Political Philosophy from an Intercultural Perspective Bianca Boteva-Richter, Sarhan Dhoub, James Garrison, 2021-06-27 The objective of the following collected volume is to encourage a critical reflection on the relationship between power and non power in our contemporary world and proceeding from various philosophical traditions to investigate the multifaceted aspects of this relationship The authors respective investigations proceed from an intercultural perspective and fall predominantly in the domain of political theory and philosophy This volume takes an intercultural political perspective which means on the one hand involving non European philosophies in a global debate about power relations and their effects in the world and on the other hand confronting local traditions of thought with a global inquiry in order to enter into a philosophical political dialogue with these traditions An intercultural approach of this type to political philosophy seeks not only to join others in reflecting upon global problems but also to decenter of our understanding of the world drawing attention to new ways of thinking Insofar as the authors of the planned volume deal with concrete philosophical political problems unfolding in various regions of the world they seek to shed light on burning issues like migration human rights violations dictatorship and language global poverty power asymmetries experiences of injustice with the further goal of offering a particularly intercultural analysis of these problems along with approaches to resolving them To date there is no book that collects various essays from different countries and perspectives and poses political philosophical problems from an intercultural point of view

The Politics of Trauma and Peace-Building Cillian McGrattan, 2015-10-23 In marked contrast to literary historical and cultural studies there has been a limited engagement with the concepts and politics of trauma by political science and peacebuilding research This book explores the debate on trauma and peacebuilding and presents the challenges for democratization that the politics of trauma present in transitional periods It demonstrates how ideas about reconciliation are filtered through ideological lenses and become new ways of articulating communal and ethno nationalist sentiments Drawing on the work of Jacques Rancière and Iris Marion Young and with specific reference to the Northern Irish transition it argues for a shift in focus from the representation of trauma towards its reception and calls for a more substantive approach to the study of democracy and post conflict peacebuilding This text will be of interest to scholars and students of peace and conflict studies ethnic and nationalism studies transitional justice studies gender studies Irish politics nationalism and ethnicity

The Healing of Nations Mark R. Amstutz, 2005 How does one forgive an international political transgression as deep as genocide or apartheid Forgiveness is often conceived of as an element of personal morality and even at that it is difficult This book argues that it is also an essential part of political ethics especially when dealing with collective wrongdoing by political regimes In the past a retributive justice demanding prosecution and punishment of all past offenses has kept the international community away from moving on to the next step in regime change Here Mark R Amstutz takes a restorative justice approach calling for nations to account for crimes through truth commissions public apology and repentance reparations and ultimately forgiveness and the lifting of deserved penalties The distinctive feature of forgiveness is the balance it strikes between backward looking accountability and forward looking reconciliation The Healing of Nations combines a theory of the role of forgiveness in public life with four key case studies that test this ethic Argentina Chile Northern Ireland and South Africa Amstutz uses the hard cases to illustrate the promise and limits of forgiving without forgetting

