The Oxford Handbook of Roman Britain Martin Millett, Louise Revell, Alison Jane Moore, 2016 This handbook is currently in development with individual articles publishing online in advance of print publication At this time we cannot add information about unpublished articles in this handbook however the table of contents will continue to grow as additional articles pass through the review process and are added to the site Please note that the online publication date for this handbook is the date that the first article in the title was published online Roman Britain is a critical area of research within the provinces of the Roman empire Within the last 15 20 years the study of Roman Britain has been transformed through an enormous amount of new and interesting work which is not reflected in the main stream literature Fatal Rivalry: Flodden, 1513: Henry VIII and James IV and the Decisive Battle for Renaissance Britain George Goodwin, 2013-08-26 Describes the family drama political and royal court intrigue and bloody military battles that erupted between Henry VIII of England and his brother in law James IV of Scotland during the splendor of the Renaissance as Scotland tried to assert its independence

A History of the British Isles Jeremy Black, 2017-03-04 A core introductory textbook that provides students with a concise overview of the full sweep of English Irish Scottish and Welsh history from pre Roman times right through to the present day

Jeremy Black offers a balanced and absorbing account of a group of islands their peoples their extraordinary shared past and their remarkable impact on the rest of the world This is an ideal set text for dedicated modules on British history or a supplementary text for broader modules on European history which may be offered at all levels of an undergraduate history or European studies degree In addition it is a crucial resource for students who may be studying the history of Britain for the first time as part of a taught postgraduate degree in British or European history New to this Edition Revised and updated throughout in light of the latest research Provides coverage of recent events Pays greater attention to social developments

The Fall of the Kingdom of Northumbria Dr. Clifton Wilcox,2014-12-05 The Battle of Dunnichen is significant since it marked the turning point in the history of the Picts and marked their independence from the Kingdom of Northumbria Not only is this possibly the best documented event in the history of the Picts but it also allowed them to overthrow the Northumbrian rule and the dark shadow it cast over all northern peoples Without the leadership of King Bridei and his courageous followers Scotland as we know it may not have existed The battle also helped to define the Scottish English border that remains today a border that could have been pushed further north by the Northumbrians if they had not been stopped

The Scottish Invention of America, Democracy and Human Rights Alexander Leslie Klieforth,Robert John Munro,2004-03-02 The Scottish Invention of America Democracy and Human Rights is a history of liberty from 1300 BC to 2004 AD The book traces the history of the philosophy and fight for freedom from the ancient Celts to the creation of America asserting the roots of liberty originated in the radical political thought of the ancient Celts the Scots struggle for freedom John Duns Scotus and the Arbroath Declaration 1320 a tradition that influenced Locke and the English Whig theorists as well as our Founding Fathers particularly Jefferson Madison Wilson and Witherspoon Author Alexander Klieforth argues the Arbroath Declaration 1320 and its philosophy was the intellectual foundation of the American Revolution and Declaration of Independence 1776 Thus the work is a revolutionary alternative to the traditional Anglocentric view that freedom democracy and human rights descended only from John Locke and England of the 1600s The work is the first historical analysis to locate and document the origin of the doctrine of the consent of the governed in the medieval scholar John Duns Scotus c 1290s four centuries before Locke and the English Whigs and in the evolutionary progress of mankind The work contends that the Arbroath Declaration 1320 and its philosophy was the intellectual foundation of the American Revolution and Declaration of Independence 1776 After showing the Scottish influence on the U S Constitution Bill of Rights and the new Federal government the Braudelian style work traces the development of Scottish style freedom and human rights through the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen influenced by Jefferson Lincoln s Gettysburg Address that transformed Jefferson s Declaration and Eleanor Roosevelt s role in creating the U N Universal Declaration of Human Rights the foundation of the modern human rights struggle More information about this book is available at the authors website www.braveheartsoul.com

Excavations at Cill Donnain Mike Parker Pearson,Marek Zvelebil,2014-06-30 The SEARCH

