Political Development And The New Realism In Sub Saharan Africa:

Political Development and the New Realism in Sub-Saharan Africa David Ernest Apter, Carl Gustav Rosberg, 1994
Since the 1950s David Apter and Carl Rosenberg have been among the leading American scholars in African Studies. In this volume they along with other major specialists in the field explore the new configurations of African politics. With tentative efforts at a revival of democracy now taking place it seems appropriate to reassess the theoretical debates and empirical themes that have characterized postwar Sub-Saharan African politics. Focusing on new realism that has emerged among Africanists since the dismantling of colonial rule the essays are presented as a corrective both to the initial euphoria informing African studies and to the later tendency to place blame for all Africa's political and economic difficulties on the receding specter of colonial oppression.

The International Relations of Sub-Saharan Africa Ian Taylor, 2010-04-01
This title examines Sub-Saharan Africa's relations with states such as the US, India, China, the EU and Britain as well as with non-state actors. The International Relations of Sub-Saharan Africa is an in-depth examination of Africa's place in global politics. The book provides a comprehensive and critical appraisal of the ways in which peace, prosperity and democracy are being advanced or restricted by the activities of the great powers in Africa including non-state actors as well as who benefits from these policies and who does not. The book is a needed comparative study of the role of great powers and new actors such as China and India in Africa within the wider context of neo-liberal hegemony. It fills a gap in the literature and will be of interest to any student of the continent. Its focus on external actors contributes to providing a fuller picture of Africa's place in the global political economy and how the continent interacts with the rest of the world. This is an essential work for anyone researching issues in international relations, comparative foreign policies and African politics.

Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions John James Quinn, 2015-12-30
Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions: When Elephants Fight describes the emergence and nature of the prevailing African political and economic institutions in two periods. In the first, most countries adopted political and economic institutions that funneled significant levels of political and economic power to the political elites, usually through one or no-party military political systems, inward-oriented development policies and/or state-led and often state-owned industrialization. In the second period, most countries adopted institutions that diluted the overarching political and economic power of ruling elites through the adoption of de jure multiparty electoral systems, more outward-oriented trade policies and the privatization of many state-owned or controlled sectors, though significant political and economic power remains in their hands. The choices made in each period were consistent with prevailing ideas on governance and development, the self-interests of political elites and the perceived availability of support or autonomy vis-à-vis domestic, regional and international sources of power at the time. This book illustrates how these two region-wide shifts in prevailing political and economic institutions and practices of Africa can be linked to two prior global geopolitical realignments: the end of WWII with the ensuing American and Soviet led bipolar system and the end of the Cold War with American primacy Each period featured changed or newly empowered international and regional leaders with competing national priorities within new intellectual and geopolitical climates altering the opportunities and constraints for African leaders in instituting or maintaining particular political and economic institutions or practices The economic and political institutions of Africa that emerged did so as a result of a complex mix of contending domestic regional and international forces material and intellectual all which were themselves greatly transformed in the wake of these two global geopolitical realignments Comparing Apples and Mangoes S. N. Sangmpam, 2012-02-01 Two competing approaches currently dominate the debate about the state and institutions in developing countries The first projects a picture of transnational vertical uniformity descending from the West to developing countries and views liberal democracy as the only game in town In this view the state and institutions resemble or ought to resemble those in the West The second by contrast explains political outcomes by local idiosyncrasies and regional variations in institutions In his original approach to third world politics S N Sangmpam challenges both views by uncovering important similarities in the political features of developing countries He shows that they share political behaviors and features unaccounted for in either local idiosyncratic or liberal democratic theories These behaviors converge toward a common property overpoliticization that defies political compromise leading to an overpoliticized state Sangmpam provides a wealth of empirical historical and quantitative evidence from Latin America Asia Africa and the West and demonstrates the overpoliticized state constitutes the cornerstone of an integrated theory of politics in developing countries Mipes; Econ Lib Democ Civil Soci NA NA, 2016-04-30 This 12 country comparative volume examines the impact of economic structural adjustment programs upon grassroots civil associations and the implications for political liberalization and democratization in the developing countries of Latin America Africa Asia and the Middle East The authors take an in depth look at the impact of economic reform upon women s groups human rights organizations social welfare non governmental organizations unions and business associations They challenge the prevailing assumption that economic reform will automatically lead to greater democratization Special Bibliography Series ,1957 Special Bibliography Series United States Air Force Academy. Library, 1997 Africa's Challenge to International Relations Theory K. Dunn, T. Shaw, 2001-02-20 Africa has been noticeably absent in international relations theory This new collection of essays by contemporary Africanists convincingly demonstrates the importance of the continent to every theoretical approach in international relations This collection breaks new ground in how we think about both international relations and Africa re examining such foundational concepts as sovereignty the state and power critically investigating the salience of realism neo liberalism liberalism in Africa and providing new thinking about regionalism security and identity Introduction to International Relations Robert Jackson, Georg Sørensen, 2012-12-13 This new edition has been updated in light of current events and ongoing debates and includes a new chapter on feminism post structuralism and post colonialism It provides a highly readable introduction to the principal theories in international relations combining original analysis with a range of learning features End of Millennium Manuel Castells, 2010-03-29 END OF MILLENNIUM This final volume in Manuel Castells trilogy studies the key defining processes taking place in the last decade of the twentieth century as an expression of the crises resulting from the transition between the old industrial society and the emerging global network society Every now and then one reads a book of social science that is uplifting and mind expanding These books are ambitious and lustrous teaching us much about our world Such is this work from the brilliant sociologist Manuel Castells There is no other sociological work today that brings together in one panoramic expanse so many of the changes now occurring This is a story not simply of global economic change but of cultural upheavals It is a tale not simply of the decline of sovereign states but of the emergence of the new bases of power And it is a narrative not merely about computer technology or the media but of the very terms in which those agents work Anthony M Orum Contemporary Sociology A magnum opus if ever there was one In my view the finest piece of contemporary social analysis for at least a generation Frank Webster British Journal of Sociology A truly stunning achievement A scholar who with remarkable mastery has brought his experience over a lifetime to bear on astonishingly diversified data set pulling them together into a compelling account of the complex relationship between the progressive and the reactionary the globalizing and particularizing forces that are transforming our perplexing world Benjamin Barber The Los Angeles Times Sunday Book Reviews The Other World Joseph N. Muslim Modernity in Postcolonial Nigeria Ousmane Kane, 2003-01-01 This book deals with Muslim modernity in a country with the largest single Muslim population in Sub Saharan Africa It provides much needed new grounds for comparative study Until now virtually all socio anthropological works about any specific African country are either authored by nationals of that country or by Western scholars This book is an exception because its author is an Islamicist and a social scientist from Senegal trained in the French social science tradition Therefore his work does offer an original perspective in the study of Nigeria In addition the study of Islam south of the Sahara has so far focused on Sufi orders which form the mainstream of Islam but which by no means covers the whole Islamic field so called Islamic fundamentalist movements are also part of the religious landscape This book is devoted to the study of the largest single Muslim fundamentalist organization in postcolonial Sub Saharan Africa the Society for the Removal of Innovation and Reinstatement of Tradition

Regionalization and Globalization in the Modern World Economy Alex E. Fernández Jilberto, André

Mommen,2017-03-16 Originally published in 1998 This collection of outstanding essays explores the importance of regionalization and globalization to the world economy International contributions explore the process of regionalization in the Pacific Area The Americas Africa and Europe and question whether the world economy is characterized by increasing regionalization rather than globalization The book is an excellent contribution to debate on development economics It investigates how the processes of globalization and regionalization driven by liberalization of trade and capital markets weaken nationally established monopolies and protected industries and it looks at the challenge to Third World nations and the countries of the former socialist bloc

