Rough Translations:

The Dark Side of Translation Federico Italiano, 2020-02-06 We tend to consider translation as something good virtuous and bright but it can also function as an instrument of concealment silencing and misdirection as something that darkens and obscures Propaganda misinformation narratives of trauma and imagery of the enemy to mention just a few of the negative phenomena that shape our lives show patterns of communication in which translation either functions as a weapon or constitutes a space of conflict But what does this dark side of translation look like How does it work Ground breaking in its theoretical conception and pioneering in its thematic approach this book unites international scholars from a range of disciplines including philosophy translation studies literary theory ecocriticism game studies history and political science With examples that illustrate complex theoretical and philosophical issues this book also has a major focus on the translational dimension of ecology and climate change Transdisciplinary and topical this book is key reading for researchers scholars and advanced students of translation studies literature and related areas Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780429321528> Audiovisual Translation Frederic Chaume, 2020-11-29 Audiovisual Translation Dubbing is an introductory textbook that provides a solid overview of the world of dubbing and is fundamentally interactive in approach Based on first hand experience in the field the book combines translation practice with other related tasks usually commissioned to dialogue writers and dubbing assistants thus offering a complete introduction to the field of dubbing It develops diversified skills presents a broad picture of the industry engages with the various controversies in the field and challenges prevailing stereotypes The individual chapters cover the map of dubbing in the world the dubbing market and professional environment text segmentation into takes or loops lip syncing the challenge of emulating oral discourse the semiotic nature of audiovisual texts and specific audiovisual translation issues The book further raises a number of research questions and looks at some of the unresolved challenges of this very specific form of translation It includes graded exercises covering core skills that can be practised in class or at home individually or collectively Provincializing Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2009-06-05 First published in 2000 Dipesh Chakrabarty's influential Provincializing Europe addresses the mythical figure of Europe that is often taken to be the original site of modernity in many histories of capitalist transition in non Western countries This imaginary Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty argues is built into the social sciences The very idea of historicizing carries with it some peculiarly European assumptions about disenchanted space secular time and sovereignty Measured against such mythical standards capitalist transition in the third world has often seemed either incomplete or lacking Provincializing Europe proposes that every case of transition to capitalism is a case of translation as well a translation of existing worlds and their thought categories into the categories and self understandings of capitalist modernity Now featuring a new preface in which Chakrabarty responds to his critics this book globalizes European thought by exploring how it may be renewed both for and from the margins Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23

The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue. Today, however, the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators' work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced, more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value. Some refer to this determination as evaluation; others use the term assessment. Either way, the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed. This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes, preferences or individual values on which criteria are established. Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria, this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work. Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies; the translation of non-standard language; translation into the second language; terminology; the application of theoretical criteria to practice; a social/textual perspective; and the reviewing of literary translations in the press. In addition, reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English.

Translations Jethro Bithell, 1909 Translation Criticism- Potentials and Limitations Katharina Reiss, 2014-04-23

Katharina Reiss's now classic contribution to Translation Studies Möglichkeiten und Grenzen der Übersetzungskritik: Kategorien und Kriterien für eine sachgerechte Beurteilung von Übersetzungen first appeared in 1971. This is the first English translation of this major work, allowing students and practitioners of translation in the English-speaking world to make more extensive use of Reiss's pioneering treatment of a central theme in translation: how to develop reliable criteria for the systematic evaluation of translations. Using a wealth of interesting and varied examples, Reiss offers a systematic and illuminating text typology, a pragmatic approach to text analysis, a functional perspective on translation and a hermeneutic view of the translator, thus accounting for some of the most important aspects of the translation process: the text, both source and target versions; the conditions which determine the translator's decisions; and the translator as an individual whose personal interpretation has to be respected by any critic. In the three decades since Katharina Reiss wrote the terminology of translation studies has evolved on many fronts. Erroll Rhodes' translation strikes an optimal balance between remaining faithful to the original presentation and using terminology that today's reader would generally understand and value.

Elizabeth Bishop and Translation Mariana Machova, 2016-11-28

The book examines the relationship between translation and original creation in the works of the American poet Elizabeth Bishop, suggesting that translation can be seen as a poetic principle which can be related to the poet's original works too. The book offers a detailed discussion of all the translation projects Bishop undertook throughout her life, from Ancient Greek, French, Portuguese and Spanish, both published and unpublished. They are seen in the context of her life and work and analyzed with particular regard for the features which are relevant in relationship to Bishop's own works. Bishop's work as a translator has not been explored thoroughly yet despite the huge critical interest in Bishop in the last decades and one of the aims of the book is to offer such exploration. The second part of the book focuses on the ways Bishop's interest in translation and her experience of a translator is manifested in her original works. Bishop's poems are read with particular attention paid to the features which relate them to translation particularly the complex interaction between the foreign and the familiar which is examined not only in her poems dealing with exotic places namely Brazil but also in texts dealing with more familiar topics and locations. The final chapter argues that a crucial role in Bishop's works is played by the unknown that which is impossible to understand and translate fully. The book also suggests that on a more general level a type of poetics which shares certain key features with translation could be defined.

