Paavilainen, 2009 The development of medical drug therapy in medieval times can be seen as an interplay between tradition and innovation This book follows the changes in the therapy from the Arabic medicine of Ibn S n Avicenna to Latin medical scholasticism aiming to trace both the continuity and the development in the theory and practice of medieval drug therapy In this delicate balance between change and continuity a crucial role was played by the scientific community through critical rejection or acceptance of new ideas The drug choices were in most cases rational also from the point of view of contemporary medical theory The method used in the book for studying these choices could promote the development of a novel methodology for historical ethnopharmacology The Oxford Handbook of Autism and Co-Occurring Psychiatric Conditions Susan W. ### Development of executive function during childhood

Yusuke Moriguchi, Philip D Zelazo, Nicolas Chevalier, 2016-04-01 Executive function refers to the goal oriented regulation of one's own thoughts actions and emotions Its importance is attested by its contribution to the development of other cognitive skills e.g theory of mind social abilities e.g peer interactions and academic achievement e.g mathematics and by the consequences of deficits in executive function which are observed in wide range of developmental disorders such as attention deficit hyperactivity disorder and autism Over the last decade there have been growing interest in the development of executive function and an expanding body of research has shown that executive function develops rapidly during the preschool years with adult level performance being achieved during adolescence or later This recent work together with experimental research showing the effects of interventions targeting executive function has yielded important insights into the neurocognitive processes underlying executive function Given the complexity of the construct of executive function however and the multiplicity of underlying processes there are often inconsistencies in the way that executive function is defined and studied This inconsistency has hampered communication among researchers from various fields This Research Topic is intended to bridge this gap and provide an opportunity for researchers from different perspectives to discuss recent advances in understanding childhood executive function Researchers using various methods including behavioral experiments neuroimaging eye tracking computer simulation observational methods and questionnaires are encouraged to contribute original empirical research In addition to original empirical articles theoretical reviews and opinions perspective articles on promising future directions are welcome We hope that researchers from different areas such as developmental psychology educational psychology experimental psychology neuropsychology neuroscience psychiatry computational science etc will be represented in the Research Topic

Crisis in Europe, 1200-1500 Harilaos Kitsikopoulos,2012-03-15 Agrarian Change and Crisis in Europe 1200 1500 addresses one of the classic subjects on economic history the process of aggregate economic growth and the crisis that engulfed the European continent during the late Middle Ages This was not an ordinary crisis During the period 1200 1500 Europe witnessed endemic episodes of famine and a wave of plague epidemics that amounted to one of its worst health crises rivaled only by the Justinian plague in the sixth century These challenges called into question the production of goods and services and the distribution of wealth opening the possibility of fundamental systemic change This book offers an empirical synthesis on a host of economic demographic and technological developments which characterized the period 1200 1500 It covers virtually the entire continent and places equal emphasis both on providing a solid factual framework and comparing and contrasting various theoretical interpretations The broad geographical and conceptual scope of the book renders it indispensable not only for undergraduate students who take courses relating to the economic and social life of the Middle Ages but also to more advanced scholars who often specialize in only one country or region Handbook of Autism and

Pervasive Developmental Disorders, Diagnosis, Development, Neurobiology, and Behavior Fred R. Volkmar,Rhea Paul,Ami Klin,Donald J. Cohen,2005-04-29 Now expanded to two volumes this invaluable reference work provides a comprehensive review of all information presently available about these disorders drawing on findings and clinical experience from a number of related disciplines such as psychiatry psychology neurobiology pediatrics etc The Handbook covers descriptive and diagnostic characteristics biological contributions intervention techniques legal and social issues The Third Edition is updated to include the newest work in animal models genetics neuropsychological processes screening and assessment methods Integration in Multicultural England Jörg Friedrichs,2025-07-24 Positive relations between Muslims and non Muslims are important for the future in Britain and beyond By studying community relations this book takes an innovative approach that moves beyond mapping British Muslims or British Islam Instead Jörg Friedrichs discusses the actual ways Muslims and non Muslims relate or fail to relate where it matters most namely in diverse inner cities Is Britain a multicultural country is it moving towards greater integration or is this a false dichotomy Given their unique everyday experience inner city residents prove to be experts when it comes to community relations To give them a voice and learn from their experience the book takes us on a tour of diverse English inner cities Reassuringly the grassroots perspective of residents is consistent with a vision of integration in multicultural England Residents are concerned not so much about hot button issues like extremism or terrorism Instead their minds are set on practical matters how to coexist peacefully in stressful urban environments and how to find love and raise families when norms diverge Caught between grievance and aspiration inner city residents from any background express disappointment at Muslim and non Muslim parents sending their children to different schools They also discuss whether governance should be community blind or community based and if Britain is ready for a Muslim Prime Minister In all of this Muslim and non Muslim residents acknowledge that we live in a multicultural society For most however it does not follow that we should adopt multiculturalism as an ideology Instead most people crave and support a move towards greater integration
