History and Heritage Simon Ditchfield, John Arnold, Kate Davies, 2015-12-22 Just what is it that we want from the past? History offers us true stories about the past; heritage sells or provides us with the past we appear to desire. The dividing line between history and heritage is however far from clear. This collection of papers addresses the division between history and heritage by looking at the ways in which we make use of the past: the way we consume our yesterdays. Looking at a wide variety of fields including architectural history, museums, films, novels, and politics, the authors examine the ways in which the past is invoked in contemporary culture and question the politics of drawing upon history in present-day practices. In topics ranging from Braveheart to Princess Diana, the Piltdown Man to the National History Curriculum, war memorials to stately homes, History and Heritage explores the presence of the past in our lives and asks how and to what end are we using the idea of the past. Who is consuming the past and why?

Warriors Diana Gabaldon, David Weber, 2010-03-16 From George R. R. Martin's Introduction to Warriors: People have been telling stories about warriors for as long as they have been telling stories. Since Homer first sang the wrath of Achilles and the ancient Sumerians set down their tales of Gilgamesh, warriors, soldiers, and fighters have fascinated us. They are a part of every culture, every literary tradition, every genre. All Quiet on the Western Front, From Here to Eternity, and The Red Badge of Courage have become part of our literary canon, taught in classrooms all around the country and the world. Our contributors make up an all-star lineup of award-winning and bestselling writers representing a dozen different publishers and as many genres. We asked each of them for the same thing: a story about a warrior. Some chose to write in the genre they're best known for. Some decided to try something different. You will find warriors of every shape, size, and color in these pages: warriors from every epoch of human history, from yesterday and today.
