Otherworld In Irish Literature And History An Anthology Of Criticism:

The Otherworld Voyage in Early Irish Literature Jonathan M. Wooding, 2000 With The Otherworld in Irish Literature and History Jonathan Wooding presents a major collection of essays by some of the best known academics in Ireland Britain and America today

The Brendan Legend Glyn S. Burgess, Clara Strijbosch, 2006-08-01 The Brendan Legend Texts and Versions deals with the vast textual tradition relating to the Irish Saint Brendan known as The Navigator Stories about Brendan have been popular in the whole of Western Europe from the seventh to the twentieth century The themes of the book are the interrelated problems of the textual and literary embedding of Brendan texts For the first time researchers in Celtic German Latin and Romance languages and literatures have co operated on the Brendan tradition and they have mapped the changes in textual traditions according to different circumstances and audiences This book will be important to those studying the influence of Celtic literature on the European Continent and more generally to those interested in the versatility of textual traditions in Western Europe

The Otherworld Voyage in Early Irish Literature Jonathan M. Wooding, 2000 With The Otherworld in Irish Literature and History Jonathan Wooding presents a major collection of essays by some of the best known academics in Ireland Britain and America today Airy Nothings: Imagining the Otherworld of Faerie from the Middle Ages to the Age of Reason, 2013-11-07 Ever since the Middle Ages the Otherworld of Faerie has been the object of serious intellectual scrutiny What science in the end dismissed as airy nothings was given a local habitation and a name by art This book presents some of the main chapters from the history and tradition of otherworldly spirits and fairies in the folklore and literature of the British Isles and Northern Europe In eleven contributions different experts deal with some of the main problems posed by the scholarly and artistic confrontation with the Otherworld which not only fuelled the imagination but also led to the ultimate redundancy of learned perceptions of that Otherworld as it was finally obfuscated by the clarity of an enlightened age Contributors include Henk Dragstra John Flood Julian Goodare Tette Hofstra Robert Maslen Richard North Karin E Olsen David J Parkinson Rudolf Suntrup Jan R Veenstra and Helen Wilcox

The Modern Afterlives of Old Irish Travel Narratives Natalia I. Petrovskaja, 2025-07-24 This book explores the reception of the medieval Irish tradition of fantastic journey tales in Jonathan Swift's Gulliver's Travels C S Lewis's The Voyage of the Dawn Treader Umberto Eco's Baudolino and the science fiction television franchises Star Trek and Stargate In doing so the book opens the door to a new history of literary reception using Old Irish genre categories to analyse post medieval texts It aims to show that there is a family of texts produced in the post medieval period that are heirs of the medieval Irish literary tradition of fantastic voyage narratives and that using Old Irish genre categories to analyse post medieval works can open up new perspectives in our understanding of these works

Outlawry, Liminality, and Sanctity in the Literature of the Early Medieval North Atlantic Jeremy DeAngelo, 2025-10-01 In reality medieval outlaws were dangerous desperate individuals In the fiction of the Middle Ages however the possibilities afforded by their position on societies margins granted them the ability to fill a number of transitory transgressive roles young adventurer freedom fighter and even saint Outlawry Liminality and Sanctity in the Literature of the Early Medieval North Atlantic examines the development of the literary outlaw in the early Middle Ages when traditions drawn from Anglo Saxon England early Christian Ireland and Viking Age Iceland informed a generous view of itinerant criminality and facilitated the application of outlaw tropes to moral questions of conduct in both secular and religious life Taken together the traditions of the North Atlantic archipelago reveal a world of interconnected cultures with an expansive view of movement across boundaries both literal and conceptual capable of finding value in unlikely places and countenancing the challenges presented by such discoveries The Medieval Mystical Tradition

