Political History Of Nevada 9ed:

Nevada Politics & Government Don W. Driggs, 1996-01-01 Nevada's highly individualistic political culture has produced a conservative political philosophy in an open society. Economic developments resulting from mining and gambling reinforced and heightened the individualistic ethic that many early settlers brought to the frontier state. This ethic is also evident in the opposition of most Nevadans to big government, big labor, and big business. Belief in limited government partially explains the apparent anomaly of the electorate's backing a pro choice position on abortion while opposing the Equal Rights Amendment. The book discusses the important roles played by Nevada's present U.S. senators in two of the state's ongoing controversies with the federal government: the longstanding water rights dispute between Native Americans backed by the federal government and Nevada's ranchers, and the decade long fight against the establishment of the nation's first permanent nuclear waste depository at Yucca Mountain. Don W. Driggs is Professor of Political Science Emeritus at the University of Nevada, Reno. He is the author of The Constitution of the State of Nevada: A Commentary. Leonard E. Goodall is a professor of management and public administration at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He is the author of numerous works including State Politics and Higher Education. Senator Howard Cannon of Nevada Michael Vernetti, 2015-11-15 Howard Cannon 1912-2002 represented Nevada in the U.S. Senate from 1958 until 1982 and acquired a reputation as one of its most productive and influential members. Because he was a modest man more comfortable with hard work than self aggrandizement, he was also one of its most under appreciated. Nonetheless, Cannon influenced many major changes in American politics and policies during his time in office. Born to a devout Mormon family in a small farming community in southwest Utah, Cannon served in the Army Air Force during World War II and emerged from the war as a hero. Soon he was part of the postwar migration of ambitious, adventurous Americans to the booming desert city of Las Vegas, where he practiced law and entered local politics. In 1958 he was elected to the U.S. Senate and joined a group of influential young Democratic senators who were to play a major role in shaping the country's future. His service on the Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee and the Armed Services Committee led to major changes in the air travel industry, including deregulation and to increased support for national military preparedness. The Roar and the Silence Ronald M. James, 2012-05-30 Nevada's Comstock Mining District has been the focus of legend since it first burst into international prominence in the late 1850s, and its principal settlement, Virginia City, endures in the popular mind as the West's quintessential mining camp. But the authentic history of the Comstock is far more complex and interesting than its colorful image. Contrary to legend, Virginia City spent only its first few years as a ramshackle mining camp. The mining boom quickly turned it into a thriving urban center; at its peak, one of the largest cities west of the Mississippi, replete with most of the amenities of any large city of its time. The lure of the area's fabulous wealth attracted a remarkably heterogeneous population from around the world and offered employment to dozens of trades and thousands of people, both men and women.

representing every one of the region's diverse ethnic groups Ronald James's brilliant account of the Comstock's long and eventful history the first comprehensive study of the subject in over a century examines every aspect of the region and employs information gleaned from hundreds of written sources interviews archeological research computer analysis folklore gender studies physical geography and architectural and art history as well as over fifty rare photographs many of them previously unpublished

Temples of Justice Ronald

Michael James, 1994 Nevada has never had a published architectural history and Temples of Justice helps fill the gap by treating the state's built environment as a series of documents from the past By looking at the courthouses collectively it is possible to understand the choices and influences that have affected Nevada's communities as they seek to protect an image of themselves and their aspirations through public architecture

Hill, 2001 Home rule powers are essential parts of the American governing process but they vary widely from state to state This authoritative reference work examines the powers and functions of municipalities and counties that operate under home rule within each state For example the ability of a local municipality to raise taxes annex land or impose regulations is determined by their home rule powers from the states This volume provides a reliable reference work for researchers and students a single source that readers can trust for information about The actions that local governments can and cannot pursue States where power is centralized at the capital and where it is not How home rule varies within each state by governmental function Trends in important issues such as taxes land annexation and citizen access The editors organized the book in three parts an overview of American home rule including its history a state by state description of home rule authority and a comparative appendix that allows readers a quick reference source of powers by state A scholar or governmental expert was selected in each state to prepare the state descriptions Each chapter follows the same outline of content that allows easy comparison between states In an era of power and responsibilities devolving from the national government to states and localities the use of home rule powers has become increasingly important to the health of American government and federalism Researchers and interested citizens will benefit from this comprehensive reference Home Rule in America was directed by Dale Krane of the department of public administration University of Nebraska Omaha Platon N Rigos department of government and international affairs University of South Florida and Melvin Hill the Vinson Institute of Government University of Georgia
