A Question of Manhood Earnestine Jenkins, Darlene Clark Hine, 1999 A Question of Manhood Darlene Clark Hine, Dark Salutations Riggins Renal Earl, 2001-08-01 Although Henry Louis Gates examined the ways in which African slave language formed the metaphors for African American poetry and fiction in The Signifying Monkey there have been no studies of the theological and ethical significance of the salutations of black Americans until now In Dark Salutations Riggins Earl examines black American s ethnocentric verbalized salutary expressions brotherman and sistergirl for example that dominate their ritualistic moments of social encounter The noticeable religious content of some of these salutations drives us to examine blacks understandings of God and brother sisterhood challenges Is God a respecter of persons Or have black people understood God to be faithfully for them and with them politically and spiritually Have black people understood themselves to be trustfully for and with each other spiritually and politically Have black people understood themselves to be trustfully for and with even the whites who oppressed them Earl argues that these salutary expressions show how blacks have lived with the burdensome challenge of having to prove their sisterly and brotherly capacities and with the insatiable desire to be treated as equal siblings in the family of God

The Ladies' Repository, 1865 The idea of this women's magazine originated with Samuel Williams a Cincinnati Methodist who thought that Christian women needed a magazine less worldly than Godey's Lady's Book and Snowden's Lady's Companion Written largely by ministers this exceptionally well printed little magazine contained well written essays of a moral character plenty of poetry articles on historical and scientific matters and book reviews Among western writers were Alice Cary who contributed over a hundred sketches and poems her sister Phoebe Cary Otway Curry Moncure D. Conway and Joshua R. Giddings and New England contributors included Mrs. Lydia Sigourney Hannah F. Gould and Julia C. R. Dorr By 1851 each issue published a piece of music and two steel plates usually landscapes or portraits When Davis E. Clark took over the editorship in 1853 the magazine became brighter and attained a circulation of 40,000 Unlike his predecessors Clark included fictional pieces and made the Repository a magazine for the whole family After the war it began to decline and in 1876 was replaced by the National Repository The Ladies' Repository was an excellent representative of the Methodist mind and heart Its essays sketches and poems its good steel engravings and its moral tone gave it a charm all its own Cf American periodicals 1741-1900