An Introduction to African Politics Alex Thomson,2022-12-30 This fully updated fifth edition of An Introduction to African Politics is an ideal textbook for those new to the study of this fascinating continent Charting trends in government over six decades of the post colonial era the book tackles key questions such as How have African states made sense of their colonial inheritance How relevant are ethnic and religious identities Why have some states collapsed and others prospered Why did the one party state fail Why is contemporary Africa now dominated by electoral authoritarian states and not the multi party democracies promised in the 1990s Key features include thematically organised chapters exploring issues such as colonialism ethnicity nationalism religion social class ideology legitimacy authority sovereignty and democracy new five part structure makes clearer Africa s political evolution over time new chapter on the emergence of hybrid states and electoral authoritarianism more coverage of twenty first century governance trends such as China s impact the changing role of the military different uses of client patron networks Western conditionality and the Africa rising debate colour presentation of maps photos and data boxed case studies including Mali Tanzania Nigeria Botswana Cote d'Ivoire Uganda Somalia Ghana the Democratic Republic of the Congo Tunisia and Angola each chapter concludes with key terms and definitions questions and further reading An Introduction to African Politics is essential reading for students seeking an accessible introduction to the complex social relationships and events that characterise the politics of post colonial Africa

Capitalism Jürgen Kocka,Marcel van der Linden,2016-08-25 Capitalism has been a controversial concept In the second half of the 20th century many historians have either not used the concept at all or only in passing Many regarded the term as too broad holistic and vague or too value loaded ideological and polemic This volume brings together leading scholars to explore why the term has recently experienced a comeback and assess how useful the term can be in application to social and economic history The contributors discuss whether and how the history of capitalism enables us to ask new questions further explore unexhausted sources and discover new connections between previously unrelated phenomena The chapters address case studies drawn from around the world giving attention to Europe Africa and beyond This is a timely reassessment of a crucial concept which will be of great interest to scholars and students of economic history

Reclaiming the Human Sciences and Humanities Through African Perspectives Helen Lauer,Kofi Anyidoho,2012 This compilation was inspired by an international symposium held on the Legon campus in September 2003

Hosted by the CODESRIA African Humanities Institute Programme the symposium had the theme Canonical Works and Continuing Innovation in African Arts Humanities Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya Eric E. Otenyo, 2017-03-01 Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya provides a comprehensive description of the use of ICTs within the trade union movement in Kenya In this book Professor Eric Otenyo explores the intersection between new technologies and union as key stakeholders in national governance and development The dearth of research on how trade unions can play a part in the new economy continues to undermine the effective use of ICTs in development This book brings to light the challenges that unions face while navigating the new economy and netstate characterized by a proliferation of ICTs and globalization Parameters ,1997

Rethinking the New World Order Georg Sørensen, 2016-08-29 The end of the Cold War gave rise to much talk of a new global order and debate about just how new or orderly it was and would be Attempts to analyse the nature of this order have been many and various This important new text assesses the main approaches and offers its own analysis arguing that while chaos and raw anarchy are not on the cards each of the major domains of power security economics institutions and values contains elements of potentially major instability Interstate war may be receding but there are no simple solutions to comprehensive violent conflict inside fragile states and the non democratic great powers continue to have major regional ambitions There is a global liberal market economy but it is increasingly unequal and its financial infrastructure remains fragile and crisis prone There is a comprehensive set of international institutions but they are rather weak and in need of reform Liberal values are nominally endorsed by most states but they are in internal conflict and make up no firm basis for a stable world order Finally world order is threatened from within because the social compacts political infrastructures and national economic capacities of many states will decline This will have negative consequences for the willingness to bring about effective global governance The result may be a destructive dynamic which might take us towards a Hobbesian world in ways which Hobbes himself had never imagined Introduction to International Relations Robert H. Jackson, Georg Sørensen, 2016 This edition provides a systematic introduction to the principle theories in international relations It focuses on the main theoretical traditions realism liberalism international society and theories of international political economy It also includes two chapters on social constructivism and foreign policy
