to achieve the shift from the dominant paradigm of production and export of primary goods The various contributors to this book agree that there is need to rethink policy and strategy in order to achieve industrial development in Africa There is no unique solution or answer that can fit all situations as African countries are not the same While Africa can draw lessons from other regions which have successfully industrialized this book argues that policies and strategies will have to be adapted to country specific situations and circumstances

African Industrial Development and European Union Co-operation Francis Matambalya,2014-08-27 Of the 54African states only South Africa is categorised by the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO amongst industrialised countries The economic activities in Africa are still dominated by the production and trade of agricultural and mineral commodities This situation is in spite of the longstanding Africa European Union EU co operation which intends among other things to support Africa s industrialisation endeavours Imperatively a long road to substantive levels of industrialisation still lies ahead of most African countries This raises the question as to what role the international community could and should play in the twenty first century to provide the support needed to expedite Africa s industrial transformation This book argues that to supplement the initiatives of each African country international partnerships of both a North South and South South nature will serve better purposes if they are leveraged to develop productive capacities in African economies In order to enable the African countries to leverage their traditional partnership with the EU for industrialisation a paradigm shift is obligatory A feasible model should emulate the Japanese led flying geese model and the Chinese led bamboo capitalism model Ersatz Capitalism and Industrial Policy in Southeast Asia Fabian Bocek,2022-05-17 This book applies and develops the concept of ersatz capitalism in the analysis of industrial policy blockades to economic development in Malaysia and Indonesia Drawing on insights from international political economy development studies industrial and innovation policy and new institutionalism to refer to a specific type of capitalism the book analyzes different paths and institutions of economic development within the entire East Asian region Comprehensive theoretical insights are complemented by empirical case studies that relate to country and sectoral studies the automotive and ICT industries in Malaysia and Indonesia Applying contemporary research on international political economy to refer to a specific type of capitalism the author examines how conflicts of interest between factions of state apparatus associations and companies contribute to the failure of developmental policies The unique combination of theory formation and empirical analysis provides a novel approach to international comparative research on capitalism The book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of international political economy development studies new institutionalism East Asian and Southeast Asian studies and industrial and innovation policy Industrial and Trade Policy Reform in Developing Countries Ramesh Adhikari,Colin H.