Sheffield Environmental and Archaeological Research Campaign in the Hebrides project began in 1987 and covers the Scotland's Outer Hebrides. The aim of the project is to investigate how human societies adapted in the long term to the isolated environment of the Outer Hebrides. The first major excavation on South Uist discovered that what was thought to be a shell midden at Cill Donnain was in fact a wheelhouse, a type of dwelling used in the period c. 300 BC–AD 500, under which lay the remains of a Bronze Age settlement. This settlement was partly investigated by Marik Zvelebil in 1991 and then later by Mike Parker Pearson and Kate MacDonald in 2003. The site itself is situated at the foot of a high steep-sided dune on the eastern edge of a large sand valley close to the western shore of Loch Cill Donnain. The archaeological report of the excavation at the Cill Donnain wheelhouse shows that in comparison with contemporary neighbouring settlements it was unlikely that each was an independent unit and that they were linked by social and economic interdependency. The wheelhouse thus provides striking new evidence that contributes to developing theories about the social material and economic life in the period. This volume presents the extensive archaeological evidence found at the site including pottery, faunal remains and a variety of bone and metal tools illustrating that the Cill Donnain landscape is rich in archaeological sites of all periods from the Beaker to the post-Medieval.

The Antonine Wall: Papers in Honour of Professor Lawrence Keppie David J. Breeze, William S. Hanson, 2020-04-03. 32 papers present research on the Antonine Wall in honour of Lawrence Keppie. Papers cover a wide variety of aspects: the environmental and prehistoric background, structure, planning and construction, military deployment, associated artefacts and inscriptions, logistics of supply to the people of the Wall including womenfolk and children.

A Tale of the Unknown Unknowns Hilary K. Murray, J. C. Murray, Caroline Fraser, 2009-10-08. The site of Warren Field in Scotland revealed two unusual and enigmatic features: an alignment of pits and a large rectangular feature interpreted as a timber building. Excavations confirmed that the timber structure was an early Neolithic building and that the pits had been in use from the Mesolithic. This report details the excavations and reveals that the hall was associated with the storage and/or consumption of cereals including bread wheat and pollen evidence suggests that the hall may have been part of a larger area of activity involving cereal cultivation and processing. The pits are fully documented and environmental evidence sheds light on the surrounding landscape.

Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World Andrew Tibbs, Peter B. Campbell, 2023-11-30. Taking a broad geographical, temporal and cross-disciplinary approach, this volume explores new and innovative research which focuses on rivers and waterways from across the Roman world. Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World brings together cross-disciplinary chapters focussing on theoretical approaches, new digital and scientific methods and analytical techniques and related surveying and excavation case studies to examine the Romans' extensive use of rivers and inland waterways around the Empire. Roman seafaring is well studied but this book expands our knowledge of Roman transport, communication and trade networks inland. The book highlights the challenges of archaeological work in the dynamic environments of rivers and waterways and showcases the use of new methodologies.

including the increasing availability and accessibility of digital technologies that have led to a growth in the development and application of new archaeological and analytical techniques as well as the discovery of new archaeological sites many of which were previously inaccessible This book is for archaeologists historians classicists and geographers with an interest in the history and archaeology of the Roman Empire Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Archaeological Practice in Great Britain John Schofield, John Carmen, Paul Belford, 2011-08-19 This manual provides a unique user guide to practicing archaeology and working in the cultural heritage sector within the diverse settings of Great Britain comprising of England Scotland Wales the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands As part of their training archaeologists often seek work in parts of Britain either for experience before travelling elsewhere or directly as part of their career progression While this does involve reading published material on excavation techniques archaeological theory and specific heritage management practices or research using the Internet the ideal preparation to working in Britain for the first time requires practitioners to know a little about a lot Currently there is no single resource which provides that primary resource for budding archaeologists Archaeological Practice in Great Britain will provide just such a resource presented in an accessible style with a comprehensive and up to date bibliography and lists of useful websites Professionals with particular areas of expertise will contribute short sections on particular subjects incorporated into the main text prepared by the authors Throughout the specific contexts and differences between the various component nations and regions of Great Britain will be made clear

White Castle: The Evaluation of an Upstanding Prehistoric Enclosure in East Lothian David Connolly, Murray Cook, Hana Kdolska, 2021-03-11 This book describes the results of a four year research programme of archaeological works 2010-3 at the later prehistoric enclosure of White Castle East Lothian The excavations demonstrated a clear sequence of enclosure development over time whereby the design and visual impact often appeared to be more important than defence alone

The Archaeology of Britain John Hunter, Ian Ralston, 2009-12-16 The Archaeology of Britain is the only concise and up to date introduction to the archaeological record of Britain from the reoccupation of the landmass by Homo sapiens during the later stages of the most recent Ice Age until last century This fully revised second edition extends its coverage including greater detail on the first millennium AD beyond the Anglo Saxon domain and into recent times to look at the archaeological record produced by Britain's central role in two World Wars and the Cold War The chapters are written by experts in their respective fields Each is geared to provide an authoritative but accessible introduction supported by numerous illustrations of key sites and finds and a selective reference list to aid study in greater depth It provides a one stop textbook for the entire archaeology of Britain and reflects the most recent developments in archaeology both as a field subject and as an academic discipline No other book provides such comprehensive coverage with such a wide chronological range of the archaeology of Britain This collection is essential reading for undergraduates in archaeology and all those interested in British archaeology history and geography

