Other Times Philosophical Perspectives On Past Present And Future:

Other Times David Cockburn,1997-10-23 An interesting and thought provoking study of issues in the philosophy of time

Time and the Shape of History P. J. Corfield,2007-01-01 In this lively comedy of love and money in sixteenth century Venice Bassanio wants to impress the wealthy heiress Portia but lacks the necessary funds He turns to his merchant friend Antonio who is forced to borrow from Shylock a Jewish moneylender When Antonio s business falters repayment becomes impossible and by the terms of the loan agreement Shylock is able to demand a pound of Antonio s flesh Portia cleverly intervenes and all ends well except of course for Shylock

Persistence through Time in Spinoza Jason Waller,2012-08-31 This book concerns the nature of time and ordinary cases of persistence in Spinoza The author argues for three major interpretive claims First that Spinoza is committed to an eternalist theory of time whereby all things whether they seem to be past present or future are equally real Second that a mode s conatus or essence is a self maintaining activity not an inertial force or disposition Third that modes persist through time in Spinoza s metaphysics by having temporal parts that is different parts at different times If the author is correct then a significant reinterpretation of Spinoza s modal metaphysics is required The book also puts Spinoza into dialogue with some recent work in analytic metaphysics

Memory, Historic Injustice, and Responsibility W. James Booth,2019-11-05 What is it to do justice to the absent victims of past injustice given the distance that separates us from them Grounded in political theory and guided by the literature on historical justice W James Booth restores the dead to their central place at the heart of our understanding of why and how to deal with past injustice Testimonies and accounts from the race war in the United States the Holocaust post apartheid South Africa Argentina s Dirty War and the conflict in Northern Ireland help advance and defend Booth s claim that caring for the dead is a central part of addressing past injustice Memory Historic Injustice and Responsibility is an insightful and original book on the relationship of past and present in thinking about what it means to do justice A valuable addition to the currently available literature on historical justice the volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of political science philosophy history and law

The Images of Time Robin Le Poidevin,2007-09-27 The Images of Time presents a philosophical investigation of the nature of time and the mind s ways of representing it Robin Le Poidevin examines how we perceive time and change the means by which memory links us with the past the attempt to represent change and movement in art and the nature of fictional time These apparently disparate questions all concern the ways in which we represent aspects of time in thought experience art and fiction They also raise fundamental problems for our philosophical understanding both of mental representation and of the nature of time itself Le Poidevin brings together issues in philosophy psychology aesthetics and literary theory in examining the mechanisms underlying our representation of time in various media and brings these to bear on metaphysical debates over the real nature of time These debates concern which aspects of time are genuinely part of time s intrinsic nature and which in some sense are mind dependent Arguably the most important debate concerns time's passage: does time pass in reality or is the division of events into past, present and future simply a reflection of our temporal perspective, a result of the interaction between a static world and minds capable of representing it? Le Poidevin argues that contrary to what perception and memory lead us to suppose, time does not really pass and this surprising conclusion can be reconciled with the characteristic features of temporal experience. Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy, 2024-07-17

The new field of experimental philosophy has emerged as the methods of psychological science have been brought to bear on traditional philosophical issues. Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy is the place to go to see outstanding new work in the field. It features papers by philosophers, papers by psychologists, and papers co-authored by people in both disciplines. The series heralds the emergence of a truly interdisciplinary field in which people from different disciplines are working together to address a shared set of questions. This new volume of Oxford Studies in Experimental Philosophy showcases the continuing development of the field. The submitted papers go ever more deeply into some of the issues that have long been central topics of experimental philosophy research: epistemic intuitions, metaethical intuitions, intuitions about causation, but also venture into new topics that illustrate the broadening scope of experimental philosophy research: slurs, experimental economics, Socratic questionnaires. The volume concludes with three specially commissioned essays reviewing recent work on three central topics: causal judgment, knowledge ascription, and the experimental philosophy of consciousness.

The Growing-Block View Graeme Forbes, 2025-05-15

What makes time interesting and what is time? Graeme A. Forbes presents a robust defence of the metaphysical asymmetry between past and future, providing a compelling argument for the acceptance of the Growing Block view. Taking us from the armchair to philosophy of physics and then out to the human world, Forbes considers the ontological questions that have been the focus of most of the literature on the metaphysics of time. Across three parts, he addresses questions central to the philosophy of time. Part I asks why we should think that time does something that space does not. Part II examines why we should think that the past differs in some metaphysically interesting way from the future, and Part III shows why we should accept the Growing Block view: the view on which the past exists, the future doesn't, and the passage of time is causation bringing about events in accordance with the laws of nature. This wide-ranging and engaging exploration of persistence, experience, agency, and more makes a radical contribution to our understanding of the philosophy of time.

