Department of the Interior. Library, 1967 New Frontiers in Environmental Research Mark P. Glazer, 2006 The environment is considered the surroundings in which an organism operates including air water land natural resources flora fauna humans and their interrelation It is this environment which is both so valuable on the one hand and so endangered on the other And it is people which are by and large ruining the environment both for themselves and for all other organisms This book reviews the latest research in this field which is vital for everyone University of California Union Catalog of Monographs Cataloged by the Nine Campuses from 1963 Through 1967: Subjects University of California (System). Institute of Library Research, University of California, Berkeley, 1972 Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) Barbara T. Lieland, 2006 The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge ANWR consists of

19 million acres in north east Alaska It is administered by the Fish and Wildlife Service FWS in the Department of the Interior DOI It is a 1 5 million acre coastal plain on the North Slope of the Brooks Range that is currently viewed as one of the most likely undeveloped US onshore oil and gas prospects According to the US Geological Survey there is even a small chance that taken together the fields on this federal land could hold as much economically recoverable oil as the giant field at Prudhoe Bay found in 1967 on the coastal plain west of ANWR That state owned portion of the coastal plain is now estimated to have held 11 13 billion barrels of oil The Refuge and especially the coastal plain is home to a wide variety of plants and animals The presence of caribou polar bears grizzly bears wolves migratory birds and many other species in a nearly undisturbed state has led some to call the area America s Serengeti The Refuge and two neighbouring parks in Canada have been proposed for an international park and several species found in the area including polar bears caribou migratory birds and whales are protected by international treaties or agreements The analysis in this book covers first the economic and geological factors that have triggered new interest in development followed by the philosophical biological and environmental quality factors that have triggered opposition to it The book begins with a review of the nature and issues of the ANWR