Transitional Justice in Troubled Societies Aleksandar Fatic, Klaus Bachmann, Igor Lyubashenko, 2018-11-26 This book discusses the crucial strategic topic for the practical implementation of transitional justice in post conflict societies by arguing that the dilemma is defined by the extent to which the actual achievement of the political goals of transition is a necessary condition for the long term observance and implementation of justice While in many cases the blind criminal justice does not enhance and even militates against the achievement of political transitions an understanding of transitional justice as a fundamentally political process is novel controversial and a concept which may shape the future of transitional justice This collection contributes to developing this concept both theoretically and through concrete and current case studies from the worlds most pronounced crisis spots for transitional justice Liberating Black Theology Demaine Solomons, Eugene Baron, 2024-02-14 Current debates on decolonisation call for academic disciplines including the practitioners of Black theology to reflect on its content and curriculum This edited volume actively engages in these ongoing dialogues specifically addressing the pertinence of a Black theology of liberation within the postapartheid landscape It not only delves into the historical underpinnings of this theological framework but also endeavours to establish a conceptual framework for assessing its significance within the current discourse on decolonising theological disciplines In addition to shedding light on the historical importance of Black theology the late Vuyani Vellem poses a crucial question What lessons has Black theology yet to learn This inquiry by emerging South African scholars serves as a guide for navigating the path forward in developing this theological perspective Beyond emphasising the historical context the volume aims to contribute to broader discussions about social cohesion in South Africa where conflicting socio political narratives persist This work adds to the theoretical development by grappling with the history of Black theological thought and influences contemporary engagements with theology Its impact spans various levels encompassing the reconsideration of Black theology s influence on race gender politics community development and more Ultimately this volume serves as a catalyst for understanding and reshaping the discourse on Black theology offering valuable insights for navigating the complexities of theological thought in today s diverse and evolving landscape The Power of Human Rights/The Human Rights of Power Louiza Odysseos, Anna Selmeczi, 2018-10-11 The contributions to this volume eschew the long held approach of either dismissing human rights as politically compromised or glorifying them as a priori progressive in enabling resistance Drawing on plural social theoretic and philosophical literatures and a multiplicity of empirical domains they illuminate the multi layered and intricate relationship of human rights and power They highlight human rights incitement of new subjects and modes of political action marked by an often unnoticed duality and indeterminacy Epistemologically distancing themselves from purely deductive theory driven approaches the contributors explore these linkages through historically specific rights struggles This in turn substantiates the commitment to avoid reifying the Third World as merely the terrain of fieldwork proposing it instead as a legitimate and necessary site of theorising This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

Cambodia Pou Sothirak, 2003-08-01 In the 20 years since the Paris accords of 1991 brought peace to Cambodia the country has undergone what can only be described as astounding change From a polity where the entire fabric of society had been rent asunder through years of war and genocide contemporary Cambodia is fast becoming a vibrant state and assuming a new position in the Asia Pacific region The contributions to this volume many by prominent figures who were intimately connected with the process describe the diverse strands of mediation and peace building which went into the creation of the 1991 accords The subsequent role of UNTAC and the 1993 general elections in the process of Cambodian revival and social rebuilding are also described While not denying that obstacles and difficulties remain the contributions outline the evolving economic political religious and human resource situations within Cambodia while also examining the country's contemporary international relations This book constitutes a particularly fitting testament to the 20 years of Cambodian reconstruction which have followed the 1991 peace accords

Justice After War David Chiwon Kwon, 2023-05-12 Justice After War is aimed especially to both undergraduate and graduate students as well as the general audience who want to understand the significance of a recent development within the just war tradition namely the increasing attention given to the category of jus post bellum postwar justice and peace While examining the interrelated challenges of moral and social norms in both political and legal domains as well as church practices this work proposes an innovative methodology for linking theology ethics and social science so that the ideal and the real can inform each other in the ethics of war and peacebuilding The main task of this project then is to identify what the author views as three key themes of jus post bellum and three practices that are essential to implementing jus post bellum immediately after a war just policing just punishment and just political participation David Kwon endeavors to challenge the view of those who suggest that reconciliation mainly political reconciliation is the foremost ambition of jus post bellum Instead he attempts to justify the proposition that achieving just policing just punishment and just political participation are essential to building a just peace a peace in which the fundamental characteristic must be human security It thus demonstrates that human security is an oft neglected theme in the recent discourse of moral theologians and that a more balanced understanding of jus post bellum will direct attention to the elements composing human security in a postwar context

Desire and Imitation in International Politics Jodok Troy, 2021-03-01 Imitating the desire of others is inherent to the struggle for power in international politics The imitation of desire is a human trait seldom recognized in International Relations studies let alone conceptualized The imitation of desire that takes place among entities as opposed to being intentionally generated by them challenges the conventional wisdom of International Relations that assumes rational autonomous individuals This book identifies the root of Realism pointing out its awareness of the conflicting impact of desire and imitation in a world driven by restless comparison It subsequently demonstrates the conceptual value of mimetic theory while proposing a template of understanding international politics starting from assumptions of disorder and violence This volume not only contributes to the study of conflict based on the imitation of the desire of others among international politics but also proposes in its conceptualization that it is worth looking at studies of agency and structure normative change peace and reconciliation
