Celebrity, Convergence and Transformation Douglas Brownlie, Paul Hower, Finola Kerrigan, 2017-07-28 Bringing together the latest thinking on both celebrity brands and celebrity culture from academics specialising in the field of marketing this book explores a range of insightful contexts in order to add vigour and vitality to our understanding of the connections between celebrities markets and culture It unpacks the identity theoretics which have their origins in the turn to celebrity culture and the spectacle and glamour of mass media practices In doing so the contributors hint at new forms of individuation where the line between the virtual and the actual is blurred and where images of celebrities construct and deconstruct themselves This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Marketing Management

The Chinese Atlantic Sean Metzger, 2020-05-05 In The Chinese Atlantic Sean Metzger charts processes of global circulation across and beyond the Atlantic exploring how seascapes generate new understandings of Chinese migration financial networks and artistic production Moving across film painting performance and installation art Metzger traces flows of money culture and aesthetics to reveal the ways in which routes of commerce stretching back to the Dutch Golden Age have molded and continue to influence the social reproduction of Chineseness With a particular focus on the Caribbean Metzger investigates the expressive culture of Chinese migrants and the communities that received these waves of people He interrogates central issues in the study of similar case studies from South Africa and England to demonstrate how Chinese Atlantic seascapes frame globalization as we experience it today Frequently focusing on art that interacts directly with the sites in which it is located Metzger explores how Chinese migrant laborers and entrepreneurs did the same to shape both physically and culturally the new spaces in which they found themselves In this manner Metzger encourages us to see how artistic imagination and practice interact with migration to produce a new way of framing the global

The Epic in Film Constantine Santas, 2007-11-28 Constantine Santas encourages us to wonder why film critics have so routinely dismissed the epic film In The Epic in Film he argues that blockbuster and artistic are not mutually exclusive terms and perhaps more importantly epic film is an inherently profound genre in its ability to tap into a nation's and sometimes humanity's dreams and fears Why do we see dozens and dozens of films based on the King Arthur legend Why would a presidential hopeful borrow a phrase Read my lips from Clint Eastwood's Dirty Harry Why do war epics proliferate in times of war or national crisis Why are epics as a whole the most popular movie genre Start with an individual quest of some kind undertaken by an attractive hero or heroine add the weight of a nation and perhaps humanity into that character's struggle sprinkle some awe inspiring special effects and a general sense of largesse and don't forget the happy ending and there you have a recipe for a film that can contain the deepest emotions fear hope insecurity pride of a nation and sometimes a world Whether you love Gone with the Wind and hate Troy find Akira Kurosawa's films brilliant or marvel over the depth of the Matrix trilogy film buffs will want to read this first book length treatment of the epic a wildly popular infinitely fascinating and critically underappreciated genre

Carmen Chris Perriam, Ann Davies, 2005 Since

Prosper M rim e and Georges Bizet with his librettists Meilhac and Hal vy brought the figure of the Spanish Carmen to prominence in the nineteenth century an astonishing eighty or so film versions of the story have been made This collection of essays gathers together a unique body of scholarly critique focused on that Carmen narrative in film It covers the phenomenon from a number of aspects cultural studies gender studies studies in race and representation musicology film history and the history of performance The essays take us from the days of silent film to twenty first century hip hop style showing through a variety of theoretical and historical perspectives that despite social and cultural transformations particularly in terms of gender sexuality and race remarkably little has changed in terms of basic human desires and anxieties at least as they are represented in this body of films The conception of Carmen s independent sexuality as a source of danger both to men and occasionally women and to respectable society has been a constant Nor has sexual and ethnic otherness lost its appeal On the other hand the corpus of Carmen films is more than a simple recycling of stereotypes and each engages newly with the social and cultural issues of their time
