screenwriter During more than two decades 1932-1954 William Faulkner worked on approximately fifty screenplays for major Hollywood studios and was credited on such classics as The Big Sleep and To Have and Have Not Faulkner's film scripts and later television scripts constitute an extensive and until now thoroughly underexplored archival source Stefan Solomon analyzes the majority of these scripts and also compares them to the fiction Faulkner was writing concurrently His aim to reconcile two aspects of a career that were not as distinct as they first might seem Faulkner the screenwriter and Faulkner the modernist Nobel Prize winning author As Solomon shows Faulkner adjusting to the idiosyncrasies of the screen writing process a craft he never favored or admired he offers insights into Faulkner's compositional practice thematic preoccupations and understanding of both cinema and television In the midst of this complex exchange of media and genres much of Faulkner's fiction of the 1930s and 1940s was directly influenced by his protracted engagement with the film industry Solomon helps us to see a corpus integrating two vastly different modes of writing and a restless author Faulkner was never only the southern novelist or the West Coast hack writer but always both at once Solomon's study shows that Faulkner's screenplays are crucial in any consideration of his far more esteemed fiction and that the two forms of writing are more porous and intertwined than the author himself would have us believe Here is a major American writer seen in a remarkably new way
