Blondel, 2014-01-27 First published in 1995 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an information company Advances in Policy Studies Since 1950 William N. Dunn, Rita Mae Kelly, This latest volume of the Policy Studies Review Annual series brings together leading policy scientists in a comprehensive review of the field's achievements since its professionalization some forty years ago If an advance is defined as an improvement in theory methodology information or practice how does the field measure up And what should its next goals be This unusual compendium of entirely new essays and articles helps to answer such questions On balance the contributors show the record is mixed Policy sciences draw on the theoretical foundations of many disciplines but have not themselves contributed theoretical advances We have more information but information in itself does not constitute an advance Despite improved interaction between academia and government it is difficult to identify new or better policies that have resulted On the other hand there have been impressive advances in methodology procedures for conducting inquiry that yield reliable and relevant policy knowledge In its candid assessment of trends controversies and unsolved problems this volume charts new directions for the policy sciences The Public Sector Jan-Erik Lane,2000-02-24 The Third Edition of this successful textbook introduces students to the major concepts models and approaches surrounding the public sector Now fully updated to include coverage of the New Public Management NPM The Public Sector is the most comprehensive textbook on theories of public policy and public administration The Public Sector is introduced within a three part framework public resource allocation redistribution and regulation Jan Erik Lane explains the basic concepts of each of these broad areas and goes on to examine their consequences for various approaches to the making and implementation of public policy The book explores models of management effectiveness and efficiency and evaluates the contribution among many of public choice and neo institutionalist approaches organizational theory models of normative policy making and expanded in this edition the theory of fiscal federalism The New Edition retains chapters on public sector reform and continues to contrast the logic of the new management state with that of the old administrative state before introducing the basic ideas of New Public Management The Public Sector will be essential reading to all students seeking a deeper understanding of the modern state and government across political science and public policy administration and management Forest Strategy Michael Gane,2007-06-28 In the past lack of understanding at the nexus between the forest sector on the one hand and strategic management on the other has led to failures in many countries to realise the potential that forest sector development offers This important new book adopts a more holistic approach to propose a new theoretical framework for this once traditional sector one which reconciles current thinking in strategic management with natural resource management The book will provide a valuable resource for both forestry professionals particularly those in managerial positions in government departments and forest services throughout the world and for advanced students and researchers exploring the issues around forest sector administration The latter will include researchers from a range of backgrounds including forestry ecology geography conservation rural development economics forest or environmental policy social studies and public affairs and will be of particular interest to groups adopting an interdisciplinary approach to forestry issues Television Regulation and Media Policy in China Yik-Chan

Chin,2016-08-12 Since the late 1990s there has been a crucial and substantial transformation in China s television system involving institutional structural and regulatory changes Unravelling the implications of these changes is vital for understanding the politics of Chinese media policy making and regulation and thus a comprehensive study of this history has never been more essential This book studies the transformation of the policy and regulation of the Chinese television sector within a national political and economic context from 1996 to the present day Taking a historical and sociological approach it engages in the theoretical debates over the nature of the transformation of media in the authoritarian Chinese state the implications of the ruling party's political legitimacy and China's central local conflicts upon television policy making and market structure and the nature of the media modernisation process in a developing country Its case studies include broadcasting systems in Shanghai and Guangdong which demonstrate that varied policies and development strategies have been adopted by television stations reflecting different local circumstances and needs Arguing that rather than being a homogenous entity China has demonstrated substantial local diversity and complex interactions between local national and global media this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese media politics and policy and international communications

Community Forestry Ryan C. L. Bullock, Kevin S. Hanna, 2012-06-28 An incisive examination of community forestry in a pan national context highlighting both the possibilities and challenges associated with its implementation

Geographies of Care Christine Milligan, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2001 As care services in Britain have moved from institutional to community based environments there has been a simultaneous shift in those agencies concerned with the provision of such care and support this new environment of care is a complex one involving numerous different actors and agencies that operate across various different spatial and organizational levels of the policy process The implementation and success of care policies depend in part on the inter relationships between these various players This book examines these inter relationships illustrated by an in depth empirical study of policy makers and informal care providers concerned with the frail elderly in Scotland Taking the voluntary sector as a lens through which these inter relationships are explored it analyzes how voluntary support is affected by differing local contexts of care and what this means in terms of locally based care outcomes