An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate, 1945 to the Present Marianna Dudley, 2012-05-03

This book brings to attention the history of places that have traditionally remained under the radar in discussions of war and the environment through site based studies of five training areas in southwest England and Wales Salisbury Plain Lulworth Dartmoor Sennybridge and Castlemartin At these sites the big events of the twentieth century are written into landscapes that absorb their impact and reflect change in intriguing ways Here however environment is more than a canvas on which historical forces play out it has an agency of its own as the depiction of the surprising nature and robust habitats of the training areas recognises

An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate 1945 to the Present critically examines the gradual greening of the MoD as it developed policies of military environmentalism It includes the histories of the ghost villages created by forced evictions and charts the rise and fall of anti military protest movements It depicts heated confrontations mass trespasses and demands for public access alongside conservation work and training activities situating the human histories of these sites within their environmental history and taking the reader behind the barbed wire in the first study of its kind

The Development of Neolithic House Societies in Orkney Colin Richards, Richard Jones, 2016-04-30

Considering that Orkney is a group of relatively small islands lying off the northeast coast of the Scottish mainland its wealth of Neolithic archaeology is truly extraordinary An assortment of houses chambered cairns stone circles standing stones and passage graves provides an unusually comprehensive range of archaeological and architectural contexts Yet in the early 1990s there was a noticeable imbalance between 4th and 3rd millennium cal BC evidence with house structures and villages being well represented in the latter but minimally in the former As elsewhere in the British Isles the archaeological visibility of the 4th millennium cal BC in Orkney tends to be dominated by the monumental presence of chambered cairns or tombs In the 1970s Claude Lévi Strauss conceived of a form of social organization based upon the house societies (maisons) in order to provide a classification for social groups that appeared not to conform to established anthropological kinship structures In this approach the anchor point is the house understood as a conceptual resource that is a consequence of a strategy of constructing and legitimizing identities under ever shifting social conditions Drawing on the results of an extensive program of fieldwork in the Bay of Firth Mainland Orkney the text explores the idea that the physical appearance of the house is a potent resource for materializing the dichotomous alliance and descent principles apparent in the archaeological evidence for the early and later Neolithic of Orkney It argues that some of the insights made by Lévi Strauss in his basic formulation of societies (maisons) are extremely relevant to interpreting the archaeological evidence and providing the parameters for a social narrative of the material changes occurring in Orkney between the 4th and 2nd millennia cal BC The major excavations undertaken during the Cuween Wideford Landscape Project provided an unprecedented depth and variety of evidence for

Neolithic occupation bridging the gap between domestic and ceremonial architecture and form exploring the transition from wood to stone and relationships between the living and the dead and the role of material culture The results are described and discussed in detail here enabling tracing of the development and fragmentation of societies over a 1500 year period of Northern Isles prehistory Land of the Ilich Steven Mithen, 2021-11-04 As an archaeologist Steven Mithen has worked on the Hebridean island of Islay over a period of many years In this book he introduces the sites and monuments and tells the story of the island's people from the earliest stone age hunter gatherers to those who lived in townships and in the grandeur of Islay House He visits the tombs of Neolithic farmers forts of Iron Age chiefs and castles of medieval warlords discovers where Bronze Age gold was found treacherous plots were made against the Scottish crown and explores the island of today which was forged more recently by those who mined for lead grew flax fished for herring and distilled whisky the industry for which the island is best known today Although an island history this is far from an insular story Islay has always been at a cultural crossroads receiving a constant influx of new people and new ideas making it a microcosm for the story of Scotland Britain and beyond American Book Publishing Record ,2004 A Companion to Roman Britain Malcolm Todd, 2008-04-15 This major survey of the history and culture of Roman Britain spans the period from the first century BC to the fifth century AD Major survey of the history and culture of Roman Britain Brings together specialists to provide an overview of recent debates about this period Exceptionally broad coverage embracing political economic cultural and religious life Focuses on changes in Roman Britain from the first century BC to the fifth century AD Includes pioneering studies of the human population and animal resources of the island
