Masquerade and Postsocialism Gerald W. Creed, 2011-01-24 Jacket
Emeljanow, 2017-10-14 This book examines the relationship between wartime conflict and theatre practices Bringing together a diverse collection of essays in one volume it offers both a geographically and historically wide view of the subject taking examples from Britain Australia and America to the Middle East Korea and China and spanning the fifth century BCE to the present day It explores the ways in which theatre practices have been manipulated for use in political and military propaganda such as the employment of scenographers to work on camouflage and the application of acting methods in espionage training It also maps the change in relationships between performers and audiences as a result of conflict and the emergence of new forms of patronage during wartime theatre going boosting morale at periods when social structures and identity were being destabilized

War and Theatrical Innovation Victor Matria Redux Tegan Zimmerman, 2023-06-23 In Matria Redux Caribbean Women Novelize the Past author Tegan Zimmerman contends that there is a need for reading Caribbean women s texts relationally This comprehensive study argues that the writer s turn to maternal histories constitutes the definitive feature of this transcultural and transnational genre Through an array of Caribbean women s historical novels published roughly between 1980 and 2010 this book formulates the theory of matria an imagined maternal space and time as a postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist framework for reading fictions of maternal history written by and about Caribbean women Tracing the development of the historical novel in four periods of the Caribbean past slavery colonialism revolution and decolonization this study argues that a pan Caribbean generation of women writers of varying discursive racialized realities has depicted similar matria constructs and maternal motifs A politicized concept matria functions in the historical novel as a counternarrative to traditional historical and literary discourses Through close readings of the mother daughter plots in contemporary Caribbean women s historical fiction such as Andrea Levy s The Long Song Edwidge Danticat s The Farming of Bones Paule Marshall s Praisesong for the Widow and Marie Elena John s Unburnable Matria Redux considers the concept of matria an important vehicle for postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist literary resistance and political intervention Matria as a psychoanalytic postcolonial strategy therefore envisions by returning to history alternative feminist fictions futures and Caribbeans