Marion Glasscoe,1999 Interdisciplinary studies on medieval mystics and their cultural background A Companion to Irish Literature Julia M. Wright,2011-07-08 Featuring new essays by international literary scholars the two volume Companion to Irish Literature encompasses the full breadth of Ireland s literary tradition from the Middle Ages to the present day Covers an unprecedented historical range of Irish literature Arranged in two volumes covering Irish literature from the medieval period to 1900 and its development through the twentieth century to the present day Presents a re visioning of twentieth century Irish literature and a collection of the most up to date scholarship in the field as a whole Includes a substantial number of women writers from the eighteenth century to the present day Includes essays on leading contemporary authors including Brian Friel Seamus Heaney Eavan Boland Roddy Doyle and Emma Donoghue Introduces readers to the wide range of current approaches to studying Irish literature Otherworlds Aisling Nora Byrne,2016 This book offers a new perspective on the otherworlds of medieval literature These fantastical realms are among the most memorable places in medieval writing by turns beautiful and monstrous alluring and terrifying Passing over a river or sea or entering into a hollow hill heroes come upon strange and magical realms These places are often very beautiful filled with sweet music and adorned with precious stones and rich materials There is often no darkness time may pass at a different pace and the people who dwell there are usually supernatural Sometimes such a place is exactly what it appears to be the land of heart s desire but the otherworld can also have a sinister side trapping humans and keeping them there against their will Otherworlds Fantasy and History in Medieval Literature takes a fresh look at how medieval writers understood these places and why they found them so compelling It focuses on texts from England but places this material in the broader context of literary production in medieval Britain and Ireland The narratives examined in this book tell a rather surprising story about medieval notions of these fantastical places Otherworlds are actually a lot less other than they might initially seem Authors often use the idea of the otherworld to comment on very serious topics It is not unusual for otherworld depictions to address political issues in the historical world Most intriguing of all are those texts where locations in the real world are re imagined as otherworlds The regions on which this book focuses Britain Ireland and the surrounding islands prove particularly susceptible to this characterization A landscape of words Amy C. Mulligan,2019-05-14 Living on an island at the edge of the known world the medieval Irish were in a unique position to examine the spaces of the North Atlantic region and contemplate how geography can shape a people This book is the first full length study of medieval Irish topographical writing It situates the theories and poetics of Irish place developed over six centuries in response to a variety of political cultural religious and economic changes in the bigger theoretical picture of studies of space landscape environmental writing and postcolonial identity construction Presenting focused studies of important literary texts by authors from Ireland and Britain it shows how these discourses influenced European conceptions of place and identity as well as understandings of how to write the world Celtic Spirituality ,1999 A History of Irish Autobiography Liam Harte,2018-03-01 A History of Irish Autobiography is the first ever critical survey of autobiographical self representation in Ireland from its recoverable beginnings to the twenty first century The book draws on a wealth of original scholarship by leading experts to provide an authoritative examination of autobiographical writing in the English and Irish languages Beginning with a comprehensive overview of autobiography theory and criticism in Ireland the History guides the reader through seventeen centuries of Irish achievement in autobiography a category that incorporates diverse literary forms from religious tracts and travelogues to letters diaries and online journals This ambitious book is rich in insight Chapters are structured around key subgenres themes texts and practitioners each featuring a guide to recommended further reading The volume s extensive coverage is complemented by a detailed chronology of Irish autobiography from the fifth century to the contemporary era the first of its kind to be published Studies in the Medieval Atlantic B. Hudson,2012-06-04 This collection of essays offers fresh analysis of topics in the exciting area of Atlantic World studies Challenging standard assumptions the essays advance the argument that the Atlantic Ocean was a region that encompassed ethnic and political boundaries in which a sub community shaped by culture and commerce arose Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Canon Kenneth Keating,2017-03-27 This book makes an important intervention into debates about influence and contemporary Irish poetry Supported throughout by incisive reflections upon allusion word choice and formal structure Keating brings to the discussion a range of new and lesser known voices which decisively complicate and illuminate its pronounced concerns with inheritance history and the Irish poetic canon Steven Matthews Professor of English Literature University of Reading UK and author of Irish Poetry Politics History Negotiation and Yeats As Precursor This book is about the way that contemporary Irish poetry is dominated and shaped by criticism It argues that critical practices tend to construct reductive singular and static understandings of poetic texts identities careers and maps of the development of modern Irish poetry This study challenges the attempt present within such criticism to arrest stabilize and diffuse the threat multiple alternative histories and understandings of texts would pose to the formation of any singular pyramidal canon Offered here are detailed close readings of the recent work of some of the most established and high profile Irish poets such as Paul Muldoon and Medbh McGuckian along with emerging poets to foreground an alternative critical methodology which undermines the traditional canonical pursuit of singular meaning and definition through embracing the troubling indeterminacy and multiplicity to be found within contemporary Irish poetry

