The Dutch-Munsee Encounter in America Paul Otto, 2006-05-01 Employing a frontier framework this book traces intercultural relations in the lower Hudson River valley of early seventeenth century New Netherland It explores the interaction between the Dutch and the Munsee Indians and considers how they and individuals within each group interacted focusing in particular on how the changing colonial landscape affected their cultural encounter and Munsee cultural development At each stage of European colonization first contact trade and settlement the Munsees faced evolving and changing challenges Understanding culture in terms of worldview and societal structures this volume identifies ways in which Munsee society changed in an effort to adjust to the new intercultural relations and looks at the ways the Munsees maintained aspects of their own culture and resisted any imposition of Dutch societal structures and sovereignty over them In addition the book includes a suggestive afterword in which the author applies his frontier framework to Dutch indigenous relations in the Cape colony

The Othering of Women in Silent Film Barbara Tapa Lupack, 2023-11-06 In The Othering of Women in Silent Film Cultural Historical and Literary Contexts Barbara Tapa Lupack explores the rampant racial and gender stereotyping depicted in early cinema demonstrating how those stereotypes helped shape American attitudes and practices Using social cultural literary and cinema history as a focus this book offers insights into issues of Othering including discrimination exclusion and sexism that are as timely today as they were a century ago Lupack not only examines the ways that dominant cinema of the era imprinted indelible and pejorative images of women including African Americans Native Americans Asians Hispanics and New Women Suffragists but also reveals the ways in which a number of pioneering early filmmakers and performers attempted to counter those depictions by challenging the imagery interrogating the stereotypes and re politicizing the familiar narratives Scholars of film gender history and race studies will find this book of particular interest

Light, Bright, and Damned Near White Stephanie R. Bird, 2009-03-20 The election of America's first biracial president brings the question dramatically to the fore What does it mean to be biracial or tri racial in the United States today Anthropologist Stephanie Bird takes us into a world where people are struggling to be heard recognized and celebrated for the racial diversity one would think is the epitome of America's melting pot persona But being biracial or tri racial brings unique challenges challenges including prejudice racism and from within racial groups colorism Yet America is now experiencing a multiracial baby boom with at least three states logging more multiracial baby births than any other race aside from Caucasians As the Columbia Journalism Review reported American demographics are no longer black and white In truth they are a blended difficult to define shade of brown Bird shows us the history of biracial and tri racial people in the United States and in European families and events She presents the personal traumas and victories of those who struggle for recognition and acceptance in light of their racial backgrounds including celebrities such as golf expert Tiger Woods who eventually quit trying to describe himself as Cablanasin a mix including Asian and African American Bird examines current events including the National Mixed Race Student Conference and the push to dub this Generation MIX And she examines how American demographics government and society are changing overall as a result This work includes a guide to tracing your own racial roots Federal Register ,1997-07-09

The Anthropology of Climate Change Hans Baer,Merrill Singer,2014-04-24 In addressing the urgent questions raised by climate change this book provides a comprehensive overview of the anthropology of climate change guided by a critical political ecological framework It argues that anthropologists must significantly expand their focus on climate change and their contributions to responding to climate change as a grave risk to humanity The book presents a human socioecological framework for conceptualizing climate change It examines the emergence and slow maturation of the anthropology of climate change reviews the historic foundations for this work in the archaeology of climate change and presents three alternative contemporary theoretical perspectives in the anthropology of climate change The book synthesizes anthropological work and perspectives on climate change in the form of case studies in various regions of the world revealing the nature of global climate change as constituting multiple and somewhat diverse changes in local settings It explores the applied anthropology of climate change in terms of the ways anthropologists are contributing to climate policy working with communities on climate change issues as well as within the climate movement both internationally and nationally Finally it provides an overview of what other the social sciences are saying about climate change and explores ways that the anthropology of climate change can interface with sociology political science and human geography in order to create an integrated social science of climate change This book gives researchers and students in Environmental Anthropology Climate Change Human Geography and Sociology a novel framework for understanding climate change that emphasizes human socioecological interactions
