Spencer,2005-12-23 A big house fancy cars and money in the bank seldom lead to a fulfilling life a life true to one's potential and essential nature Ordinary life can be a prison but it doesn't have to be that way In this updated edition of The Craft of the Warrior author Robert Spencer asserts that a new myth is emerging one that guides people to a life of conscious living where they escape the rat race and forge a new destiny based on real choice

The warrior's way leads from compulsion to freedom from boredom to adventure and from darkness to awareness. Synthesizing the works of Carlos Castaneda, Dan Millman, G. I. Gurdjieff, and Chogyam Trungpa, and combining personal growth processes including the Feldenkrais Method and Neuro Linguistic Programming, Spencer opens the gate to anyone with enough spunk to enter this way of life. The amount of free will we have is directly proportional to the degree of freedom we have from our compulsions, writes Spencer. Getting that freedom is the task of the warrior's life. Food Faiths

Catherine L. Newell, 2023-08-29 Food Faiths: Diet, Religion, and the Science of Spiritual Eating explores how individuals internalize scientific knowledge regarding health and diet and then incorporate that information into their lives as the basis of a personal spiritual practice. In this book, Catherine L. Newell examines how science is used to justify a dietary lifestyle and investigates the world of spiritual eating, which is comprised of practitioners who identify themselves not by a religion but by their diet. These diets are based in diverse sciences such as anthropology, ecology, systems biology, nutritional studies, biomedicine, and physiology. Adherents view their diet as a lifestyle, a path to enlightenment, and a nebulously defined point of health. This, in turn, enables the practitioner to locate themselves in relation to other members of their community, to older traditions suffused with religious practice, and to understand their praxis in relation to the entire biosphere. While on one level, this project explores how food, health, and diet can be a source of spiritual fulfillment, on another level, Food Faiths illustrates how science and religion are subsumed into a culture and merged to form the basis of an individual's lived spiritual practice. The Psyche's Odyssey

Weaving Words into Worlds Caroline Durand-Rous,Margot Lauwers,2023-10-10 Weaving Words into Worlds comes as the third spinoff of the international ecopoetics conference organized in Perpignan in 2016 Reflecting upon how the many stories we tell directly influence the world we live in each of the contributions in this international volume directs our attention to the constant ecopoetic weaving of word to the world at work via the many entanglements between mind matter and meaning whether on a local or a global scale It encapsulates how the words stories and concepts we humans articulate as we try to make sense of the world we inhabit give part of its shape to the web of ecological relations that we depend on for survival It seeks to cast light on the disenchanting and reenchanting powers of stories and poesis in general as stories retain the power to make us either become oblivious to and destroy or to feel and honor the many complex ties between the multitudinous nature cultures intertwined within the fabric of a multispecies world always in the making This book offers a total of fourteen articles written by international scholars in ecocriticism and ecopoetics who by their analyses of literature and or films and the political subtext they thus render visible aim at showing how the study of environmentally minded media may renew our attention to the entangled agencies of the human and the more than human realm Thus this work offers to counter a reproach ecocriticism has often been met with namely the over presence of US scholars and the lack of diversity in subjects in the field since the articles presented provide a wide variety of approaches and topics with examples of UK and Native American literature Polynesian myth graphic novels or haiku In doing so the book expands on the fields of ecocriticism and ecopoetics adding to this branch of study and enriching it with high quality academic studies

First We Read, Then We Write Robert D. Richardson, 2009-03-16 Writing was the central passion of Emerson s life While his thoughts on the craft are well developed in The Poet The American Scholar Nature Goethe and Persian Poetry less well known are the many pages in his private journals devoted to the relationship between writing and reading Here for the first time is the Concord Sage s energetic exuberant and unconventional advice on the idea of writing focused and distilled by the preeminent Emerson biographer at work today Emerson advised that the way to write is to throw your body at the mark when your arrows are spent First We Read Then We Write contains numerous such surprises from every word we speak is million faced to talent alone cannot make a writer but it is no mere collection of aphorisms and exhortations. Instead, in Robert Richardson's hands, the biographical and historical context in which Emerson worked becomes clear. Emerson's advice grew from his personal experience; in practically every moment of his adult life, he was either preparing to write, trying to write, or writing. Richardson shows us an Emerson who is no granite bust but instead is a fully fleshed creative person, disarmingly willing to confront his own failures. Emerson urges his readers to try anything: strategies, tricks, makeshifts, speaking not only of the nuts and bolts of writing but also of the grain and sinew of his determination. Whether a writer by trade or a novice, every reader will find something to treasure in this volume. Fearlessly wrestling with the birthing stage of art, Emerson's counsel on being a reader and writer will be read and reread for years to come.
