across the field, including archival and unpublished articles and lectures by Frankl, peer-reviewed studies on logotherapy process, measures, and research, new case studies using logotherapy and existential analysis in diverse settings, papers advocating cross-disciplinary collaboration, philosophical applications of existential psychology, critical reviews of logotherapy-related books. Volume 1 of Logotherapy and Existential Analysis will attract a wide audience, including psychologists, clinical social personality, positive psychotherapists of different schools, psychiatrists in private practice, and researchers in these fields. The Art of Human Living Michael H. Mitias, 2025-09-05 How should I live How should I love How should I die These three questions stream into human consciousness from the womb of a more urgent question What makes my life worth living or justifiable What if one stands at the last frontier of their life and casts a look at the way they lived it Can they leave the world with a feeling of inner peace and pride in the way they lived it The author of this book argues that a life worth living should originate from the depth of the human essence from the power that makes us human How This question demands an urgent answer because first human life is a thrust into the future which we cannot predict and second it is short Should we not care about the way we live since it is the most valuable possession we have in this world How many people regret the way they lived when they reach the end of their lives Should we not wonder why we exist and how we should live our lives An inquiry into his question is an inquiry into the foundation of a life worth living What are the building blocks of this foundation The author further argues that living this kind of life is an art He draws a parallel between artistic creation and self creation An authentic or fulfilled life is an art of human living In what sense is the human being a self created being Under what conditions can one learn this art

The End of the Timeless God R. T. Mullins, 2016-01-07 The claim that God is timeless has been the majority view throughout church history However it is not obvious that divine timelessness is compatible with fundamental Christian doctrines such as creation and incarnation Theologians have long been aware of the conflict between divine timelessness and Christian doctrine and various solutions to these conflicts have been developed In contemporary thought it is widely agreed that new theories on the nature of time can further help solve these conflicts Do these solutions actually solve the conflict Can the Christian God be timeless The End of the Timeless God sets forth a thorough investigation into the Christian understanding of God and the God world relationship It argues that the Christian

God cannot be timeless Selfless Love and Human Flourishing in Paul Tillich and Iris Murdoch Julia Theresa Meszaros, 2016 In an age of self affirmation and self assertion selfless love can appear as a threat to the lover's personal well being This perception jars with the Biblical promise that we gain our life through losing it and therefore calls for a theological response In conversation with the Protestant theologian Paul Tillich and the atheistic moral philosopher and novelist Iris Murdoch Selfless Love and Human Flourishing in Paul Tillich and Iris Murdoch enquires into the anthropological grounds on which selfless love can be said to build up rather than undermine the lover's self It proposes that while the implausibility of selfless love was furthered by the modern deconstruction of the self both Tillich and Murdoch utilize this very deconstruction towards explicating and restoring the link between selfless love and human flourishing Julia T Meszaros shows that they use the modern diagnosis of the human being's lack of a stable and independent self as manifest in Sartre's existentialism in support of an understanding of the self as relational and fallen This leads them to view a loving orientation away from self and a surrender to the other as critical to the full flourishing of human selfhood In arguing that Tillich and Murdoch defend the link between selfless love and human flourishing through reference to the human being's ontological selflessness Meszaros closely engages Soren Kierkegaard's earlier attempt to keep selfless love and human flourishing in a productive dialectical tension She also examines the breakdown of this tension in the later figures of Anders Nygren Simone Weil and Jean Paul Sartre and addresses the pitfalls of this breakdown Her examination concludes by arguing that the link between selfless love and human flourishing would be strengthened by a more resolute endorsement of a personal God and of the reciprocal nature of selfless love Redemption and Awakening Pasquale De Marco, 2025-07-10 In a world where faith and psychology often intersect this groundbreaking book delves into the depths of these intertwined realms unveiling their profound impact on the human experience Through compelling narratives and insightful explorations we embark on a journey that illuminates the transformative power of faith in overcoming adversity the healing balm of spirituality in mending broken hearts and the profound insights offered by psychology in guiding individuals toward self awareness and personal growth As we navigate the chapters of this book we uncover a tapestry of insights that enrich our understanding of ourselves and our world We explore the intricate interplay between belief and behavior spirituality and mental well being discovering the practical ways in which faith and psychology can be harmonized to create a life of meaning purpose and fulfillment With eloquence and erudition this book weaves together diverse perspectives offering a comprehensive examination of the intersection of faith and psychology It invites readers to embark on a profound exploration of their own beliefs and motivations fostering a deeper understanding of the human condition and the pathways to personal growth and fulfillment Whether seeking solace inspiration or a deeper understanding of the human psyche readers will find in this book a wealth of insights that illuminate the transformative power of faith and psychology It is a must read for anyone seeking to navigate the complexities of the human experience with greater awareness compassion and wisdom If you like this book write a review