Ars Interpres: An International Journal of Poetry, Translation and Art: No. 1, Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Technology Chan Sin-wai, 2023-04-26. Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Technology second edition provides a state of the art survey of the field of computer assisted translation. It is the first definitive reference to provide a comprehensive overview of the general regional and topical aspects of this increasingly significant area of study. The Encyclopedia is divided into three parts. Part 1 presents general issues in translation technology such as its history and development, translator training and various aspects of machine translation including a valuable case study of its teaching at a major university. Part 2 discusses national and regional developments in translation technology offering contributions covering the crucial territories of China, Canada, France, Hong Kong, Japan, South Africa, Taiwan, the Netherlands and Belgium, the United Kingdom and the United States. Part 3 evaluates specific matters in translation technology with entries focused on subjects such as alignment, concordancing, localization, online translation and translation memory. The new edition has five additional chapters with many chapters updated and revised drawing on the expertise of over 50 contributors from around the world and an international panel of consultant editors to provide a selection of chapters on the most pertinent topics in the discipline. All the chapters are self-contained, extensively cross-referenced and include useful and up-to-date references and information for further reading. It will be an invaluable reference work for anyone with a professional or academic interest in the subject.

Computer-Assisted Literary Translation Andrew Rothwell, Andy Way, Roy Youdale, 2023-11-30. This collection surveys the state of the art of computer assisted literary translation (CALT) making the case for its potential to enhance literary translation research and practice. The volume brings together early career and established scholars from around the world in countering prevailing notions around the challenges of effectively implementing contemporary CALT applications in literary translation practice which has traditionally followed the model of a single translator focused on a single work. The book begins by addressing key questions on the definition of literary translation, examining its sociological dimensions and individual translator perspective. Chapters explore the affordances of technological advancements and availability of new tools in such areas as post edited machine translation PEMT in expanding the boundaries of what we think of when we think of literary translation looking to examples from developments in co translation collaborative translation crowd sourced translation and fan translation As the first book of its kind dedicated to the contribution CALT in its various forms can add to existing and future scholarship this volume will be of interest to students and scholars in Translation Studies especially those working in literary translation machine translation and translation technologies The Enlightened Judgments ,1999-09-02 The first English translation of a selection of legal documents from Sung Dynasty China this work provides a fascinating look at the legal social and economic history of that era Status of Machine Translation (MT) Technology United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science, Space, and Technology. Subcommittee on Science, Research, and Technology,1990 Germany's Western Front: 1914 Mark Humphries,John Maker,2013-10-31 This multi volume series in six parts is the first English language translation of Der Weltkrieg the German official history of the First World War Originally produced between 1925 and 1944 using classified archival records that were destroyed in the aftermath of the Second World War Der Weltkrieg is the inside story of Germany s experience on the Western front Recorded in the words of its official historians this account is vital to the study of the war and official memory in Weimar and Nazi Germany Although exciting new sources have been uncovered in former Soviet archives this work remains the basis of future scholarship It is essential reading for any scholar graduate student or enthusiast of the Great War This volume the second to be published covers the outbreak of war in July August 1914 the German invasion of Belgium the Battles of the Frontiers and the pursuit to the Marne in early September 1914 The first month of war was a critical period for the German army and as the official history makes clear the German war plan was a gamble that seemed to present the only solution to the riddle of the two front war But as the Moltke Schlieffen Plan was gradually jettisoned through a combination of intentional command decisions and confused communications Germany s hopes for a quick and victorious campaign evaporated Dwellings of Enchantment Bénédicte Meillon,2020-10-27 Dwellings of Enchantment Writing and Reenchanting the Earth offers ecocritical and ecopoetic readings that focus on multispecies dwellings of enchantment and reenchant our rapport with the more than human world It sheds light on the marvelous entanglements between humans and other life forms coexisting with us entanglements that when fully perceived call onto humans to shift perspectives on both the causes and solutions to current ecological crises Working against the disenchantment of humans relationships with and perceptions of the world entailed by a modern ontology this book illustrates the power of ecopoetics to attune humans to the vibrant matter both within and outside of us Braiding indigenous with non indigenous worldviews this book tackles ecopoetics emerging from varying locations in the world It underscores the postmodernist remythologizing processes going on in many ecopoetic texts via magical realist modes and mythopoeia India's Forests, Real and Imagined Alan Johnson,2022-12-29 As they seek to explore evolving and conflicting ideas of nationhood and modernity India s writers have often chosen forests as the dramatic setting for stories of national identity India's Forests Real and Imagined explores how these settings have been integral to India's sense of national consciousness Alan Johnson demonstrates that modern writers have drawn on older Indian literary traditions of the forest as a place of exile trial and danger to shape new ideas of India as a modern nation The book casts new light on a wide range of modern writers from Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay widely regarded as the first Indian novelist to contemporary authors such as Amitav Ghosh Arundhati Roy and Salman Rushdie as well as local attitudes to nationhood and the environment across the country
