Haida Gwaii Joseph Weiss,2018-09-01 Colonialism in settler societies such as Canada depends on a certain understanding of the relationship between time and Indigenous peoples Too often these peoples have been portrayed as being without a future destined either to disappear or assimilate into settler society This book asserts quite the opposite Indigenous peoples are not in any sense out of time in our contemporary world Shaping the Future on Haida Gwaii shows how Indigenous peoples in Canada not only continue to have a future but are at work building many different futures for themselves and for their non Indigenous neighbours Through the experiences of the Haida First Nation this book explores these possible futures in detail demonstrating how Haida ways of thinking about time mobility and political leadership are at the heart of contemporary strategies for addressing the dilemmas that come with life under settler colonialism From the threat of ecological crisis to the assertion of sovereign rights and authority Weiss shows that the Haida people consistently turn towards their possible futures in order to work out how to live in and transform the present COOK'S LEGACY - FURS, DISCOVERY AND

Vanishing British Columbia Michael Kluckner, 2011-11-01 The old buildings and historic places of British Columbia form a kind of roadside memory a tangible link with stories of settlement change and abandonment that reflect the great themes of our history With small towns declining and old rural properties changing so little of the history of these places has been recorded in museums or archives and so much of it may disappear as families disperse and memories dim More than a decade ago Michael Kluckner began painting these dots on his personal map of the province in a watercolour sketchbook In 1999 after he put a few of the sketches on his website a network of correspondents emerged that eventually led him to the family letters photo albums and memories all from a disappearing era of the province Vanishing British Columbia is a record of these places and the stories they tell It combines engaging and insightful historical commentary with over 160 of the author's original paintings It has an exceptional assortment of historic imagery including old postcards architectural plans and photographs The study of roadside memory demonstrates the visceral connection that people especially those who are part of the rural to urban diaspora of modern times have for the sites of their family memories On a grander scale this approach leads to a broader understanding of more abstract historical themes and of the province's history and culture It also presents a compelling argument for stewardship of regional history in the face of urbanization and globalization

Exploring the North Coast of British Columbia Don Douglass,Réanne Hemingway-Douglass,1997 The Last Logging Show Aaron Williams,2024-05-04 A third generation British Columbia logger returns to the forests of Haida Gwaii in the grip of change By the time Aaron Williams began learning how to fall a tree his family had been making clear cuts on BC hillsides for nearly a century During his father s generation the industry started to crumble and by the time Williams arrived he knew his future lay elsewhere But his father continued in the trade his work taking him into the forests of Haida Gwaii There Williams follows him into a season at Collison Point where the loggers are increasingly unwelcome visitors to the ancient forests The Last Logging Show captures the spectacular setting of Haida Gwaii and the people who call it home It unravels the lives and dreams of those who log the forests for a living who have coexisted with the Haida for generations but while one way of life is in the twilight of existence the other is being reborn Thoughtful and compelling this is a story of connection community and the force of fundamental change Writers Directory NA NA,2016-03-05
