Akin, 1899 We Lost Our Baby

Siobhan O'Neill-White, David White, 2007-04-01 We Lost Our Baby is the true story of a young couple who after the initial excitement of discovering a new pregnancy faced the heartache of losing their baby. On top of the trauma of a miscarriage they also had to deal with insensitive and sometimes rude doctors and nurses, outdated hospital policies and a shocking lack of empathy and understanding during the worst times of this tragedy. Angry and confused, they went looking for answers. They found none. There were no books to help them with the emotional upheaval they were going through. There were no explanations from the hospital as to why they had lost their baby and the counselling on offer was largely ineffective. What followed was an awkward few months where they could not grieve together and their relationship was severely strained. It was not just their relationship with each other that was affected. Family and friends who did not know how to deal with the situation also became isolated from them. Realising that communication was the key to getting through this sorrowful time, they finally started talking and found a way to get their relationship back on track. They also found that if they spoke honestly and openly to family and friends, they could get those relationships back as well. Knowing that other couples who have lost a baby would be going through similar difficulties, they decided to write down their experience in an effort to help them. Their beautifully written and poignant story dealing with an issue that is too rarely acknowledged and discussed openly is one of complete and heart-rending honesty.

Lost Beyond Telling

Richard Howard Stamelman, 1990 In seeking to give voice to absent things or lost experiences, Richard Stamelman says modern poetry attempts to give absence a shape. Loss in his view is both the cause and the subject of the modern poem. Fittingly, in Lost Beyond Telling he formulates and develops what he calls a poetics of loss with which he frames his treatment of modern French poetry.

A Field Guide to Getting Lost Rebecca Solnit, 2006-06-27 An intriguing amalgam of personal memoir, philosophical speculation, natural lore, cultural history and art criticism. Los Angeles Times: From the award-winning author of Orwell's Roses, a stimulating exploration of wandering, being lost and the uses of the unknown. Written as a series of autobiographical essays, A Field Guide to Getting Lost draws on emblematic moments and relationships in Rebecca Solnit's life to explore issues of uncertainty, trust, loss, memory, desire and place. Solnit is interested in the stories we use to navigate our way through the world and the places we traverse from wilderness to cities in finding ourselves or losing ourselves. While deeply personal, her own stories link up to larger stories from captivity narratives of early Americans to the use of the color blue in Renaissance painting, not to mention encounters with tortoises, monks, punk rockers, mountains, deserts and the movie
