Developments in Aging United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,1981 Conflicting Goals and Policy Choices , Reforms in Long-Term Care Policies in Europe Costanzo Ranci,Emmanuele Pavolini,2012-11-08 Over the last two decades many changes have happened to the social welfare policies of various industrial countries Citizens have seen their pensions unemployment benefits and general healthcare policies shrink as belt tightening measures are enforced But in contrast long term care has seen a general growth in public financing an expansion of beneficiaries and more generally an attempt to define larger social responsibilities and related social rights The aim of this book is to describe and interpret the changes introduced in long term care policies in Western Europe The volume argues that recent reforms have brought about an increasing convergence in LTC policies Most of the new programs have developed a new general approach to long term care based on a better integration of social care and health care The book explores increasing public support given to family care work in the past the family would take care of the elderly or infirm and increasing growth and recognition of a extended social care market by which care has shifted from a moral obligation based on family reciprocity to a paid professional activity A new social care arrangement has therefore been developing in Western countries based on a new mix of family obligations market provision and public support In order to understand such changes this analysis will take into account the social and economical impact of these reforms

Alzheimer's Disease

Abraham Fisher, Israel Hanin, Chaim Lachman, 2012-12-06 Alzheimer's disease is a primary neurodegenerative disease whose incidence and prevalence is rapidly approaching epidemic proportions A major reason for this is that man is living longer than he has ever lived before and the likelihood of contracting the disease is significantly greater within the elderly portion of the population The problem becomes even more acute in the light of recent estimates which predict that the number of people living beyond the age of 65 is expected to continue to increase The impact of these statistics on the family and the health care industry in terms of time effort and cost are staggering A recent report issued by the Michigan Task Force on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Conditions 1987 effectively underscores this last point Each person with a dementing disease requires an average of seven years of care either at home or in a residential care facility Care provided at home is estimated to cost about 12 000 annually for a total of 84 000 per person This is a conservative figure however because many persons with dementia spend their last few years in a nursing home at an average cost of 22 000 per year and some spend from 10 to 15 years in a nursing home for a total cost of 220 000 to 330 000 The Intersystem Partnership Janet S. Sainer,1989 Universal Coverage of Long-Term Care in the United States Douglas A. Wolfe,Nancy Folbre,2012-09-01 As millions of baby boomers retire and age in the coming years more American families will confront difficult choices about the long term care of their loved ones The swelling ranks of the disabled and elderly who need such care including home care adult day care or a nursing home stay are faced with a strained inequitable and expensive system How will American society and policy adapt to this demographic transition In Universal Coverage of Long Term Care in the United States editors Nancy Folbre and Douglas Wolf and an expert group of care researchers assess the current U S long term care policies and exercise what can be learned from other countries facing similar care demands After the high profile suspension of the Obama Administration s public long term insurance program in 2011 Robert Hudson and Howard Gleckman provide concrete suggestions for lowering the cost and improving the quality of long term care coverage in America In a deeply personal and empirically rigorous analysis family care expert Carol Levine draws crucial lessons from her experience as a caregiver for her ailing husband She sheds light on the often fraught interactions that occur between the formal care system and family caregivers and analyzes how public policy can best support long term family care The volume next examines recent reforms in other developed countries and finds valuable lessons for American policy makers Contributors David Bell and Alison Bowes discuss the provision of personal care services in Scotland which have been publicly financed since 2002 Their analysis shows that the new program reduced costs improved efficiency and allowed more recipients to receive care The volume assesses the political and institutional prospects for moving towards a truly universal long term care system in the United States Robyn Stone provides a sobering overview of the formal paid long term care workforce in America which is in crisis due to increasing demand and a shortage of qualified workers Economist Leonard Burman focuses on public finances of the long term care system which will come under increasing strain as more Americans rely on Medicaid to pay for their long term care In the volume s concluding chapter Folbre and Wolf summarize criticisms of existing long term care policies and outline particular reforms that can move the United States toward a universal system of long term care insurance Universal Coverage of Long Term Care in the United States provides an essential resource on how to improve the long term care sector in America and helps advance the national debate on this pressing topic This volume is available for free download on the Foundation s website as are the volume s individual chapters Long-term Care Financing and Delivery Systems ,1984 Long Term Care United States.