Time: Sense, Space, Structure, 2016-05-09

The essays in this volume explore the nature of time. Our God-given medium of ascent, known as Augustine, puts it through the ordered study of the liberal disciplines that carry the mind to the divine: disciplinae liberales intellectum efferunt ad divina. Grammar and dialectic, for example, to promote thinking; geometry and astronomy to grasp the dimensions of our reality; music, an invisible substance like time itself, as an exemplary bridge to the unseen substance of thoughts, ideas, and the nature of God. Theology. This ascending course of study rests on procedure, progress, and attainment, on before, following, and afterwards, whose goal is an ascending erudition that lets us finally contemplate, as Augustine says in De ordine, our invisible medium.

time within time itself time is immaterial but experienced as substantial The essays here look at projects that chronicle time from the beginning that clarify ideas of creation in time and simultaneous times and the interrelationships between measured time and eternity including no time Essays also examine time as revealed in social and political contexts as told by clocks as notated in music and embodied in memorializing stone In the final essays of this volume time is understood as the subject and medium of consciousness As Adrian Bardon says time is not so much a what as a how a solution to organizing experience and modeling events Contributors are in order within the volume Jesse W Torgerson Ken A Grant Danielle B Joyner Nancy van Deusen Peter Casarella Aaron Canty Jordan Kirk Vera von der Osten Sacken Gerhard Jaritz Jason Aleksander Sara E Melzer Mark Howard Andrew Eschelbacher Hans J Rindisbacher James F Knapp Peggy A Knapp Raymond Knapp Michael Cole Ike Kamphof and Leonard Michael Koff

The Blackwell Companion to Philosophy Nicholas Bunnin, Eric

Tsui-James, 2003 An introduction to philosophy looks at key issues figures and movements in the field The Normative

Status of Time Bias Kristie Miller, 2024-12-10 This book empirically investigates the nature of time biases Many philosophers think that it is rationally permissible to prefer a life that is overall worse to one that is overall better as long as the badness of that life lies in the past rather than the future These philosophers think that it is rationally permissible to be time biased Time biased individuals differently value the wellbeing of their various selves in virtue of where those selves are located in time This book focuses on three key kinds of time bias near present and future bias It presents a rich picture of the conditions under which we display these biases and it outlines several psychological explanations for them It then uses this new empirical research we conducted to inform arguments regarding the normative status of these biases At its heart it considers the question does having time biased preferences of one sort or another make us better off or worse off And it uses the answers to these questions to inform our theorising about whether we have reason either to have or to avoid having such preferences

Questions of Time and Tense Robin Le Poidevin, 1998 This book brings together new essays on a major focus of debate in contemporary metaphysics does time really pass or is our ordinary experience of time as consisting of past present and future an illusion The international contributors broaden this debate by demonstrating the importance of questions about the nature of time for philosophical issues in ethics aesthetics psychology science religion and language

Temporal Asymmetries in Philosophy and Psychology Christoph Hoerl, Teresa McCormack, Alison Fernandes, 2022 Our attitudes towards an event may vary depending on whether the event has happened or has yet to take place Philosophers and psychologists explore such psychological past future asymmetries to reveal what kinds of asymmetries we exhibit and under what conditions and how they may reflect particular beliefs about time or features of time itself

Time and Memory Christoph Hoerl, Teresa McCormack, 2001 The capacity to represent and think about time and the capacity to recollect the past are two of the most fundamental and least understood aspects of human cognition and consciousness This book throws new light on central issues in the study of the mind by uniting for the first time psychological and philosophical approaches dealing with the connection between temporal representation and memory Fifteen specially written essays by leading psychologists and philosophers investigate the way in which time is represented in memory and the role memory plays in our ability to reason about time They offer insights into current theories of memory processes and of the mechanisms and cognitive abilities underlying temporal judgements and draw out fundamental issues concerning the phenomenology and epistemology of memory and our understanding of time The chapters are arranged into four sections each focused on one area of current research I Keeping Track of Time and Temporal Representation II Memory Awareness and the Past III Memory and Experience IV Knowledge and the Past The Epistemology and Metaphysics of Time A general introduction gives an overview of the topics discussed and makes explicit central themes which unify the different philosophical and psychological approaches