An Introduction to Early Irish Literature Muireann Ní Bhrolcháin, 2009 A discussion of the rich written heritage of the Old and Middle Irish period 600 1200 Chapters deal with such topics as druids monks poets the beginnings of writing manuscripts saga cycles and stories about kings kingship and sovereignty goddesses

A History of Irish Women's Poetry Ailbhe Darcy, David Wheatley, 2021-07-01 A History of Irish Women's Poetry is a ground breaking and comprehensive account of Irish women's poetry from earliest times to the present day It reads Irish women's poetry through many prisms mythology gender history the nation and most importantly close readings of the poetry itself It covers major figures such as Míre Mhac an tSaoi Eavan Boland Eilín Ní Chuiléain as well as neglected figures from the past Writing in both English and Irish is considered and close attention paid to the many different contexts in which Irish women's poetry has been produced and received from the anonymous work of the early medieval period through the bardic age the coterie poets of Anglo Ireland the nationalist balladeers of Young Ireland the Irish Literary Revival and the advent of modernity As capacious as it is diverse this book is an essential contribution to scholarship in the field

The Destruction of Da Derga's Hostel Ralph O'Connor, 2013-02-28 Irish saga literature represents the largest collection of vernacular narrative in existence from the early Middle Ages using the tools of Christian literacy to retell myths and legends about the pagan past This unique corpus remains marginal to standard histories of Western literature its tales are widely read but their literary artistry remains a puzzle to many even within Celtic studies This book the first to offer a systematic literary analysis of any single native Irish tale aims to show how one particularly celebrated saga works as a story the Middle Irish tale Togail Bruidne Da Derga The Destruction of Da Derga's Hostel which James Carney called the finest saga of the early period This epic tale tells how the legendary king Conaire was raised by a shadowy Otherworld to the kingship of Tara and after a fatal error of judgement was hounded by spectres to an untimely death at Da Derga's Hostel at the hands of his own foster brothers By turns lyrical and laconic and rich in native mythological imagery the story is told with a dramatic intensity worthy of Greek tragedy and the intricate symmetry of its narrative procedure recalls the visual patterning of illuminated manuscripts such as The Book of Kells This book invites the reader to enjoy and understand this literary masterpiece explaining its narrative artistry within its native classical and biblical literary contexts Against a historical backdrop of shifting ideologies of Christian kingship it interprets the saga's possible significance for contemporary audiences as a questioning exploration of the challenges and paradoxes of kingship

Worlds that Could Not Be Frauke Uhlenbruch, Steven J. Schweitzer, 2016-01-28 The idea of Utopia was first made current and popular by Sir Thomas More with the publication of his book by the same name in 1516 The no place that was created has had a fantastic reception history which makes its application to the biblical books of Nehemiah Ezra and Chronicles as vibrant as the current scholarship which is ongoing into the Renaissance term and its implications The essays in this collection take different approaches to the question are there proto utopian elements in the three books from the Hebrew Bible Methodological considerations are to be found but each essay also moves beyond the methodological constraint to raise the hypothetical question of what if in different ways The essays evaluate the potential and pitfalls of reading Biblical books as proto utopian Topics include how utopia construct intricate counter realities and how to tell whether a proposal diagnosed as utopian from a modern point of view is meant to motivate its audience to political action Case studies which read aspects of Chronicles Ezra and Nehemiah as potential utopian traits include the restoration project of Ezra Nehemiah and the rejection of foreign wives utopian concerns in Chronicles as well as the empire s role in writing a putative utopia and King Solomon as a utopian fantasy king
