Delanty, Krishan Kumar, 2006-06-14 With its list of distinguished contributors and its wide range of topics the handbook is surely destined to become an invaluable resource for all serious students of nationalism Michael Billig Professor of Social Sciences at Loughborough University and author of Banal Nationalism SAGE 1995 The persistence some would say revival of nationalism across the recent history of modernity in particular the past two decades has taken many scholars in the social sciences by surprise In response interest in the analysis of nationalism has increased and given rise to a great variety of new angles under which to study the phenomenon What was missing in the cacophony of voices addressing nationalism was a volume that brought them together and confronted them with each other This handbook does just that It deserves particular praise for the wide range of approaches and topic included and for the systematic attempt at studying nationalism as a phenomenon of our time not a remnant from the past Peter Wagner Professor of Social and Political Theory European University Institute and Professor of Sociology University of Warwick For students concerned with the contemporary study of nationalism this will be an invaluable publication The three fold division into approaches themes and cases is a very solid and sensible one The editors have commissioned essays from leading scholars in the field and this handbook provides the best single volume overview of contemporary nationalism John Breuilly Professor of Nationalism and Ethnicity London School of Economics Nationalism has long excited debate in political social and cultural theory and remains a key field of enquiry among historians anthropologists sociologists as well as political scientists It is also one of the critical media issues of our time There are however surprisingly few volumes that bring together the best of this intellectual diversity into one collection

This Handbook gives readers a critical survey of the latest theories and debates and provides a glimpse of the issues that will shape their future. Its three sections guide the reader through the theoretical approaches to this field of study, its major themes from modernity to memory, migration and genocide, and the diversity of nationalisms found around the globe. The overall aim of this Handbook is to relate theories and debates within and across a range of disciplines, illuminate themes and issues of central importance in both historical and contemporary contexts, and show how nationalism has impacted upon and interacted with other political and social forms and forces. This book provides a much needed resource for scholars in international relations, political science, social theory and sociology.

Formations of Colonial Modernity in East Asia
Tani E. Barlow, 1997. The essays in Formations of Colonial Modernity in East Asia challenge the idea that notions of modernity and colonialism are mere imports from the West and show how colonial modernity has evolved from and into unique forms throughout Asia. Although the modernity of non-European colonies is as indisputable as the colonial core of European modernity, until recently East Asian scholarship has tried to view Asian colonialism through the paradigm of colonial India, for instance, failing to recognize anti-imperialist nationalist impulses within differing Asian countries and regions. Demonstrating an impatience with social science models of knowledge, the contributors show that binary categories focused on during the Cold War are no longer central to the project of history writing. By bringing together articles previously published in the journal, Positions, East Asia cultures critique editor Tani Barlow has demonstrated how scholars construct identity and history, providing cultural critics with new ways to think about these concepts in the context of Asia and beyond. Chapters address topics such as the making of imperial subjects in Okinawa, politics and the body social in colonial Hong Kong, and the discourse of decolonization and popular memory in South Korea. This is an invaluable collection for students and scholars of Asian studies, postcolonial studies and anthropology. Contributors: Charles K. Armstrong, Tani E. Barlow, Fred Y. L. Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450-1750
Dr Nebahat Avcioglu, 2013-12-23. Inspired by Deborah Howard's leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice, the essays here examine the connections and rapports between art and identity through the discussion of patronage, space, domestic and ecclesiastical, and dissemination of architectural knowledge, as well as models within Venice, its territories and beyond.

"Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450-1750" Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05. Cities are shaped as much by a repertoire of buildings, works and objects as by cultural institutions, ideas and interactions between forms and practices entangled in identity formations. This is particularly true when seen through a city as forceful and splendid as Venice. The essays in this volume investigate these connections between art and identity through discussions of patronage, space and the dissemination of architectural models and knowledge in Venice, its territories and beyond. They celebrate Professor Deborah Howard's leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice Based on an examination and re interpretation of a wide range of archival material and primary sources the contributing authors approach the notion of identity in its many guises as self representation as strong sub currents of spatial strategies as visual and semantic discourses and as political and imperial aspirations Employing interdisciplinary modes of interpretation these studies offer ground breaking analyses of canonical sites and works of art diverse groups of patrons as well as the life and oeuvre of leading architects such as Jacopo Sansovino and Andrea Palladio In so doing they link together citizens and nobles past and present the real and the symbolic space and sound religion and power the city and its parts Venice and the Stato da Mar the Serenissima and the Sublime Port Modern Education, Textbooks, and the Image of the Nation Yoonmi Lee, 2012-08-21 By reinterpreting the way that Korean reformers confronted the process of modernization Westernization between 1880 and 1910 this study challenges the failure thesis which maintains that subsequent Japanese colonization is an indication that the early modernization process in Korea was unsuccessful Current Issues in Clinical Psychology Eric Karas, 2012-12-06 This is the third volume in the series of books based on the Annual Merseyside Course in Clinical Psychology In common with its predecessors its aim is to present a number of topics of interest to practitioners researchers trainers and trainees in the field with the intent not only to inform but variously also to question and to guide further enquiry Selection for this volume has taken a somewhat different stance to the previous two Whereas in former volumes an attempt has been made to cover standard areas of general and scientific interest to psychologists and others in related professions such as anorexia nervosa forensic issues long term care mental handicap community psychology anxiety and depression in this one issues which are of equal relevance but not necessarily of equal prominence in psychological texts are included We have not however neglected those areas more readily recognized as of major clinical import which are being progressively covered in this series This year we have the section Bereavement and the Care of the Dying Although for many this may not be a main focus it is a subject that few helpers do not encounter either directly or indirectly with their clients It would be impossible for this subject to not reflect the most human side of the caring professions and it is perhaps in this field that the objective subjective dilemma of the clinician can be seen in its most acute form Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science, Theory and Method , 2015-04-06 The essential reference for human development theory updated and reconceptualized The Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science a four volume reference is the field defining work to which all others are compared First published in 1946 and now in its Seventh Edition the Handbook has long been considered the definitive guide to the field of developmental science Volume 1 Theory and Method presents a rich mix of classic and contemporary theoretical perspectives but the dominant views throughout are marked by an emphasis on the dynamic interplay of all facets of the developmental system across the life span incorporating the range of biological cognitive emotional social cultural and ecological levels of analysis Examples of the theoretical approaches discussed in the volume include those pertinent to human evolution self regulation the development of dynamic skills and positive youth development The research methodological and applied implications of the theoretical models discussed in the volume are presented Understand the contributions of biology person and context to development within the embodied ecological system Discover the relations among individual the social world culture and history that constitute human development Examine the methods of dynamic developmental research Learn person oriented methodological approaches to assessing developmental change The scholarship within this volume and as well across the four volumes of this edition illustrate that developmental science is in the midst of a very exciting period There is a paradigm shift that involves increasingly greater understanding of how to describe explain and optimize the course of human life for diverse individuals living within diverse contexts This Handbook is the definitive reference for educators policy makers researchers students and practitioners in human development psychology sociology anthropology and neuroscience ECKM 2018 19th European Conference on Knowledge Management Ettore Bolisani, Eleonora Di Maria, Enrico Scarso, 2018-09-06

Tradition through Modernity Pertti J. Anttonen, 2005-02-06 In their study of social practices deemed traditional scholars tend to use the concept and idea of tradition as an element of meaning in the practices under investigation But just whose meaning is it Is it a meaning generated by those who study tradition or those whose traditions are being studied In both cases particular criteria for traditionality are employed whether these are explicated or not Individuals and groups will no doubt continue to uphold their traditional practices or refer to their practices as traditional While they are in no way obliged to explicate in analytical terms their criteria for traditionality the same cannot be said for those who make the study of traditions their profession In scholarly analysis traditions need to be explained instead of used as explanations for apparent repetitions and replications or symbolic linking in social practice values history and heritage politics This book takes a closer look at tradition and folklore in order to conceptualize them within discourses on modernity and modernism The first section discusses modern and traditional as modern concepts and the study of folklore as a modern trajectory The underlying tenet here is that non modernity cannot be represented without modern mediation which therefore makes the representations of non modernity epistemologically modern The second section focuses on the nation state of Finland and the nationalistic use of folk traditions in the discursive production of Finnish modernity and its Others The insights are applicable worldwide in discussions on cultural representation theories of the 1930s anthropologists have generally avoided directly addressing the issue of race viewing it as a social construct Challenging this tradition Peter Wade proposes that anthropologists can in fact play an important role in the study of race Wade is critical of contemporary theoretical studies of race formulated within the contexts of colonial history sociology and cultural studies Instead he argues for a new direction one which anthropology is well placed to explore Taking the study of race beyond Western notions of the individual Wade argues for new paradigms in social science in particular in the development of connections between race sex and gender An understanding of these issues within an anthropological context he contends is vital for defining personhood and identity Race is often defined by its reference to biology blood genes nature or essence Yet these concepts are often left unexamined Integrating material from the history of science science studies and anthropological studies of kinship and new reproductive technologies as well as from studies of race Peter Wade explores the meaning of such terms and interrogates the relationship between nature and culture in ideas about race
