Defending Israel Martin van Creveld, 2025-06-25 Israel is a tiny country From tip to toe it stretches 260 miles long but is only 60 miles at its widest point Since the days of the British mandate the question of defensible borders for the Jewish state has always been problematic Yet considering the larger picture of what has happened in the Middle East over the last 25 years the peace treaties with Egypt and Jordan the weakening of Syria as a result of the collapse of the USSR the smashing of Iraq by the U S Israel is militarily speaking stronger than ever before The greatest remaining threats are terrorism and guerilla warfare and those this book argues are best dealt with territorial concessions Martin van Creveld s Defending Israel is a compact incisive study that is certain to draw attention

Crafting Peace in Kashmir Verghese Koithara, 2004-08-30 Presenting a completely new perspective on the Kashmir conflict this book argues that resolving the situation can be brought about through a peace strategy rather than a war strategy Through an analysis of the conflicts in Northern Ireland Sri Lanka and Palestine the author draws parallels between the India Pakistan conflict He also presents reasons why a durable peace based on the Line of Control becoming the settled border and the two parts of Jammu and Kashmir being given parallel and substantial autonomy can be achieved in today s conditions The book concludes that peace between India and Pakistan is possible based on political realism and that strategic solutions that safeguard the interests of both countries are available

Coalition Defection Avi Kober, 2002-11-30 Since the creation of Israel during both wartime and peacetime many Arab coalitions have formed Every one of these anti Israel coalitions has failed to achieve its goals due to the defection of one or more major parties Kober explores the forces behind the dissemination of these alliances to determine why Arab states chose defection whether or not a distinction can be made between defection patterns in times of war and patterns related to peace processes and possible explanations for different behavior patterns The multi polar structure of the Arab subsystem the decisions of pivotal members and the negative reputations earned by such coalitions have always made defection an easy alternative The choice to defect was Kober contends nurtured by a sense of military weakness and by the priority that coalition members attached to their particular interests over general Arab concerns Kober finds that defection in time of war has arisen mainly through evasion passive avoidance of coalition obligations with the hope of escaping or minimizing expected losses Defection from military coalitions often deprived the defector of maximizing gains all the while weakening the remaining coalition members However defection during the peace process served not only to optimize the defector s utilities but eventually proved beneficial for the parties left behind Kober determines that the peace process mainly due to superpower involvement transformed the scenario from a zero sum to a non zero sum game by rewarding the parties for signing treaties with Israel Also the first defectors such as Egypt established pay off precedents creating the foundation for future negotiations between the Arab players and Israel
