Anne Pitcher, 2012-05-07

In Party Politics and Economic Reform in Africa's Democracies M Anne Pitcher offers an engaging new theory to explain the different trajectories of private sector development across contemporary Africa. Pitcher argues that the outcomes of economic reforms depend not only on the kinds of institutional arrangements adopted by states in order to create or expand their private sectors but also on the nature of party system competition and the quality of democracy in particular countries. To illustrate her claim Pitcher draws on several original data sets covering twenty seven countries in Africa and detailed case studies of the privatization process in Zambia, Mozambique and South Africa. This study underscores the importance of formal institutions and political context to the design and outcome of economic policies in developing countries. Design and Political Dissent Jilly Traganou, 2020-10-27 This book examines through an interdisciplinary lens the relationship between political dissent and processes of designing. In the past twenty years theorists of social movements have noted a diversity of visual and performative manifestations taking place in protest while the fields of design broadly defined have been characterized by a growing interest in activism. The book's premise stems from the recognition that material engagement and artifacts have the capacity to articulate political arguments or establish positions of disagreement. Its contributors look at a wide array of material practices generated by both professional and nonprofessional design actors around the globe exploring case studies that vary from street protests and encampments to design pedagogy and community empowerment projects. For students and scholars of design studies, urbanism, visual culture, politics and social movements this book opens up new perspectives on design and its place in contemporary politics. Resilience of Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean Andrés Rivarola Puntigliano, J. Briceño-Ruiz, 2013-03-05 As regionalisation becomes an increasingly hot topic the authors explain why regionalism has been most successful in Latin America and analyse current processes and opinions of possible future developments in the region including the Caribbean, Central America, Brazil and Mexico. Routledge International Handbook of Contemporary Social and Political Theory Gerard Delanty, Stephen P. Turner, 2021-09-20 The triangular relationship between the social, the political and the cultural has opened up social and political theory to new challenges. The social can no longer be reduced to the category of society and the political extends beyond the traditional concerns of the nature of the state and political authority. This Handbook will address a range of issues that have recently emerged from the disciplines of social and political theory focusing on key themes as opposed to schools of thought or major theorists. It is divided into three sections which address the most influential theoretical traditions that have emerged from the legacy of the twentieth century, the most important new and emerging frameworks of analysis today, the major theoretical problems in recent social and political theory. The Second edition is an enlarged, revised and updated version of the first edition which was published in 2011 and comprised 42 chapters. The new edition consists of 50 chapters of which seventeen are entirely new chapters covering topics that have become increasingly prominent in social and political theory in recent years such as populism, the new materialism, postcolonialism, Deleuzian theory, post humanism, post capitalism as well as older topics that were not covered in the first edition such as Arendt the gift critical realism anarchism All chapters retained from the first edition have been thoroughly revised and updated The Routledge International Handbook of Contemporary Social and Political Theory encompasses the most up to date developments in contemporary social and political theory and as such is an essential research tool for both undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers working in the fields of political theory social and political philosophy contemporary social theory and cultural theory Conflict & Continuity in Brazilian Society University of South Carolina,1969 Environmental News in South America Juliet Pinto,Paola Prado,J. Alejandro Tirado-Alcaraz,2017-04-18 Combining perspectives from media studies and political ecology this book analyses socially constructed news regarding three environmental conflicts in South America In recent decades South American political administrations have tied national economies to neo extractive development strategies creating not only vulnerabilities to global commodity boom and bust pricing cycles but also to conflict regarding environmental and cultural degradation from extraction activities Environmental contestations among indigenous peoples environmental and social NGOs state actors and extraction industries receive media attention but how these disputes are covered has implications for understandings of media performance in democratizing nations The authors examine three case studies of environmental contestation in a region that is simultaneously vulnerable to the effects of climate change and yet has become once again dependent on commodity exportation to industrializing and industrialized nations for economic benefit and social development strategies
