Policies And Perceptions Of Insurance An Introduction To Insurance Law:

Policies and Perceptions of Insurance Malcolm Alistair Clarke, 1997 Policies and Perceptions of Insurance offers an introduction to insurance contract law in the United Kingdom today Malcolm Clarke provides students with a clear outline of insurance law while alerting them to the social and theoretical issues arising out of the law and practice of insurance The framework for discussion is the tracing of the life of an insurance contract from purchase to claim which is used to summarize settled and satisfactory legal rules but also highlight more controversial matters and invite reflection on the objectives of insurance law and whether these objectives have been achieved

Policies and Perceptions of Insurance Law in the Twenty First Century Malcolm Alistair Clarke, 2007 In this book Professor Malcolm Clarke provides a stimulating critical introduction to the English law of insurance contracts presenting the rules in both their legal and socio economic contexts He sets out the principles behind the law in a clear manner moving on to explore the implications of certain rules in order to examine the importance of effective insurance and effective insurance law in modern society Comparative reference is made to the corresponding rules in common law countries and also in major jurisdictions in western Europe providing a thought provoking wider view of the relevant law The book illustrates the different perceptions of insurance and of insurance law that are to be found amongst lawyers insurers and policy holders In particular it argues that the perception of many people and also not least of many judges is that if any dispute arises with insurers insurers have an unfair advantage under the law Moreover this is in fact usually the case if insurers choose to use their advantage By presenting the rules of insurance contract law in the wider context of contract law at large the book seeks to demystify them and to challenge the assumption that insurance law is or ought to be greatly different from other parts of the law In particular he argues that insurance contract law should be available and intelligible to serious enquirers lawyers and non lawyers alike

Marine Insurance: The Law in Transition Rhidian Thomas, 2020-11-26 The book examines and analyses in depth the specific issues which are currently occupying the marine insurance markets and the law The London market is currently re examining its practices and international competitiveness and the English case law is growing significantly The issues identified in the book are the fundamental issues on which marine insurance law is based and which are in the process of being re examined and developed further to respond to the needs of modern insurance practice They are of wider interest to insurance law in general and the evolution of English law is analysed against the backdrop of legal developments in Europe and Scandinavia

Maritime Risk Management Phillip Hellwege,Guido Rossi,2021-04-21 Insurance is a legal an actuarial and a financial product and it is one out of many risk management strategies It follows that its history can only be studied in the broader context of the development of such strategies applying an interdisciplinary approach The theme of the present volume is maritime risk management After an overview over the history of insurance the contributions to the present volume examine different maritime risk management strategies by adopting a variety of methodological approaches Some contributions focus on normative provisions others contrast practice with legal scholarship or focus on the emergence of insurance companies as opposed to individual insurers Again other contributions give insights in marine insurance practice in specific cities or analyse insurance practice through the lens of specific insurance litigation As to the time frame the different contributions span from antiquity to the nineteenth century Tackling Insurance Fraud Lynne Skajaa,Dexter Morse,2020-11-25 Insurance fraud is a growing problem on a global scale The ABI estimates that fraudulent insurance claims on motor and household policies alone cost insurers in excess of 1 billion every year This book provides an analysis of the insurance industry s response to the problem and examines fraud from legal and practical perspectives to determine how to manage and reduce fraud Key issues covered include fraud in the insurance and reinsurance context a look at industry wide initiatives and individual insurance companies approaches to the problem consideration of recent legal developments and a look at how insurance fraud is tackled in other jurisdictions Includes a chapter on marine insurance fraud Reader's Guide to the Social Sciences Jonathan Michie,2014-02-03 This 2 volume work includes approximately 1 200 entries in A Z order critically reviewing the literature on specific topics from abortion to world systems theory In addition nine major entries cover each of the major disciplines political economy management and business human geography politics sociology law psychology organizational behavior and the history and development of the social sciences in a broader sense Insurance Theory and Practice Rob Thoyts,2010-06-21 Presents a comprehensive overview of the theory functioning management and legal background of the insurance industry This title begins with an examination of the insurance concept its guiding principles and legal rules before moving on to an analysis of the market its players and their roles and relationships

Lloyd's Maritime and Commercial Law Quarterly Lloyd's (Firm),2005 The Anthropology of Law Fernanda Pirie,2013-10-31 Questions about the nature of law its relationship with custom and the form of legal rules categories and claims are placed at the centre of this challenging yet accessible introduction Anthropology of law is presented as a distinctive subject within the broader field of legal anthropology suggesting new avenues of inquiry for the anthropologist while also bringing empirical studies within the ambit of legal scholarship The Anthropology of Law considers contemporary debates on human rights international laws and new forms of property alongside ethnographic studies of order and conflict resolution It also delves into the rich corpus of texts and codes studied by legal historians classicists and orientalist the great legal systems of ancient China India and the Islamic world unjustly neglected by anthropologists are examined alongside forms of law created on their peripheries Ancient codes medieval coutumes village constitutions and tribal laws provide rich empirical detail for the authors analysis of the cross cultural importance of the form of law as text or rule and carefully selected examples shed new light upon the interrelations and distinctions between laws custom and justice Legalism is taken as the starting point for inquiry into the nature and functions of law and its roles as an instrument of government a subject of scholarship and an assertion of moral order An argument unfolds concerning the tensions between legalistic thought and argument and the ideological or aspirational claims to embody justice morality and religious truth which lie at the heart of what we think of as law

Marine Insurance Merkin, Rob, 2021-11-30 This authoritative work forms a comprehensive examination of the legal and historical context of marine insurance providing a detailed overview of the events and factors leading to its codification in the Marine Insurance Act 1906 It investigates the development of the legal principles and case law that underpin the Act to reveal how successful this codification truly was and to demonstrate how these historical precedents remain relevant to marine insurance law to this day

Global Project Finance, Human

Rights and Sustainable Development Sheldon Leader, David Ong, 2011-08-18 Many infrastructure projects around the world are funded through the project finance method which combines private financing with public sector backing from multilateral finance institutions such as the World Bank This examination of the theoretical and practical implications of such funding begins with a discussion of the relationship between the financial structuring of these projects and finance policy and legal disciplines especially in the form of investment law human rights and environmental law A number of case studies are then examined to provide practical insights into the application or otherwise of human rights and sustainable development objectives within such projects While these theoretical perspectives do not conclude that the project finance method detracts from the application or implementation of human rights and sustainable development objectives they do highlight the potential for the prioritisation of investment returns at the expense of human rights and environmental protection standards
